"MISSING" BOY
WAR PRISONER; IS IN HOSPITAL

Pvt. Charles Howard Gardner, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Gardner, York Springs R. 1, who had been "missing in action" in Italy since January 22, now is officially reported as a prisoner of the Germans. The youth's parents have a card from their son written from a German prison hospital.

Early in March the family was notified by telegram from the War Department that their son had been reported missing January 22 following heavy action "near Rome." It was assumed that young Gardner took part in heavy fighting at that time on the Anzio beachhead.

After receiving that word the family asked the county Red Cross chapter office and the local prisoner-of-war consultant, Dr. Earl J. Bowen for information that may be available about their son.

This week a letter was received from the War Department telling the parents their son is now known officially to be a prisoner of the Germans.

Mr. and Mrs. Miller also have received a card from their son, dated May 3, stating that he is in a hospital in the hands of Germans and that he expects soon to be able to be removed from the hospital to a prisoner-of-war camp.

Gardner entered the service last year. He attended York Springs high school for a year.

Distribute Flags For Veterans' Graves

The Adams county commissioners' office has nearly completed the distribution of the approximately 2,000 small American flags to be used for Memorial Day decorations on graves of soldier dead in more than 80 cemeteries in all parts of the county. That number is exclusive of the number used in the National cemetery. They are provided by the federal government.

Sons of Veterans units throughout the county place flags annually on 1,684 Civil War graves and graves of veterans of earlier wars. Other veteran groups, American Legion and USWV, decorate graves of veterans of later wars.

Week-End Salvage Drives Are Urged

Dr. Eugene Elgin, East Berlin, county salvage chairman, today urged fire companies, Boy Scouts and others to take part in putting on a special drive in every community for paper or any other salvage that can be collected.

Writing to every local salvage chairman in the county, Doctor Elgin pointed out that special drives are necessary because "Adams county has fallen back in the collection of salvage." He suggests collections on Saturday afternoons and Sunday, "because by using these days you can get more help in the drives," and urges the chairmen to secure firemen, Scouts or "anybody that you see fit to aid in the drive."

Somervell Says Crooners Can Get Good Jobs In War Plants

Chicago, May 26 (AP)—The nation's manpower problem is critical, says Lt. Gen. Brehon Somervell, but it must be solved and he suggests that "if we have to close the night clubs, let's lock them up—and the poolrooms and bowling alleys with them."

The commanding general of the Army service forces said in a speech last night that some 15,000 night club entertainers who have lost their jobs in night clubs because of the new 30 per cent entertainment tax law should find no difficulty in getting work in war industries.

"There are plenty of jobs for them in your plants," Gen. Somervell told a conference of 1,000 executives and industrialists last night. "Or on the railroads and steamships that are carrying the

DRAFT BOARD VACANCIES ARE FILLED TODAY

Notice of confirmation by President Roosevelt of two recommendations by Governor Martin for appointments to fill vacancies in the Selective Service personnel in the New Oxford district has been received here.

Albert E. Weaver, former burgess of McSherrystown has been appointed as a member of the New Oxford draft board to fill the position resigned recently by E. L. Golden.

en, Bonneauville. Mr. Golden resigned because of ill health after serving as board secretary since the draft board was set up more than three years ago.

Richard A. Brown, Esq., has been appointed as government appeal agent for the district to succeed District Attorney J. Francis Yake, Jr., who resigned because under present Selective Service regulations the offices of government appeal agent and district attorney have been held to be "incompatible."

New Assignment For Yake
Mr. Weaver, who was McSherrystown burgess for 12 years, is a part owner of the Penn Box company at McSherrystown. The other members of Draft Board No. 1, are William J. Yingling and P. Lawrence Hoover. Mr. Yingling is the board chairman.

Mr. Yake's resignation as government appeal agent, a position he held since the draft board was set up, was accepted by the state Selective Service solely because it was held to be incompatible with his duties as district attorney. The state office then requested him to serve as associate adviser to registrants in the New Oxford district so that the board would continue to have the benefit of his knowledge of regulations. That new appointment has been made by Governor Martin.

At County Church

The Rev. Kenneth D. James, Lutheran minister from Littlestown, will deliver the address at the annual Memorial services to be conducted Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock at Mt. Joy Lutheran church. It was announced today.

Sons of Veterans of the community have arranged for the service which will follow the strewing of flowers in the church cemetery where 18 veterans of the Civil War including George Sandoe, first soldier killed in the Battle of Gettysburg, are interred. There will be special music by the church choir. Devotions will be conducted by the Rev. W. W. Rex, supply pastor at the church.

OLD TYPE B, C
VOID JUNE 1

B-2 and C-2 gasoline ration coupons—the old type B and C rations without serial numbers—will be invalid for use by consumers on and after June 1, the Harrisburg District Office of Price Administration announced today.

Supplemental rations renewed since March 1 have been issued in the form of serially-numbered, strip-type B-3 and C-3 coupons. The bulk of B-2 and C-2 coupons still outstanding June 1 will therefore be unused rations issued before March 1, and renewable before June 1.

The holder of such unused coupons may bring them in to his local War Price and Rationing Board for exchange. The board may either issue serially numbered coupons equal to the amount of gasoline still outstanding on the old ration, or may evaluate his mileage and issue coupons sufficient for the remainder of the ration period, but not in excess of the coupons surrendered.

Return Old Coupons

Service stations which have received B-2 and C-2 coupons before June 1 have until June 10 to turn them in to their suppliers or exchange them at their boards for inventory coupons. Distributors have until June 20 to deposit these coupons in their ration bank accounts. Invalidation of the B-2 and C-2 coupons will leave only serially numbered B and C coupons in circulation.

The serially - numbered coupons cut down the chances of black market diversion in three ways:

1. The serial number gives a permanent identity to every coupon. Stolen coupons, therefore, can be identified as stolen wherever they turn up instead of looking like any other coupons as soon as the covers are torn off the books.

Tailoring Unnecessary

2. The old-type sheets of coupons, containing a definite number of coupons had to be "tailored" to the mileage allowed each applicant by tearing out coupons at the time of issuance. The strip form of the new coupons makes tailoring unnecessary and eliminates the possibility that loose, tailored coupons (Please Turn to Page 5)

The Rev. R. M. Everette, pastor of St. Paul's A.M.E. Zion church, will deliver the address.

Program At Cemetery

HIGH SCHOOL'S HONOR ROLL IS DEDICATED HERE

A handsome walnut and gold service Honor Roll which already bears the names of more than 600 former students of the Gettysburg high school who are serving in the armed forces of the nation was formally dedicated and presented to the school at ceremonies conducted Thursday evening in the school auditorium.

Formal presentation was made by Dr. Robert A. Bream, an alumnus of the class of 1924, who delivered the dedicatory address, "in behalf of the student body, the student council and the Alumni association." A brief acceptance speech was made by Superintendent L. C. Keefe.

The Honor Roll, to which scores of names remain to be added, was unveiled by Miss Shirley Larkin, a member of the senior class, student council and the council's committee which helped arrange for the erection of the honor roll, and Melvin Little, alumnus of the class of 1925. Both Miss Larkin and Mr. Little have a brother in the service whose name appears on the roll.

Color Guard

The exercises opened with selections by the high school band directed by Edwin S. Longenecker of the faculty. G. W. Lefever, high school principal, served as master of ceremonies.

After the audience sang "America the Beautiful," an American Legion color guard, including Paul L. Spangler, Lawrence M. Sheads, Joseph C. Smith and C. Arthur Brame, advanced the colors to the platform. The invocation was given by the Rev. Robert M. Hunt, local Presbyterian pastor, and then the high school mixed chorus sang "If My Song Had Wings" and "Holy Art Thou" under the direction of Richard B. Shade, supervisor of music in the local schools. Miss Mary Clare Myers was the accompanist.

William Green, retiring student council president, reviewed the development of the Honor Roll project and explained that its cost is being met by the Alumni association, which has promised to pay half the entire cost; the student council, which has contributed $42; students who sponsored individual names on the list with cash donations totaling $97; the FFA chapter, $10; the Mask and Wig club, $15, and the Girls' Athletic Association, $10.

"Finest Generation"

A band selection preceded the address by Doctor Bream. Declaring that "these young men and women whose names appear on this honor roll are members of the finest generation of young people the world has ever produced," he asserted that "they are expressing in deeds their devotion to a cause that is very near all of our hearts."

"Our best dedication and the greatest honor we can pay them is our determination to devote ourselves to the unfinished tasks that remain at home. To fall in this would be to make us guilty of violating their sacred trust. We must think clearly on the facts before us today, learn the lessons of history and prepare to find a solution for the problem of employment and economic security not only for the veterans after the war but for those who will be replaced in their jobs by returning service men."

Alumnae In WAVES

"We must recognize our responsibility for seeking out ways to express our rights as world citizens, to find some plan of world federation or control that will avoid a succession of wars through the centuries."

Ensign Miriam Waltemyer, alumnae of the school and former member of the faculty now serving with the WAVES, occupied a place on the platform and was presented to the audience by Mr. Lefever.

The high school principal asked that names of other former students, not now appearing on the roll, should be handed to Walter Keeney, member of the student council. Persons who wish to sponsor names with cash donations may contact council members, he said.

He pointed out that some boys in the senior class will enter service (Please Turn to Page 5)

Boche Rolled Back
In Swift Maneuver
On "Road To Rome"

By EDWARD KENNEDY

Allied Headquarters, Naples, May 26 (AP)—Allied forces rolled back the Germans today in swift new advances toward Rome at both ends of the Italian battle line.

Fanning out swiftly from the former Anzio beachhead area, now linked to the main front, Fifth Army troops captured Cisterna in heavy fighting and plunged forward more than three miles, cutting two important roads leading northward and northeastward.

On the north, the Eighth Army captured Aquino and Piedimonte, the last remaining strongpoints of the enemy's once-vaunted Hitler line, and Canadian troops won a bridgehead across the Melfa river, in the Liri valley 13 miles west of Cassino.

Allies Occupy "Model Town"

Cisterna, which had constituted one of the kingpins of the enemy's line around the Anzio beachhead, fell yesterday after a savage four-hour battle in which heavy casualties were inflicted on the defenders. American infantry and armor had been battering the town for three days.

Southeast of Cisterna, the Fifth Army occupied Littoria, Mussolini's model town in the ancient Pontine marshes, without opposition.

As the Germans pulled back toward their new defenses in the Alban hills, Allied air forces continued to smash their fleeing vehicles. A headquarters announcement said more than 1,750 enemy vehicles had been damaged in the past 48 hours.

The total of Germans captured since the offensive began two weeks ago rose to more than 12,000 and the columns continued to file to the rear as the Allied forces mopped up captured areas.

Regimental Commander Captured

In its four-day old offensive, the beachhead section of the Fifth Army captured 2,600 prisoners up to noon yesterday. Among the prisoners were the commander of the 954th German infantry regiment and his staff.

French and American troops, exerting steady pressure in the mountains north of Terracina in a move that was rapidly straightening the battle line out along an east-west axis, captured Monte Vaglia, northeast of Pico, Monte Civitella, west of Vallecorsa, and other important points in that region. The enemy hit back with several local counterattacks.

Battles "Exciting"

Prior to his transfer to England, he was "too busy to get sick," Sergeant Yohe declares. Landing in North Africa with the invasion forces a few days before Christmas in 1942, Sgt. Yohe found his work increasingly difficult with the rainy season, setting in shortly after the arrival, causing great difficulties for the troops.

When the rainy season ended in March, the troops began to move up, through "constant dust and sand, and the hot winds that blow off the desert." Riding in a tank under those conditions was like "sitting in front of a blast furnace," he said.

Week-End Salvage Drives Are Urged

Dr. Eugene Elgin, East Berlin, county salvage chairman, today urged fire companies, Boy Scouts and others to take part in putting on a special drive in every community for paper or any other salvage that can be collected.

Writing to every local salvage chairman in the county, Doctor Elgin pointed out that special drives are necessary because "Adams county has fallen back in the collection of salvage." He suggests collections on "Saturday afternoons and Sunday," "because by using these days you can get more help in the drives," and urges the chairmen to secure firemen, Scouts or "anybody that you see fit to aid in the drive."

Somervell Says Crooners Can Get Good Jobs In War Plants guns and ammunition to our fighting men.

"Let's put these crooners to work at something useful. Our men are dying in Burma and in the jungles of the southwest Pacific. They're dying in Italy and in the air over Germany. There's too much sorrow among the families of our fighting men to waste any tears on a master of ceremonies out of a soft job."

He asserted that manpower still is being employed in beauty shops and perfume factories as well as poolrooms and bowling alleys.

The country's railroads, Gen. Somervell told the conference, "are short" more than 100,000 men, and many other industries "already are below the minimum manpower they must have to do their essential part in the business of victory."

"Let's put first things first. Let's get our men home."

Memorial Service At County Church

The Rev. Kenneth D. James, Lutheran minister from Littlestown, will deliver the address at the annual Memorial services to be conducted Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock at Mt. Joy Lutheran church. It was announced today.

Sons of Veterans of the community have arranged for the service which will follow the strewing of flowers in the church cemetery where 18 veterans of the Civil War including George Sandoe, first soldier killed in the Battle of Gettysburg, are interred. Each soldier's grave will be marked with a small American flag.

There will be special music by the church choir. Devotions will be conducted by the Rev. W. W. Rex, supply pastor at the church.

OLD TYPE B, C GAS COUPONS VOID JUNE 1

B-2 and C-2 gasoline ration coupons—the old type B and C rations without serial numbers—will be invalid for use by consumers on and after June 1, the Harrisburg District Office of Price Administration announced today.

Supplemental rations renewed since March 1 have been issued in the form of serially-numbered, strip-type B-3 and C-3 coupons. The bulk of B-2 and C-2 coupons still outstanding June 1 will therefore be unused rations issued before March 1, and renewable before June 1.

The holder of such unused coupons may bring them in to his local War Price and Rationing Board for exchange. The board may either issue serially numbered coupons equal to the amount of gasoline still outstanding on the old ration, or may evaluate his mileage and issue coupons sufficient for the remainder of the ration period, but not in excess of the coupons surrendered.

Return Old Coupons

Service stations which have received B-2 and C-2 coupons before June 1 have until June 10 to turn them in to their suppliers or exchange them at their boards for inventory coupons. Distributors have until June 20 to deposit these coupons in their ration bank accounts. Invalidation of the B-2 and C-2 coupons will leave only serially numbered B and C coupons in circulation.

The serially - numbered coupons cut down the chances of black market diversion in three ways:

1. The serial number gives a permanent identity to every coupon. Stolen coupons, therefore, can be identified as stolen wherever they turn up instead of looking like any other coupons as soon as the covers are torn off the books.

Tailoring Unnecessary

2. The old-type sheets of coupons, containing a definite number of coupons had to be "tailored" to the mileage allowed each applicant by tearing out coupons at the time of issuance. The strip form of the new coupons makes tailoring unnecessary and eliminates the possibility that loose, tailored coupons.

HIGH SCHOOL'S HONOR ROLL IS DEDICATED HERE

A handsome walnut and gold service Honor Roll which already bears the names of more than 600 former students of the Gettysburg high school who are serving in the armed forces of the nation was formally dedicated and presented to the school at ceremonies conducted Thursday evening in the school auditorium.

Formal presentation was made by Dr. Robert A. Bream, an alumnus of the class of 1924, who delivered the dedicatory address, "in behalf of the student body, the student council and the Alumni association." A brief acceptance speech was made by Superintendent L. C. Keefe.

The Honor Roll, to which scores of names remain to be added, was unveiled by Miss Shirley Larkin, a member of the senior class, student council and the council's committee which helped arrange for the erection of the honor roll, and Melvin Little, alumnus of the class of 1925. Both Miss Larkin and Mr. Little have a brother in the service whose name appears on the roll.

Color Guard

The exercises opened with selections by the high school band directed by Edwin S. Longenecker of the faculty. G. W. Lefever, high school principal, served as master of ceremonies.

After the audience sang "America the Beautiful," an American Legion color guard, including Paul L. Spangler, Lawrence M. Sheads, Joseph C. Smith and C. Arthur Brame, advanced the colors to the platform. The invocation was given by the Rev. Robert M. Hunt, local Presbyterian pastor, and then the high school mixed chorus sang "If My Song Had Wings" and "Holy Art Thou" under the direction of Richard B. Shade, supervisor of music in the local schools. Miss Mary Clare Myers was the accompanist.

William Green, retiring student council president, reviewed the development of the Honor Roll project and explained that its cost is being met by the Alumni association, which has promised to pay half the entire cost; the student council, which has contributed $42; students who sponsored individual names on the list with cash donations totaling $97; the FFA chapter, $10; the Mask and Wig club, $15, and the Girls' Athletic Association, $10.

"Finest Generation"

A band selection preceded the address by Doctor Bream. Declaring that "these young men and women whose names appear on this honor roll are members of the finest generation of young people the world has ever produced," he asserted that "they are expressing in deeds their devotion to a cause that is very near all of our hearts."

"Our best dedication and the greatest honor we can pay them is our determination to devote ourselves to the unfinished tasks that remain at home. To fail in this would be to make us guilty of violating their sacred trust. We must think clearly on the facts before us today, learn the lessons of history and prepare to find a solution for the problem of employment and economic security not only for the veterans after the war but for those who will be replaced in their jobs by returning service men."

Alumnae In WAVES

"We must recognize our responsibility for seeking out ways to express our rights as world citizens, to find some plan of world federation or control that will avoid a succession of wars through the centuries."

Ensign Miriam Waltemeyer, alumnae of the school and former member of the faculty now serving with the WAVES, occupied a place on the platform and was presented to the audience by Mr. Lefever.

The high school principal asked that names of other former students, not now appearing on the roll, should be handed to Walter Keeney, member of the student council. Persons who wish to sponsor names with cash donations may contact council members, he said.

He pointed out that some boys in the senior class will enter service

Invitations were issued to 42 countries and the French Committee of National Liberation at 11:00 o'clock (EWT) this morning.

Boche Rolled Back In Swift Maneuver On "Road To Rome"

By EDWARD KENNEDY

Allied Headquarters, Naples, May 26 (AP)—Allied forces rolled back the Germans today in swift new advances toward Rome at both ends of the Italian battle line.

Fanning out swiftly from the former Anzio beachhead area, now linked to the main front, Fifth Army troops captured Cisterna in heavy fighting and plunged forward more than three miles, cutting two important roads leading northward and northeastward.

On the north, the Eighth Army captured Aquino and Piedimonte, the last remaining strongpoints of the enemy's once-vaunted Hitler line, and Canadian troops won a bridgehead across the Melfa river, in the Liri valley 13 miles west of Cassino.

Allies Occupy "Model Town"

Cisterna, which had constituted one of the kingpins of the enemy's line around the Anzio beachhead, fell yesterday after a savage four-hour battle in which heavy casualties were inflicted on the defenders. American infantry and armor had been battering the town for three days.

Southeast of Cisterna, the Fifth Army occupied Littoria, Mussolini's model town in the ancient Pontine marshes, without opposition.

As the Germans pulled back toward their new defenses in the Alban hills, Allied air forces continued to smash their fleeing vehicles. A headquarters announcement said more than 1,750 enemy vehicles had been damaged in the past 48 hours.

The total of Germans captured since the offensive began two weeks ago rose to more than 12,000 and the columns continued to file to the rear as the Allied forces mopped up captured areas.

Regimental Commander Captured

In its four-day old offensive, the beachhead section of the Fifth Army captured 2,600 prisoners up to noon yesterday. Among the prisoners were the commander of the 954th German infantry regiment and his staff.

French and American troops, exerting steady pressure in the mountains north of Terracina in a move that was rapidly straightening the battle line out along an east-west axis, captured Monte Vaglia, northeast of Pico, Monte Civitella, west of Vallecorsa, and other important points in that region. The enemy hit back with several local counterattacks.

SAYS PATTON IS FINEST OFFICER "IN ANY ARMY"

Lt. General George S. Patton, Jr., is the finest officer in any army, according to First Sergeant William J. Yohe, now on convalescent leave at his home at Grandview Terrace.

Sergeant Yohe, who is in his ninth year as a soldier, served under General Patton in the old 66th Armored regiment when Patton was a colonel and also in the African and Sicilian campaigns.

The general, who led the first tank battle in the World War, is still the leader in tank combat, leading his troops into action, Sergeant Yohe asserts. Asked about Patton's alleged bad temper by a reporter for The Gettysburg Times, the local sergeant answered that Patton is not bad tempered, nor mild tempered—he is just a man.

A veteran of 17 months overseas, Yohe served in Africa, Sicily, England, Iceland and Newfoundland with his armored company. In England, "while getting ready for the big show," he became ill and was sent back to the Newton D. Baker hospital, Martinsburg, West Virginia. He underwent an operation and is now recuperating from it.

Battles "Exciting"
Prior to his transfer to England, he was "too busy to get sick." Sergeant Yohe declares. Landing in North Africa during the invasion forces a few days before Christmas in 1942, Sgt. Yohe found his work increasingly difficult with the rainy season, setting in shortly after the arrival, causing great difficulties for the troops.

When the rainy season ended in March, the troops began to move up through "constant dust and sand, and the hot winds that blow off the desert." Riding in a tank under those conditions was like "sitting in front of a blast furnace," he

ITALIAN FIRE MAY TOUCH OFF BALKAN FLAMES

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

Associated Press War Analyst

The continued Allied success in Italy is like a torch beside the highly inflammable Balkans which Hitler dared use as a buttress for the southeastern flank of his European fortress.

Bulgaria, master arch of this always doubtful structure, is on the point of flames. From neighboring Turkey comes the report that the Ruchers has rushed five divisions into Bulgaria from Serbia in an effort to prevent a conflagration which would endanger his whole position in Eastern Europe.

Meanwhile mighty Russia, whose victorious stand on the alert at the northern gateway to the Balkans, is pressing Bulgaria to desert Hitler. Indeed, last midnight reportedly was the deadline of an ultimatum from Moscow to quit. The alternative was said to be severance of relations.

Bulgaria Divided

Thus far there has been no official indication of whether there was actually an ultimatum, or whether the ghost rattled his chains at midnight. However, it's evident that Russia has placed a heavy hand on the shoulder of the Hitlerian water boy, who long has been the bad lad of the Balkans.

Bulgaria is divided against itself. On the one hand is a government which is clinging to Germany in hope of profiting by the unholy alliance. On the other is a public whose heart is with the Russians—brother Slavs. The bond of race is strong among the Slavic folk.

So the Bulgarian people are seething with rebellion against the government. Indeed travelers arriving in Turkey from Bulgaria say there has been a revolt among Bulgarian troops. However, the government can't bear the thought of giving up the thousands of square miles of Yugoslav and Green territory which Bulgaria grabbed after Hitler overran those countries in 1941. The Bulgars didn't even participate in the fighting.

Turkey In Doubt

The reluctance of Turkey, although friendly to the Allies, to join them in the war, undoubtedly has encouraged Bulgaria's adherence to Hitler. Indications are that the Turks might even now come in, especially in view of British Premier Churchill's pointed statement Wednesday that the course which "has been taken so far by Turkey will not, in my view, procure for the Turks the strong position at the peace table which would attend their joining the Allies."

However, as Churchill remarked, we shall be able to win the war "throughout southeast Europe without Turkey being involved." The growing Allied success in Italy will impress that fact on Bulgaria.

Detroit's Bakery Drivers On Strike

Detroit, May 26 (AP)—Detroiters were virtually without bread and other baked goods today as 1,000 drivers for 46 bakeries handling 90 per cent of the city's supply reiterated their refusal to return to work until assured of immediate War Labor Board consideration of their wage demands.

Three other walkouts in Michigan brought the state's total to nearly 7,000 idle workers of strikers.

ALLIES BLAST MARCUS AND WAKE ISLANDS

By LEIF ERICKSON

U. S. Pacific Fleet Headquarters, Pearl Harbor, May 25 (AP)—Japan's aerial weakness along the Pacific highroad to Tokyo overshadowed today the devastation left by American carrier planes in a double-bitted slash at Marcus and Wake Islands.

Only two Japanese aircraft appeared as flares of Rear Admiral Alfred E. Montgomery's prowling task force gave Marcus a two-day currying with 148 tons of bombs. One was shot out of the air. The other was destroyed on the runway of the tiny island, 1,137 miles southeast of Tokyo.

All Planes Return

Adm. Chester W. Nimitz' announcement of the raids yesterday made no mention of anti-aircraft fire at Wake. The Americans did not lose a plane there.

The Japanese had almost nine months since Marcus was last hit to build up its air and ground defenses. But the absence of plane strength allowed Montgomery's fliers to fly 373 sorties, plastering airbase installations, supply dumps and buildings. They fired a small cargo vessel north of the island.

The Wake Japanese apparently were surprised so completely that they never got their anti-aircraft going during 354 sorties by American planes. This despite warnings that an American force was on the prowl from the Tokyo radio which carried its version of the Marcus raid the day before Wake was hit. Army bombers ran into heavy ground fire in their last Wake raid, May 17.

Vessels Sunk

The raiders destroyed 20 buildings at Wake and damaged others. Several small vessels in the lagoon were sunk or damaged.

Nimitz also announced yesterday that steady pounding of Ponape in the eastern Caroline islands and isolated enemy atolls in the Marshalls was continued Tuesday by Army, Navy and Marine fliers.

London, May 26 (AP)—An Imperial communique broadcast by the Tokyo radio today said an Allied fleet appeared before Wake island Wednesday and carried out air attacks. It claimed 30 attacking planes were downed.

YOUTH ADMITS FATAL STABBING

Philadelphia, May 26 (AP)—The slaying of a 73-year-old retired man who apparently had not an enemy in the world appeared solved today after police announced that a 20-year-old youth admitted the fatal stabbing.

Detective William Engle of the homicide squad said last night that Alfred Miller, a former close friend of the victim, confessed driving a small-bladed penknife thirty times into the body of William Harten, retired gas works employee, found slain in his hotel room May 6.

Engel said the attack followed a quarrel between the six-foot, 300-pound victim and Miller, who was formerly an elevator operator in the hotel in which Harten lived.

Detectives questioned 270 persons who had known Harten in an investigation that took them to New England, Kentucky, South Carolina and Florida.

Acquaintances and hotel employees had described Harten as a quiet man who attended church almost daily.

SLIGHTLY IMPROVED

Howard W. Sheffer, county clerk of the courts, was reported today to be "somewhat improved" at the Warner hospital where he submitted to a major operation on Wednesday. His condition remains serious, however.

SELLS 39-ACRE FARM

CHANGE CLINIC DATE

The chest clinic scheduled for the Warner hospital next Tuesday will be advanced to Monday because of Memorial Day. It was announced today by Miss Mildred Eden, state nurse for Adams county.

Upper Communities OWI SAYS AXIS PREPARING FOR WORLD WAR 3

By JAMES MARLOW and GEORGE ZIELKE

Washington, May 26 (AP)—The Office of War Information reports that the Germans and Japanese, realizing this war is lost, are "trying to spoil our victory . . . and prepare for another try at total war against us."

The agency particularly emphasizes Nazi propaganda efforts in Turkey. Prime Minister Churchill said Wednesday the United Nations have lost hope of winning Turkey as an ally after pouring arms worth 80 million dollars into that country.

Whether Axis activities are diabolically long-range, as OWI thinks, or are merely intended to keep Europe's neutrals out of this war while Germany tries to split the Allies, this much is true: No European neutral has entered the war on the side of the United Nations.

Tourist Angle

This is an outline of Axis propaganda work which OWI officials turned over to members of the House subcommittee on appropriations:

The Germans are using tactics that paid off before this war. "Tourists" who swarmed into Danzig, the Sudetenland and the Polish border regions in the 1930's are now reappearing in one form or another in Scandinavia, Spain, Portugal and Turkey.

The earlier "tourists" were to pave the way for "victorious German arms" but the present crop is ordered to "poison the minds of neutrals against us so that Germany may prepare a springboard for another try."

Nazi propaganda floods the neutral countries of Europe with radio broadcasts, pamphlets, leaflets, newspaper material, newspaper subsidies and so on. This is in addition to Nazi efforts to keep its satellites in line.

News Services

At least "six specialized news services are at work in Turkey, two of them funneling the Germany line directly into the Turkish newspapers." Several daily newscasts are beamed at Turkey from Berlin and the satellite capitals.

Expert propagandists work with the Turkish motion picture industry, with the periodical press, with booksellers and magazine distributors. German films are designed for the Turks, German products are advertised so as to be bribes.

The Germans cultivate Turkish diplomatic and military officials, and Turkish newspapermen, professors, doctors, authors, scientists. They offer professorships, fellowships and outright bribes.

Press Subsidies

In a general way the same intensive propaganda campaign is carried on in Sweden. German propagandists swarm through Spain. Some Spanish newspapers are subsidized by the German embassy. Others are trying to hamstring future relations between this country and Spain and Latin America, the Germans are offering Spanish educators professorships in German schools at padded salaries.

"In the Far East the Japanese duplicate the German efforts in the west, trying to turn the Chinese and the peoples of India against America and the United Nations."

OWI, of course, doesn't go into detail on its own activities to counteract Axis propaganda.

Life Of Officer Depends On Court

Camp Anza, Calif., May 26 (AP)—Lt. Beaufort G. Swancutt was convicted by an Army court martial today on a charge of murdering four persons in a shooting affray here last March 5.

Camp Anza, Calif., May 26 (AP)—With Lt. Beaufort G. Swancutt's own delineation of his turbulent life history as a guide, a military court was to recommend to the Army today whether he should pay with his life for the slaying of four persons in a shooting fray March 5.

The 31-year old La Crosse, Wis., officer, testifying for two hours and 20 minutes yesterday at his court martial, offered no denial of the shootings but insisted that he had no motive or intent to kill anyone, or any memory of such an occurrence.

Previously declared sane by the court, Swancutt contended he suffered a mental blackout during which, the government charges, he fatally shot his sweetheart, Miss Dorothy Douglas, 19, and her friend, Miss Lourdeau Livermore, also 19, at an officers' club dance; his superior officer, Capt. Aubrey G. Serfling, and, later, a Riverside policeman, Arthur Simpson.

The handsome young officer admitted that he was married and was the father of two children while he was paying court to Miss Douglas.

World Peace Plan Is Being Drafted

New York, May 26 (AP)—The Administration has drafted and soon will make public a peace plan similar to the world order outlined by Prime Minister Winston Churchill, the New York Times said today in a dispatch from Washington.

The Times reported that the plan is said to foresee in its present state the creation of a world council of the great powers, which would provide the necessary power to enforce peace, and a world assembly of all other peace-loving powers.

Secretary of State Cordell Hull now is discussing the plan with a sub-committee of the Senate Foreign Relations committee, the Times added.

The continued Allied success in Italy is like a torch beside the highly inflammable Balkans which Hitler dared use as a buttress for the southeastern flank of his European fortress.

Bulgaria, master arch of this always doubtful structure, is on the point of flames. From neighboring Turkey comes the report that the Fuehrer has rushed five divisions into Bulgaria from Serbia in an effort to prevent a conflagration which would endanger his whole position in Eastern Europe.

Meanwhile mighty Russia, whose victorious stand on the alert at the northern gateway to the Balkans, is pressing Bulgaria to desert Hitler. Indeed, last midnight reportedly was the deadline of an ultimatum from Moscow to quit. The alternative was said to be severance of relations.

Bulgaria Divided

Thus far there has been no official indication of whether there was actually an ultimatum, or whether the ghost rattled his chains at midnight. However, it's evident that Russia has placed a heavy hand on the shoulder of the Hitlerian water boy, who long has been the bad lad of the Balkans.

Bulgaria is divided against itself. On the one hand is a government which is clinging to Germany in hope of profiting by the unholy alliance. On the other is a public whose heart is with the Russians—brother Slavs. The bond of race is strong among the Slavic folk.

So the Bulgarian people are seething with rebellion against the government. Indeed travelers arriving in Turkey from Bulgaria say there has been a revolt among Bulgarian troops. However, the government can't bear the thought of giving up the thousands of square miles of Yugoslav and Greek territory which Bulgaria grabbed after Hitler overran those countries in 1941. The Bulgars didn't even participate in the fighting.

Turkey In Doubt

The reluctance of Turkey, although friendly to the Allies, to join them in the war, undoubtedly has encouraged Bulgaria's adherence to Hitler. Indications are that the Turks might even now come in, especially in view of British Premier Churchill's pointed statement Wednesday that the course which "has been taken so far by Turkey will not, in my view, procure for the Turks the strong position at the peace table which would attend their joining the Allies."

However, as Churchill remarked, we shall be able to win the war "throughout southeast Europe without Turkey being involved." The growing Allied success in Italy will impress that fact on Bulgaria.

WEATHER HALTS BIG AIR BLOWS

London, May 26 (AP)—The Allied pre-invasion air offensive dwindled today with bad weather over the continent grounding most of the air forces.

The Vichy radio said that the Lyon and St. Etienne regions of France were attacked this morning followed by an alert in much of central France. Only aircraft operating singly were reported over Germany by the Nazi radio. There was no immediate Allied confirmation of these reports.

Earlier the Paris radio said "a locality near Soissons" was attacked last night, and Vichy reported that "violent air battles took place over eastern France." These reports also were without Allied confirmation.

The lull today came after more than 6,000 Allied planes hammered airdromes and transportation centers on the continent with over 8,000 tons of bombs yesterday in attacks by planes from both British and Italian bases. These attacks were directed against at least 21 rail centers and 15 air fields, and ranged from Toulon in southern France to the German capital itself.

Soldier's Painting

On Display Here

One of the latest paintings by Cpl. Clifford Allen Johnson, son of Mrs. Ruth Davis, South Washington street, is on display at the present time in a window at Lippy's store.

Sent here from England by Corporal Johnson to his mother, the painting depicts the German pocket battleship, the Scharnhorst, making its last stand before sinking under British shells on December 17, 1943.

Well executed, the painting is among the first to be shown in Gettysburg by Corporal Johnson, but in previous years, he was a frequent exhibitor at the Cumberland Valley Art show at the museum in Hagerstown.

In a letter sent recently to his mother, he told her he would like to stay over in England after the war is over and paint pictures of the churches there, which he described as most beautiful.

Detroit's Bakery Drivers On Strike

Detroit, May 26 (AP)—Detroiters were virtually without bread and other baked goods today as 1,900 drivers for 46 bakeries handling 90 per cent of the city's supply reiterated their refusal to return to work until assured of immediate War Labor Board consideration of their wage demands.

Three other walkouts in Michigan brought the state's total to nearly 7,000 idle because of strikes.

The WLB warned bakery drivers after the walkout began yesterday that the strike was causing "serious interference with the distribution of needed foodstuffs," and advised that it would take no action until deliveries were resumed.

"The Department of Justice decided their names should be on the ballot," announced Miss Elizabeth McCullough, deputy director of Elections Bureau.

POLICE LACKING MURDER "LEAD"

Detroit, May 26 (AP)—Admittedly without a substantial "lead" after 48 hours' investigation of the slaying of Mrs. Jean Long, pastor's secretary at the Twelfth Street Evangelical church here, detectives today resumed their search for the weapon used by the killer.

They described the object of their search as a "sharp and powerful" knife with which Mrs. Long was stabbed several times about the head and chest, apparently about 8:30 p. m. Tuesday as she worked in the church on a news bulletin for servicemen.

Officers continued to hold for questioning the woman's estranged husband, Kenneth Long, 42-year-old war worker, and Alex Simpson of South Bend, Ind., salesman for a Chicago meat company. Detective Inspector John O. Whitman quoted Long as saying he did not see his wife after driving her to the home of the Rev. Newell C. Liesemer, next door to the church, at 7 p. m., and Simpson as saying he knocked at the door of the church three times after 9 p. m. without receiving an answer.

Mr. Liesemer said Mrs. Long worked with him preparing the news bulletin until 8 p. m., then took a key to the church and went to the church office to make copies of it.

Funeral services for Mrs. Long were held last night, with Mr. Liesemer officiating, and the body was sent to South Fork, Pa., her native city, for burial.

ALLIES BLAST MARCUS AND WAKE ISLANDS

By LEIF ERICKSON

U. S. Pacific Fleet Headquarters, Pearl Harbor, May 26 (AP)—Japan's aerial weakness along the Pacific highroad to Tokyo overshadowed today the devastation left by American carrier planes in a double-bitted slash at Marcus and Wake Islands.

Only two Japanese aircraft appeared as fliers of Rear Admiral Alfred E. Montgomery's prowling task force gave Marcus a two-day currying with 148 tons of bombs. One was shot out of the air. The other was destroyed on the runway of the Tiny Island, 1,137 miles southeast of Tokyo.

All Planes Return

Adm. Chester W. Nimitz' announcement of the raids yesterday made no mention of anti-aircraft fire at Wake. The Americans did not lose a plane there.

The Japanese had almost nine months since Marcus was last hit to build up its air and ground defenses. But the absence of plane strength allowed Montgomery's fliers to fly 373 sorties, plastering airdrome installations, supply dumps and buildings. They fired a small cargo vessel north of the island.

The Wake Japanese apparently were surprised so completely that they never got their anti-aircraft going during 354 sorties by American planes. This despite warnings that an American force was on the prowl from the Tokyo radio which carried its version of the Marcus raid the day before Wake was hit. Army bombers ran into heavy ground fire in their last Wake raid, May 17.

Vessels Sunk

The raiders destroyed 20 buildings at Wake and damaged others. Several small vessels in the lagoon were sunk or damaged.

Nimitz also announced yesterday that steady pounding of Ponape in the eastern Caroline islands and isolated enemy atolls in the Marshalls was continued Tuesday by Army, Navy and Marine fliers.

London, May 26 (AP)—An Imperial communiqué broadcast by the Tokyo radio today said an Allied fleet appeared before Wake island Wednesday and carried out air attacks. It claimed 30 attacking planes were downed.

YOUTH ADMITS FATAL STABBING

Philadelphia, May 26 (AP)—The slaying of a 73-year-old retired man who apparently had not an enemy in the world appeared solved today after police announced that a 20-year-old youth admitted the fatal stabbing.

Detective William Engele of the homicide squad said last night that Alfred Miller, a former close friend of the victim, confessed driving a small-bladed penknife thirty times into the body of William Harten, retired gas works employee, found slain in his hotel room May 6.

Engel said the attack followed a quarrel between the six-foot, 300-pound victim and Miller, who was formerly an elevator operator in the hotel in which Harten lived.

Detectives questioned 270 persons who had known Harten in an investigation that took them to New England, Kentucky, South Carolina and Florida.

Acquaintances and hotel employees had described Harten as a quiet man who attended church almost daily.

Herbert Hoover Not In Political Battle

Washington, May 26 (AP)—With the convention only a month away, opposing Republican factions renewed the field of 442 publicly uncommitted delegates today in search of support to offset, if possible, the 395 votes pledged and claimed for Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York for the Republican Presidential nomination.

A public disavowal by former President Hoover of any participation in the selection of a nominee gave an indication of the warmth of a pre-convention campaign that now appears to have taken on the aspect of some quarters of a concerted "check Dewey" drive by other potential candidates.

In a formal statement, Hoover said some "ill-informed persons" had attempted to link his name with various possible nominees, including Dewey, Gov. John W. Bricker of Ohio and Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

"I am taking and expect to take no part in the selection of the Republican nominee," said Hoover. "The people and their duly elected delegates will take care of that."

OWI SAYS AXIS PREPARING FOR WORLD WAR 3

By JAMES MARLOW and GEORGE ZIELKE

Washington, May 26 (AP)—The Office of War Information reports that the Germans and Japanese, realizing this war is lost, are "trying to spoil our victory . . . and prepare for another try at total war against us."

The agency particularly emphasizes Nazi propaganda efforts in Turkey. Prime Minister Churchill said Wednesday the United Nations have lost hope of winning Turkey as an ally after pouring arms worth 80 million dollars into that country.

Whether Axis activities are diabolically long-range, as OWI thinks, or are merely intended to keep Europe's neutrals out of this war while Germany tries to split the Allies, this much is true: No European neutral has entered the war on the side of the United Nations.

Tourist Angle

This is an outline of Axis propaganda work which OWI officials turned over to members of the House subcommittee on appropriations:

The Germans are using tactics that paid off before this war. "Tourists" who swarmed into Danzig, the Sudetenland and the Polish border regions in the 1930's are now reappearing in one form or another in Scandinavia, Spain, Portugal and Turkey.

The earlier "tourists" were to pave the way for "victorious German arms" but the present crop is ordered to "poison the minds of neutrals against us so that Germany may prepare a springboard for another try."

Nazi propaganda floods the neutral countries of Europe with radio broadcasts, pamphlets, leaflets, news-service material, newspaper subsidies and so on. This is in addition to Nazi efforts to keep its satellites in line.

News Services

At least "six specialized news services are at work in Turkey, two of them funneling the German line directly into the Turkish newspapers." Seven daily newscasts are beamed at Turkey from Berlin and the satellite capitals.

Expert propagandists work with the Turkish motion picture industry, with the periodical press, with booksellers and magazine distributors. German films are designed for the Turks, German products are advertised so as to be bribes.

The Germans cultivate Turkish diplomatic and military officials, and Turkish newspapermen, professors, doctors, authors, scientists. They offer professorships, fellowships and outright bribes.

Press Subsidies

In a general way the same intensive propaganda campaign is carried on in Sweden. German propagandists swarm through Spain. Some Spanish newspapers are subsidized by the German embassy. Others are trying to hamstring future relations between this country and Spain and Latin America, the Germans are offering Spanish educators professorships in German schools at padded salaries.

In the Far East the Japanese duplicate the German efforts in the west, trying to turn the Chinese and the peoples of India against America and the United Nations.

OWI, of course, doesn't go into detail on its own activities to counteract Axis propaganda.

Life Of Officer Depends On Court

Camp Anza, Calif., May 26 (AP)—Lt. Beaufort G. Swancutt was convicted by an Army court martial today on a charge of murdering four persons in a shooting affray here last March 5.

Camp Anza, Calif., May 26 (AP)—With Lt. Beaufort G. Swancutt's own delineation of his turbulent life history as a guide, a military court was to recommend to the Army today whether he should pay with his life for the slaying of four persons in a shooting fray March 5.

The 31-year old La Crosse, Wis., officer, testifying for two hours and 20 minutes yesterday at his court martial, offered no denial of the shootings but insisted that he had no motive or intent to kill anyone, or any memory of such an occurrence.

Previously declared sane by the court, Swancutt contended he suffered a mental blackout during which, the government charges, he fatally shot his sweetheart, Miss Dorothy Douglas, 19, and her friend, Miss Lourding Livermore, also 19, at an officers' club dance; his superior officer, Capt. Aubrey G. Serfling, and, later, a Riverside policeman, Arthur Simpson.

The handsome young officer admitted that he was married and was the father of two children while he was paying court to Miss Douglas.

DETROIT DROPS 11TH DECISION ON HOME FIELD

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Steve O'Neill must be tempted to put the show on the road for keeps today after watching his Detroit Tigers lose their 11th of 12 Briggs stadium starts for an .083 home percentage.

The Bengals swept the east at a 10 out of 14 clip and have played .667 ball outside of Detroit. Even the pennant winning clubs of 1934, 1935 and 1940 couldn't approach that pace.

A .500 "away" gait is considered by baseball men as excellent ground work for a pennant bid but the Bengals' sorry showing on the home lot leaves them struggling to stay in fifth place. The loyal motor city fans who have boosted home attendance over the 112,000 mark haven't seen the Tigers win since Johnny Gorsica turned back Cleveland, 4-2, in the second game of an April 30 doubleheader.

Yields 3 Hits

Lum Harris spoiled Detroit's hopes yesterday with a three-hit shutout, and drove in one Philadelphia run for a 2-0 edge. It was the fourth win for Harris, who didn't allow a man to reach third.

While the Tiger troubles deepened, Al Javery finally broke his hard-luck string by blanking Pittsburgh with three singles. Boston's 1-0 victory was the first for Javery after six heart-breaking losses. The only badly-pitched game in the chain came Sunday when Chicago knocked him out with seven hits in two and a fraction innings.

Pittsburgh Pilot Frankie Frisch was bounced by Umpire Babe Pinelli after an argument on a called strike against Pete Coscarart in this lone National league game. Cincinnati, at New York and St. Louis at Brooklyn, night tilts, and Chicago at Philadelphia, were postponed.

Browns Win

The St. Louis Browns strengthened their hold on second place in the American, and advanced to within a game and a half of the idle Yankees, by shading Boston 3-2. Bob Muncie scattered seven safeties for his second triumph, and helped the cause by driving in the first run. George McQuinn homered for St. Louis in the fifth.

Mel Harder lost his bid for victory No. 202 the hard way as his own ninth inning error with the bases loaded sent the tying run across the plate and Washington went on to score two more for a 4-2 night game decision before 18,706 fans. Mickey Haefner faded for a pinch hitter in the ninth but got credit for his fourth decision.

The Yankee-White Sox night game was rained out.

Kiefer Believes He May Set New Marks

Bainbridge, Md., May 26 (AP)—Holder of 40 world's swimming records and undisputed king of the backstroke, Ensign Adolph Kiefer believes he won't reach his athletic peak for another two or three years and that he will be capable of top-flight competition for at least five years more.

The Chicagoan, who won his first championship at 16, holds every world's backstroke record between 50 yards and one mile.

In last night's invitational swimming meet at the Bainbridge Naval Training Station, he bettered unofficially his own mark for the 100-yard backstroke as he swam the first two-thirds of the 150-yard backstroke in :56.1, seven-tenths of a second under his recognized world's record. Only one watch was held on him for the first 100 yards, so the mark cannot be certified. Kiefer is a physical education instructor at Bainbridge.

SECOND BASE IS HEADACHE IN BIG LOOPS

By JOE REICHLER
New York, May 25 (AP)—Baseball men used to say good catchers were hardest to find. But this year most major league managers would settle for the catchers they have, if they could find a good second baseman.

After one month of play, no fewer than 34 players have tried their hand at second for the 16 big league ball clubs. No other position has experienced such a turnover.

Only two of the 16 opening day second basemen, Don Gutteridge of the St. Louis Browns and Bobby Doerr of the Boston Red Sox, were holdovers from last year. Others were either rookies playing their first big league game, players transferred from other positions, or those who occupied utility roles last season.

Doerr Tops List

Doerr is one of six players who started the season at second base and have appeared in every contest to date without substitution. The others are Enril Verban, St. Louis Cardinals; Woody Williams, Cincinnati Reds; George Stinewell, New York Yankees; George Myatt, Washington Senators, and Roy Schalk, Chicago White Sox.

Even Gutteridge has been unable to play in every contest. An injury to Don forced manager Luke Sewell to try Floyd Baker and Ellis Clary at that sore spot, without much success.

The Brooklyn Dodgers, after experimenting with Morris Aderhold, Frank Drees and Manager Leo Durocher, himself, in spring training, have used five other second basemen since the season began. They opened with Luis Olmo, a converted outfielder, and followed with Fred Ankenman and Gilbert English, both third basemen, and Roger catcher Mickey Owen. The present incumbent is an ex-Buffalo University collegian, bespectacled Eddie Basinski, who has had no previous professional experience. Incidentally, Basinski came to the Dodgers as a shortstop.

Five Use 3 Each

Five clubs have had three performers at second. The Boston Braves have used Steve Shemo, Ben Geraghty and Connie Ryan. Lee Handley opened for the Pittsburgh Pirates, followed by Al Rubelling, and Pete Coscarat, last year's regular second baseman. Detroit has tried Don Heffner, Eddie Borom, and Eddie Mayo. Irwin Hall began for the Philadelphia Athletics, was relieved by Joe Rullo, then Eddie Busch, and now Hall is back.

Two-man shifts saw George Hausmann and Hugh Luby at second for the Giants, Ford Mullen and Charlie Letch for the Phillies, Don Johnson and Eddie Stanky for the Cubs and Russ Peters and Jimmy Grant for the Indians.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
New York, May 26 (AP)—Brooklyn fans' startled reaction to the discovery that you don't have to be a bum to be a Dodger merely emphasizes the fact that Eddie Basinski is just one of a long line of college ball players who have made good in the big leagues. . . . Eddie is the bespectacled youngster who came from Buffalo U. to soothe that second base sore spot in the Dodger infield. . . . For the benefit of those who are surprised to find a mere collegian playing good baseball, here's a lineup of major league stars who had the benefits of at least some higher education:

TWO DEEP

On second thought, make it two teams: First base, Lou Gehrig, Columbia, or Jake Stahl, Illinois; second, Eddie Collins, Columbia, or Frank Frisch, Fordham; third, Jimmy Collins, Canisius, or Joe Dugan, Holy Cross; short, Joe Sewell, Alabama, or Jack Collins, Holy Cross; outfield, George Sisler, Michigan; Harry Hooper, St. Mary's; Earle Combs, Kentucky State Teachers; Birdie Cree, Penn State; Riggs Stephenson, Alabama; Louis Sockalexis, Holy Cross and Notre Dame; catcher, Mickey Cochrane, Boston U., or Bill Carrigan, Holy Cross; pitchers, Christy Mathewson, Bucknell; Jack Coombs, Colby; Ed Reulbach, Notre Dame and Vermont; Ted Lyons, Baylor; Chief Bender, Carlisle; Eddie Plank, Gettysburg; Addie Joss, Wisconsin, and Orrie Overall, California.

SPORTPOURRI

Cecil Isbell was all set to return to the Green Bay Packers next fall when he was offered the head coaching job at Purdue. And chances are that Don (I won't play) Hutson still is boiling at the Boiler-makers. . . . If the Dodgers can hold out long enough, they'll have a good shortstop prospect in Lloyd Waner, Jr., who is playing that position in a Cub scouts tournament at Oklahoma City. His mother coaches the team. . . . Dale Stafford reports a feminine racing fan at the Detroit fair grounds recently couldn't understand why she didn't receive $1,500 for a $2 win ticket when the program stated the purse was for that amount.

Hagerstown Again Downs Allentown

(By The Associated Press)
Joe Palkovitz' triple in the seventh inning paved the way for Hagerstown's second straight win over Allentown last night. Palkovitz scored the winning run in the 6 to 5 game when Crimmins' infield was tossed out.

Allentown scored all its runs in the second inning.

Last night's game gave Hagerstown a still stronger lead on the Interstate series and put Allentown back into third place.

Now running second are the Wilmington Blue Rocks after a powerful hitting attack on the Trenton Packers last night. The Blue Rocks collected a total of 15 hits while pounding out a 15 to 2 victory.

For the third day in a row the York-Lancaster game was postponed—this time because of wet grounds. Today's schedule: Trenton at Hagerstown, Wilmington at Lancaster, York at Allentown.

Young Mother Of Two Fatally Shot

Everett, Pa., May 26 (AP)—District Attorney Paul Koonitz and police today continued an investigation into the fatal shooting last night of Mrs. Charlotte Zigler, 29-year-old mother of two children, in the home of Miss Cleo Mellotte, 30, here.

Miss Mellotte who, Coroner Vernon Gelsel said, admitted firing a .22 caliber revolver at the victim, is held in jail. No charges have been filed against her.

Gelsel quoted Miss Mellotte as saying Mrs. Zigler entered her kitchen brandishing a 16-inch lead pipe and threatened to kill her. Miss Mellotte said she merely wanted to frighten Mrs. Zigler away and did not intend to shoot her, Gelsel said.

ALBANY GAINS SECOND PLACE

By The Associated Press
Bill Thomason of Wilkes-Barre pitched three-hit ball against the Utica Braves last night in the second game of a twin bill, but dropped a 4-3 decision.

Wilkes-Barre won the opener against the Braves last night, however, 1-0, as Earl "Hooks" Henry gave five hits to chalk up his fourth straight victory.

Albany's Senators took advantage of the split to replace the Barons in second place behind the Hartford Laurels after winning two from the Williamsport Grays, 4-3 and 9-5. Stanly Stenoff ousted Juan Hernandez in the opener. Three Albany hurlers gave only three hits in the night cap, but issued 10 walks.

Hartford won a pair from the Elmira Pioneers. Bill Marshall pitched his third straight win for a 7-0 shutout in the opener and Lusty Lutting helped Warren Mueller get his fourth triumph in the second tilt, 10-4.

The Scranton Red Sox pulled out of the cellar by tripping the Binghamton Triplets, 6-3, behind the five-hit hurling of Dwight Samonds, who recorded his fifth win against one loss.

Tonight's games: Williamsport at Albany, (2); Elmira at Hartford, Utica at Wilkes-Barre, Binghamton at Scranton.

PIA TRACKMEN MEET SATURDAY

State College, Pa., May 26 (AP)—Upper Darby, district one titleholders, and Altoona, district six champions, are expected to battle it out for the mythical class A title here tomorrow in the annual Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic Association track and field championships.

Upper Darby's hopes rest mainly on the fleet feet of four boys whose victories last Saturday gave the school the district crown.

Altoona's chances depend largely on the brawn of a quarter who carried off first places in district six field events.

Jack Birmingham, district winner in the 120 high hurdles, and 200 low hurdles, Warren Snow, victor in the 100 and 220 dashes, Tom Short, half-miler, and Sam Brown, miler, are Upper Darby's outstanding quarter.

Kenneth Koch, shot-putter, Negley Norton, discus thrower, Don McCullough, javelin champion, and Paul Krus, pole vaulter, are those Altoona is counting on to pile up team points tomorrow.

Jack Hayward, Lower Merion, whose distances in winning the discus and javelin events in the district one meet were better than those set by Altoona's entries in district six finals, however, may upset the Blair county school hopes for victory.

On the other hand, Upper Darby's track team will have strong opposition in Robert Kritzer, triple-threat runner from Shade Township, district six; and Bill Hinkleman and Bill Stebbins, two speedy Williamsport boys.

Grass Growing On Indianapolis Track

Indianapolis, Ind., May 26 (AP)—Grass is growing on the two and a half mile automobile race track at Speedway city and no cars are getting their final tests for the 500-mile Indianapolis Speedway race—a war casualty.

But, as the anniversary of the annual motor classic draws near, Al Rickenbacker, a brother of Capt. Eddie V. Rickenbacker, who has been in charge of the speedway since the last Memorial Day race three years ago, said today that while "it will take a good many months of hard work to get the race going again, we can do it."

"The track is still in good shape, although there's grass growing on it. A good going over would have it in fine shape."

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Steve O'Neill must be tempted to put the show on the road for keeps today after watching his Detroit Tigers lose their 11th of 12 Briggs stadium starts for an .083 home percentage.

The Bengals swept the east at a 10 out of 14 clip and have played .667 ball outside of Detroit. Even the pennant winning clubs of 1934, 1935 and 1940 couldn't approach that pace.

A .500 "away" gait is considered by baseball men as excellent ground work for a pennant bid but the Bengals' sorry showing on the home lot leaves them struggling to stay in fifth place. The loyal motor city fans who have boosted home attendance over the 112,000 mark haven't seen the Tigers win since Johnny Gorsica turned back Cleveland, 4-2, in the second game of an April 30 doubleheader.

Yields 3 Hits

Lum Harris spoiled Detroit's hopes yesterday with a three-hit shutout, and drove in one Philadelphia run for a 2-0 edge. It was the fourth win for Harris, who didn't allow a man to reach third.

While the Tiger troubles deepened, Al Javery finally broke his hard-luck string by blanking Pittsburgh with three singles. Boston's 1-0 victory was the first for Javery after six heart-breaking losses. The only badly-pitched game in the chain came Sunday when Chicago knocked him out with seven hits in two and a fraction innings.

Pittsburgh Pilot Frankie Frisch was bounced by Umpire Babe Pinelli after an argument on a called strike against Pete Coscarart in this lone National league game. Cincinnati, at New York and St. Louis at Brooklyn, night tilts, and Chicago at Philadelphia, were postponed.

Browns Win

The St. Louis Browns strengthened their hold on second place in the American, and advanced to within a game and a half of the idle Yankees, by shading Boston 3-2. Bob Muncie scattered seven safeties for his second triumph, and helped the cause by driving in the first run. George McQuinn homered for St. Louis in the fifth.

Mel Harder lost his bid for victory No. 202 the hard way as his own ninth inning error with the bases loaded sent the tying run across the plate and Washington went on to score two more for a 4-2 night game decision before 18,706 fans. Mickey Haefner faded for a pinch hitter in the ninth but got credit for his fourth decision.

The Yankee-White Sox night game was rained out.

Kiefer Believes He May Set New Marks

Bainbridge, Md., May 26 (AP)—Holder of 40 world's swimming records and undisputed king of the backstroke, Ensign Adolph Kiefer believes he won't reach his athletic peak for another two or three years and that he will be capable of top-flight competition for at least five years more.

The Chicagoan, who won his first championship at 16, holds every world's backstroke record between 50 yards and one mile.

In last night's invitational swimming meet at the Bainbridge Naval Training Station, he bettered unofficially his own mark for the 100-yard backstroke as he swam the first two-thirds of the 150-yard backstroke in :56.1, seven-tenths of a second under his recognized world's record. Only one watch was held on him for the first 100 yards, so the mark cannot be certified. Kiefer is a physical education instructor at Bainbridge.

SECOND BASE IS HEADACHE IN BIG LOOPS

By JOE REICHLER
New York, May 25 (AP)—Baseball men used to say good catchers were hardest to find. But this year most major league managers would settle for the catchers they have, if they could find a good second baseman.

After one month of play, no fewer than 34 players have tried their hand at second for the 16 big league ball clubs. No other position has experienced such a turnover.

Only two of the 16 opening day second basemen, Don Gutteridge of the St. Louis Browns and Bobby Doerr of the Boston Red Sox, were holdovers from last year. Others were either rookies playing their first big league game, players transferred from other positions, or those who occupied utility roles last season.

Doerr Tops List

Doerr is one of six players who started the season at second base and have appeared in every contest to date without substitution. The others are Enril Verban, St. Louis Cardinals; Woody Williams, Cincinnati Reds; George Stinewell, New York Yankees; George Myatt, Washington Senators, and Roy Schalk, Chicago White Sox.

Even Gutteridge has been unable to play in every contest. An injury to Don forced manager Luke Sewell to try Floyd Baker and Ellis Clary at that sore spot, without much success.

The Brooklyn Dodgers, after experimenting with Morris Aderhold, Frank Drees and Manager Leo Durocher, himself, in spring training, have used five other second basemen since the season began. They opened with Luis Olmo, a converted outfielder, and followed with Fred Ankenman and Gilbert English, both third basemen, and Roger catcher Mickey Owen. The present incumbent is an ex-Buffalo University collegian, bespectacled Eddie Basinski, who has had no previous professional experience. Incidentally, Basinski came to the Dodgers as a shortstop.

Five Use 3 Each

Five clubs have had three performers at second. The Boston Braves have used Steve Shemo, Ben Geraghty and Connie Ryan. Lee Handley opened for the Pittsburgh Pirates, followed by Al Rubelling, and Pete Coscarat, last year's regular second baseman. Detroit has tried Don Heffner, Eddie Borom, and Eddie Mayo. Irwin Hall began for the Philadelphia Athletics, was relieved by Joe Rullo, then Eddie Busch, and now Hall is back.

Two-man shifts saw George Hausmann and Hugh Luby at second for the Giants, Ford Mullen and Charlie Letch for the Phillies, Don Johnson and Eddie Stanky for the Cubs and Russ Peters and Jimmy Grant for the Indians.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
New York, May 26 (AP)—Brooklyn fans' startled reaction to the discovery that you don't have to be a bum to be a Dodger merely emphasizes the fact that Eddie Basinski is just one of a long line of college ball players who have made good in the big leagues. . . . Eddie is the bespectacled youngster who came from Buffalo U. to soothe that second base sore spot in the Dodger infield. . . . For the benefit of those who are surprised to find a mere collegian playing good baseball, here's a lineup of major league stars who had the benefits of at least some higher education:

TWO DEEP

On second thought, make it two teams: First base, Lou Gehrig, Columbia, or Jake Stahl, Illinois; second, Eddie Collins, Columbia, or Frank Frisch, Fordham; third, Jimmy Collins, Canisius, or Joe Dugan, Holy Cross; short, Joe Sewell, Alabama, or Jack Collins, Holy Cross; outfield, George Sisler, Michigan; Harry Hooper, St. Mary's; Earle Combs, Kentucky State Teachers; Birdie Cree, Penn State; Riggs Stephenson, Alabama; Louis Sockalexis, Holy Cross and Notre Dame; catcher, Mickey Cochrane, Boston U., or Bill Carrigan, Holy Cross; pitchers, Christy Mathewson, Bucknell; Jack Coombs, Colby; Ed Reulbach, Notre Dame and Vermont; Ted Lyons, Baylor; Chief Bender, Carlisle; Eddie Plank, Gettysburg; Addie Joss, Wisconsin, and Orrie Overall, California.

SPORTPOURRI

Cecil Isbell was all set to return to the Green Bay Packers next fall when he was offered the head coaching job at Purdue. And chances are that Don (I won't play) Hutson still is boiling at the Boiler-makers. . . . If the Dodgers can hold out long enough, they'll have a good shortstop prospect in Lloyd Waner, Jr., who is playing that position in a Cub scouts tournament at Oklahoma City. His mother coaches the team. . . . Dale Stafford reports a feminine racing fan at the Detroit fair grounds recently couldn't understand why she didn't receive $1,500 for a $2 win ticket when the program stated the purse was for that amount.

Altoona, Pa., May 26 (AP)—Deputy Coroner Edgar G. Walls said Annaelara Cross, three-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Manning Cross, Jr., of Riggles Gap, was drowned yesterday when she fell from a foot bridge into a swollen creek. Her father recently had been inducted into the armed forces.

Kiefer Believes He May Set New Marks

Bainbridge, Md., May 26 (AP)—Holder of 40 world's swimming records and undisputed king of the backstroke, Ensign Adolph Kiefer believes he won't reach his athletic peak for another two or three years and that he will be capable of top-flight competition for at least five years more.

The Chicagoan, who won his first championship at 16, holds every world's backstroke record between 50 yards and one mile.

In last night's invitational swimming meet at the Bainbridge Naval Training Station, he bettered unofficially his own mark for the 100-yard backstroke as he swam the first two-thirds of the 150-yard backstroke in .56.1, seven-tenths of a second under his recognized world's record. Only one watch was held on him for the first 100 yards, so the mark cannot be certified. Kiefer is a physical education instructor at Bainbridge.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
New York, May 26 (AP)—Brooklyn fans' startled reaction to the discovery that you don't have to be a bum to be a Dodger merely emphasizes the fact that Eddie Basinski is just one of a long line of college ball players who have made good in the big leagues. . . . Eddie is the bespectacled youngster who came from Buffalo U. to soother that second base sore spot in the Dodger infield. . . . For the benefit of those who are surprised to find a mere collegian playing good baseball, here's a lineup of major league stars who had the benefits of at least some higher education:

TWO DEEP
On second thought, make it two teams: First base, Lou Gehrig, Columbia, or Jake Stahl, Illinois; second, Eddie Collins, Columbia, or Frank Frisch, Fordham; third, Jimmy Collins, Canisius, or Joe Dugan, Holy Cross; short, Joe Sewell, Alabama, or Jack Collins, Holy Cross; outfield, George Sisler, Michigan; Harry Hooper, St. Mary's; Earl Combs, Kentucky State Teachers; Birdie Cree, Penn State; Riggs Stephenson, Alabama; Louis Sockalexis, Holy Cross and Notre Dame; catcher, Mickey Cochrane, Boston U., or Bill Carrigan, Holy Cross; pitchers, Christy Mathewson, Bucknell; Jack Coombs, Colby; Ed Reulbach, Notre Dame and Vermont; Ted Lyons, Baylor; Chief Bender, Carlisle; Eddie Plank, Gettysburg; Addie Jose, Wisconsin, and Orrie Overall, California.

SPORTPOURRI
Cecil Isbell was all set to return to the Green Bay Packers next fall when he was offered the head coaching job at Purdue. And chances are that Don (I won't play) Hutson still is boiling at the Boiler-makers. . . . If the Dodgers can hold out long enough, they'll have a good shortstop prospect in Lloyd Waner, Jr., who is playing that position in a Cub scouts tournament at Oklahoma City. His mother coaches the team. . . . Dale Stafford reports a feminine racing fan at the Detroit fair grounds recently couldn't understand why she didn't receive $1,500 for a $2 win ticket when the program stated the purse was for that amount.

Hagerstown Again Downs Allentown

(By The Associated Press)
Joe Palkovitz' triple in the seventh inning paved the way for Hagerstown's second straight win over Allentown last night. Palkovitz scored the winning run in the 6 to 5 game when Crimmins' infield was tossed out.

Allentown scored all its runs in the second inning.

Last night's game gave Hagerstown a still stronger lead on the Interstate series and put Allentown back into third place.

Now running second are the Wilmington Blue Rocks after a powerful hitting attack on the Trenton Packers last night. The Blue Rocks collected a total of 15 hits while pounding out a 10 to 5 victory.

For the third day in a row the York-Lancaster game was postponed—this time because of wet grounds.

Today's schedule: Trenton at Hagerstown, Wilmington at Lancaster, York at Allentown.

Young Mother Of Two Fatally Shot

Everett, Pa., May 26 (AP)—District Attorney Paul Koonz and police today continued an investigation into the fatal shooting last night of Mrs. Charlotte Zigler, 29-year-old mother of two children, in the home of Miss Cleo Mellotte, 30, here.

Miss Mellotte who, Coroner Vernon Geisel said, admitted firing a .22 caliber revolver at the victim, is held in jail. No charges have been filed against her.

Geisel quoted Miss Mellotte as saying Mrs. Zigler entered her kitchen brandishing a 16-inch lead pipe and threatened to kill her. Miss Mellotte said she merely wanted to frighten Mrs. Zigler away and did not intend to shoot her, Geisel said.

SECOND BASE IS HEADACHE IN BIG LOOPS

By JOE REICHLER
New York, May 25 (AP)—Baseball men used to say good catchers were hardest to find. But this year most major league managers would settle for the catchers they have, if they could find a good second baseman.

After one month of play, no fewer than 34 players have tried their hand at second for the 16 big league ball clubs. No other position has experienced such a turnover.

Only two of the 16 opening day second basemen, Don Gutteridge of the St. Louis Browns and Bobby Doerr of the Boston Red Sox, were holdovers from last year. Others were either rookies playing their first big league game, players transferred from other positions, or those who occupied utility roles last season.

Doerr Tops List
Doerr is one of six players who started the season at second base and have appeared in every contest to date without substitution. The others are Emil Verban, St. Louis Cardinals; Woody Williams, Cincinnati Reds; George Stinewell, New York Yankees; George Myatt, Washington Senators, and Roy Schaak, Chicago White Sox.

Even Gutteridge has been unable to play in every contest. An injury to Don forced manager Luke Sewell to try Floyd Baker and Ellis Clary at that sore spot, without much success.

The Brooklyn Dodgers, after experimenting with Morris Aderholt, Frank Drews and Manager Leo Durocher, himself, in spring training, have used five other second basemen since the season began. They opened with Luis Olmo, a converted outfielder, and followed with Fred Ankenman and Gilbert Engstlich, both third basemen, and regular catcher Mickey Owen. The present incumbent is an ex-Buffalo University collegian, bespectacled Eddie Basinski, who has had no previous professional experience. Incidentally, Basinski came to the Dodgers as a shortstop.

Five Use 3 Each
Five clubs have had three performers at second. The Boston Braves have used Steve Shemo, Ben Geraghty and Connie Ryan. Lee Handley opened for the Pittsburgh Pirates, followed by Al Rubeling, and Pete Coscarart, last year's regular second baseman. Detroit has tried Don Heffner, Eddie Borom, and Eddie Mayo. Irwin Hall began for the Philadelphia Athletics, was relieved by Joe Rullo, then Eddie Busch, and now Hall is back.

Two-man shifts saw George Hausmann and Hugh Luby at second for the Giants, Ford Mullen and Charlie Letch for the Phillies, Don Johnson and Eddie Stanky for the Cubs and Russ Peters and Jimmy Grant for the Indians.

Joe Baski To Meet Lee Savold Tonight

New York, May 26 (AP)—Boxing returns to Madison Square Garden tonight after an eight-week lapse, with heavyweight Joe Baski of Kuipmont, Pa., and Lee Savold of Paterson, N. J., clashing in the 12-round headliner.

Two months ago Savold spotted 210-pound Baski a dozen pounds and then took a hair-line decision from him, but the ex-miner from Pennsylvania's hills has a hunch he'll Kayo the New Jersey adonis tonight. The Broadway bettors looked at it the same way, installing Baski as a 6 to 5 favorite.

Other six-round bouts include one between middleweights Jimmy Elliott of Baltimore and Johnny Carter of Philadelphia; and light heavyweights Jimmy Gardner of Philadelphia and Johnny White of Jersey City.

PIAA TRACKMEN MEET SATURDAY

State College, Pa., May 26 (AP)—Upper Darby, district one titleholders, and Altoona, district six champions, are expected to battle it out for the mythical class a title here tomorrow in the annual Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic Association track and field championships.

Upper Darby's hopes rest mainly on the fleet feet of four boys whose victories last Saturday gave the school the district crown.

Altoona's chances depend largely on the brawn of a quarter who carried off first places in district six field events.

Jack Birmingham, district winner in the 120 high hurdles, and 200 low hurdles, Warren Snow, victor in the 100 and 220 dashes, Tom Short, half-miler, and Sam Brown, miler, are Upper Darby's outstanding quarter.

Kenneth Koch, shot-putter, Neglish Norton, discus thrower, Don McCullough, javelin champion, and Paul Kruis, pole vaulter, are those Altoona is counting on to pile up top points tomorrow.

Jack Hayward, Lower Merion, whose distances in winning the discus and javelin events in the district one meet were better than those set by Altoona's entries in district six finals, however, may upset the Blair county school hopes for victory.

On the other hand, Upper Darby's track team will have strong opposition in Robert Kritzer, triple-threat runner from Shade Township, district six; and Bill Hinkleman and Bill Stebbins, two speedy Williamsport boys.

ALBANY GAINS SECOND PLACE

By The Associated Press
Bill Thomason of Wilkes-Barre pitched three-hit ball against the Utica Braves last night in the second game of a twin bill, but dropped a 4-3 decision.

Wilkes-Barre won the opener against the Braves last night, however, 1-0, as Earl "Hooks" Henry gave five hits to chalk up his fourth straight victory.

Albany's Senators took advantage of the split to replace the Barons in second place behind the Hartford Laurels after winning two from the Williamsport Grays, 4-3 and 9-5. Stanley Stenoff bested Juan Hernandez in the opener. Three Albany hurlers gave only three hits in the night cap, but issued 10 walks.

Hartford won a pair from the Elmira Pioneers, Bill Marshall pitched his third straight win for a 7-0 shutout in the opener and Lusty hitting helped Warren Mueller get his fourth triumph in the second tilt, 10-4.

The Scranton Red Sox pulled out of the cellar by tripping the Binghamton Triplets, 6-3, behind the five-hit hurling of Dwight Simonds, who recorded his fifth win against one loss.

Tonight's games: Williamsport at Albany, (2); Elmira at Hartford, Utica at Wilkes-Barre, Binghamton at Scranton.

Says Wife Offered To Trade Baby For Dog

Los Angeles, May 26 (AP)—Clifford Stanton Heinz II, youthful heir of the food packing family, has asserted that his wife, Elizabeth, agreed to trade her unborn child for a cocker spaniel dog.

"I explained that full custody of the dog would be exchanged for full custody of the baby," Heinz, 24, testified when the custody battle over their son, Clifford III, now 4 years of age, opened in Superior court yesterday.

Heinz said, however, that his wife gave the dog away before the child was born.

He and his wife both are suing for custody of the son, who is now at the home of Heinz' mother, Mrs. Sara Maclean, here.

Mrs. Heinz' attorney declared in court yesterday that "Mrs. Heinz is one of the kind of mothers that existed in the time of our mothers—she doesn't drink or smoke and she didn't trust her child to the care of a nurse, but cared for him herself."

U. S. BULLDOZER CONQUERS CITY

Littoria, Italy, May 25 (Delayed) (AP)—One American bulldozer conquered the city of Littoria, formerly Benito Mussolini's civic pride in the ancient Pontine marshes.

When the Germans ducked out last night they blew four craters 30 feet deep in the four-mile gravel road from the old American line to the shell-battered Fascist model town.

But after Capt. Joseph Lombard, Hartford, Conn., had finished bridging two canals in two hours this morning to enable the beachhead forces to link up with the main Fifth Army, he put his combat engineers to work at the approaches to Littoria.

An Evening Thought
We hear the rain fall, but not the snow. Bitter grief is loud, calm grief is silent.—Auerbach

Just Folks
SILENCE FOR HIRO
The British Broadcasting Co. has banned from its network all criticism of and attacks on Emperor Hirohito.

—News Item
This by everyone is said:
"Speak no evil of the dead."
Now to men instructions come:
"Say no evil of the dumb!"
Censure not the little man
Who is Emperor of Japan.
Call old Tojo what you will,
But of Hiro speak no ill.

Hirohito's not the one
Hate or rage should fall upon.
He wears medals on his chest;
Is in regal raiment dressed,
And at many a pagan shrine
He is worshiped as divine;
But for all his people's shame
Tojo's gang must bear the blame.

Never criticize a chap
Just for being born a Jap.
He can't help himself, nor can
Hirohito of Japan.
From the hour that he was born
To this very tragic morn.
War or peace or come what may,
Not a word he's had to say.

Though to Hiro, with the crowd,
Tojo's gangsters have bowed;
They have kept him, truth to tell,
Like a prisoner in a cell,
There to stay till death shall come.
Lonely, pitiful and dumb,
Blame the warlike Japanese,
But of Hiro—Silence, please!

Today's Talk
ERNE PYLE
Nothing gives me more delight than to see meritorious folks become successful. Especially am I pleased with just recognition given to those deserving ones in my own profession of journalism. Long before this war was on, I read daily the delightful pieces by Ernie Pyle. He was my idea of a perfect roving reporter — the people's reporter.

Now, however, honors are falling thick and fast upon this modest little fellow with the big heart and great courage. He is the doughboy's war correspondent to the home fire-side. He is beloved on all sides. He knows the thoughts of the humblest fighter's mind and sends back home the simple story that he has learned from actual contact with these boys from the thick of every fighting front.

There is nothing of the grandiose to Ernie Pyle. He is realistic, frank and honest in all his reports. He puts the picture right before your eyes, in unembellished human style. He presents no theories. He just hands you the picture and you know what's going on. And the way he does it amounts to genuine genius.

He says: "Here is your war, and here is the story of your boy—every boy." And instinctively you believe him and await his next story. Never in any war has there been a reporter quite like Ernie Pyle. He has taken every risk and braved every quarter of danger, and done so fearlessly. All his stories have come first hand. Death has given him many a grin—and he has only flashed back a smile!

Every mother and father with a boy at the front owes to this newspaper writer an everlasting debt of gratitude, and I am sure that it radiates from the heart of every one of them. He has a flair for human understanding, and he seems to have been picked by the gods to do the job he does.

My prayer, and the prayer of us all, is that Ernie may be spared and live long — again to take up his roving job in times of peace, again to move at will in happier days, delighting us with his tales of peoples, lands and neglected beauties.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "The Daily Thought Record."

OPA Investigating Drug Overcharging

Philadelphia, May 26 (AP)—Frank J. Loftus, district office of Price Administration director, has announced that OPA agents are investigating overcharges by "a chiseling minority" of druggists, some of whom he said have been reported overcharging on prescriptions as much as 900 per cent.

Loftus said offenders would be criminally prosecuted. The OPA said physicians and patrons asserted that one central city druggist charged $10 for 50 sulfa tablets which cost him 50 cents and should have retailed at $1. Hyman C. Bocash, secretary of the Philadelphia Association of Retail Druggists, issued a statement last night in which he countercharged that the OPA itself was violating the law by "arbitrarily attempting to fix prices for professional services."

Orders Halt in Sale Of Evaporated Milk

Philadelphia, May 26 (AP)—Dr. Elkin H. Yunker, of the Department of Health, has ordered a halt to the proposed sale of 5,000 cases of government owned evaporated milk, some of which has spoiled.

Dr. Yunker said Wednesday the milk will remain in warehouses until he and inspectors of the federal War Food Administration have inspected every can.

He valued the milk at $21,000. He said a representative of the WFA from Washington proposed sale of the milk on an "as is" basis. It was originally bought from the Midwest for shipment to the armed forces abroad and for lend lease.

PROBE SUSPENDS NAVY OFFICIAL

Washington, May 26 (AP)—Comdr. John D. Corrigan of the Navy's Bureau of Ordnance has been suspended temporarily from duty pending investigation of a statement by Senator Truman (D-Mo) that many firms producing ordnance material retained Corrigan's engineering firm to study their production problems.

A Navy spokesman, asked about the status of case, said Thursday: "The Navy was informed of this situation by the Truman committee, and has itself begun an investigation. Pending outcome of these investigations, Commander Corrigan has been suspended from duty. The case has been referred to the Justice Department, for any action other than disciplinary action."

Severed Connections
The spokesman's comment came as the Truman War Investigating committee opened its own inquiry into the case.

Seabees' Mascot Is Confined Again

Pittsburgh, May 26 (AP)—Little six-year-old Jimmie Carrick, "official" mascot of 26 overseas Seabee battalions who has been an invalid for five years with a spinal ailment, will have to stay in bed another six months, doctors told him yesterday.

But Jimmie, who had hoped yesterday's examination would reveal his condition sufficiently improved to allow him to leave his bed, wasn't too unhappy.

"Six months isn't very long," he told his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Carrick.

The boy has been deluged with gifts and letters from Navy Seabees all over the world.

New York city engineering and management consultants.

The president of the firm, Robert H. Wells, has asserted that Corrigan upon entering the Navy in April 1942 severed all connections with the firm.

Truman, chairman of the investigating committee, asserted that on a number of occasions manufacturing concerns producing ordnance supplies retained that firm shortly after inspection examinations were made at their plants.

An Evening Thought

Just Folks

SILENCE FOR HIRO
The British Broadcasting Co. has banned from its network all criticism of and attacks on Emperor Hirohito.

—News Item
This by everyone is said:
"Speak no evil of the dead!"
Now to men instructions come:
"Say no evil of the dumb!"
Censure not the little man
Who is Emperor of Japan.
Call old Tojo what you will,
But of Hiro speak no ill.

Hirohito's not the one
Hate or rage should fall upon.
He wears medals on his chest;
Is in regal raiment dressed.
And at many a pagan shrine
He is worshipped as divine;
But for all his people's shame
Tojo's gang must bear the blame.

Never criticize a chap
Just for being born a Jap.
He can't help himself, nor can
Hirohito of Japan.
From the hour that he was born
To this very tragic morn,
War or peace or come what may,
Not a word he's had to say.

Though to Hiro, with the crowd,
Tojo's gangsters have kowtowed;
They have kept him, truth to tell,
Like a prisoner in a cell.
There to stay till death shall come,
Lonely, pitiful and dumb.
Blame the warlike Japanese,
But of Hiro—Silence, please!

Today's Talk

ERNE PYLE
Nothing gives me more delight than to see meritorious folks become successful. Especially am I pleased with just recognition given to those deserving ones in my own profession of journalism. Long before this war was on, I read daily the delightful pieces by Ernie Pyle. He was my idea of a perfect roving reporter — the people's reporter.

Now, however, honors are falling thick and fast upon this modest little fellow with the big heart and great courage. He is the doubthoof of war correspondence to the home fire-side. He is beloved on all sides. He knows the thoughts of the humblest fighter's mind and sends back home the simple story that he has learned from actual contact with these boys from the thick of every fighting front.

There is nothing of the grandiose to Ernie Pyle. He is realistic, frank and honest in all his reports. He puts the picture right before your eyes, in unembellished human style. He presents no theories. He just hands you the picture and you know what's going on. And the way he does it amounts to genuine genius.

He says: "Here is your war, and here is the story of your boy—every boy." And instinctively you believe him and await his next story. Never in any war has there been a reporter quite like Ernie Pyle. He has taken every risk and braved every quarter of danger, and done so fearlessly. All his stories have come first hand. Death has given him many a grin—and he has only flashed back a smile!

Every mother and father with a boy at the front owes to this newspaper writer an everlasting debt of gratitude, and I am sure that it radiates from the heart of every one of them. He has a flair for human understanding, and he seems to have been picked by the gods to do the job he does.

My prayer, and the prayer of us all, is that Ernie may be spared and live long — again to take up his roving job in times of peace, again to move at will in happier days, delighting us with his tales of peoples, lands and neglected beauties.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "The Daily Thought Record."

Orders Halt in Sale Of Evaporated Milk

Philadelphia, May 26 (AP)—Dr. Elkin H. Yunker, of the Department of Health, has ordered a halt to the proposed sale of 5,000 cases of government owned evaporated milk, some of which has spoiled.

Dr. Yunker said Wednesday the milk will remain in warehouses until he and inspectors of the federal War Food Administration have inspected every can.

He valued the milk at $21,000. He said a representative of the WFA from Washington proposed sale of the milk on an "as is" basis. It was originally bought from the Midwest for shipment to the armed forces abroad and for lend lease.

SAYS PATTON

All battles were "exciting" with the men keyed up as they moved into battle and "too busy to be scared." After the battles "one gets scared to death," he added. Cause for fear too, was moving ahead in darkness, not knowing what might be ahead.

"Germans Are Clean Fighters" In the daytime, he explains, battles are not so bad, as at night, "because you can see what is coming."

He took part in the invasion of Sicily and the fighting in that island until Palermo, when his outfit was sent back to a rest camp. Later they moved to England to prepare for the invasion. England, he says, presents an awe-inspiring sight with "troops, ammunition, armor, and all equipment of war, everywhere you look." Planes are there by the thousands "more planes than anyone ever saw before."

In on the surrender of the Germans in Tunisia, Sergeant Yohe says the Germans are the "cleanest fighters of all." A professional army, they fight "according to the rules." Tough fighters, they know when they are licked and surrender then.

Busy First Sergeant American troops are better trained and American equipment is far better than the Germans, he adds. The Americans' equipment is the best in the world, is the way he puts it. The German Army, he explains has been on the move so long that there has been no opportunity for the men to receive any training other than what they pick up while fighting.

A platoon sergeant at first, he was named first sergeant in Africa. The responsibilities of a first sergeant are numerous, including everything from assisting the soldiers in their love affairs, to their financial matters.

"Toughest job of all, however, is 'keeping the men happy if they are missed at mail call,' he says. Mail call, he adds, is the one thing the men look forward to, and the main thing that keeps their morale high and keeps them going.

He expressed special thanks to Miss Larkin, Miss Elyse McClellan, Fred G. Troxell, Miss Ruth McIlhenny, alumni and parents and all others who contributed to the erection of the roll.

Made At School The exercises, closed with the singing of a stanza of "The Star Spangled Banner."

The honor roll, made in the agricultural work shop at the school under the supervision of Elmer H. Schriver, is about nine feet long and six feet high at the highest point. The names are arranged in vertical columns and are lettered in gold on small individual plates. They are arranged alphabetically. The roll is topped by a golden eagle and this lettering in gold: Gettysburg High School Honor Roll. They honor themselves and their country in World War II.

3. Serially-numbered coupons are much more difficult to counterfeit than the old type — so much so that no counterfeiters have been discovered among them so far.

Serial numbering does not make endorsement of coupons by motorists any less necessary, OPA emphasized. The endorsement of State and license number on every coupon still provides the only way of tracing the source of illegal coupons after they have been exchanged for gasoline.

LADY IN A WHIRL

By Esther Valcke Georgins

Chapter 25

"Well, I didn't see exactly what happened," the farmer protested, "right at the start. All of a sudden I looked up and there she was, rolling and bouncin' down the mountain."

"Do you think she could have been pushed and you not have seen the person who did it?" Pete asked. "Yes, sir, I do. 'Twould have been easy enough to give her a shove and then jump back in them bushes."

"Well," puzzled Pete, "I'm sure I don't know what to do about all this."

"You needn't do anything," Zelda said. "The whole thing's preposterous."

"Huh! I know what to do," proclaimed Cora with determination. "I'm going to call the police."

"You'll do no such thing," Zelda commanded.

"I certainly will," contradicted Cora, and she turned and went in the house.

"Cora!" Zelda spoke sharply but Cora ignored her.

Zelda turned to follow her, but stopped as a long, black car came roaring up the hill and swung into the driveway. O'Brien, followed by two strange men, got out. They came across the lawn silently, but O'Brien was smiling.

"Hello, Mr. Nickols," he greeted Pete, and "Hello, John," to the farmer.

He did not pause, however, to introduce the strangers, but started up the porch steps. It was only when they stopped suddenly and one of the strange men ripped out an oath, that Pete and the others realized that something extraordinary was in progress. Pete leaped towards the porch, only to be arrested midway by the count's voice. There was no ignoring his tone.

"Stay where you are—all of you!" he snarled.

Count Varanisi stood with his back to the house wall, with Zelda, whose eyes were enormous with anger, half in front of him. His left arm encircled her waist, and with his right hand he trained a pistol at the motionless group. The others stood for a second as though frozen to the spot.

"Caught flat footed, by gee!" cried O'Brien.

They were all perfectly helpless. Cora was inside telephoning. Sam and Eglantine were in the other end of the house. The men and Rutabaga watched the count slide along the back of the porch with Zelda shrinking at his side.

"Just stand still," he warned them, "and nothing will happen."

He reached the corner and by that time his objective was plain to all of them. He intended to climb the porch railing and drop to the ground where he would be only a foot or two from the car. O'Brien had come in. He intended to take Zelda along to drive—in all probability—and as a safeguard against them shooting at the car.

They watched him cross the porch between the house and the railing.

"Stand still," he commanded

Zelda. "No monkey business."

He loosened his hold on her and succeeded in getting one leg over the rail.

If anyone is going to do anything, Pete thought, now is the time.

Even as the thought flashed through his mind the count went over backwards, accompanied by the deafening noise of his gun. O'Brien, followed by the two strangers, leaped around the porch with guns drawn. Rutabaga scuttled up the steps like a startled rabbit and into the house, colliding with Cora in the doorway.

Zelda staggered slightly and pressed both hands to her shoulder, where a small, dark spot had already stained her blouse. Pete was at her side before the echoes of the shot had died away. He was muttering, incoherently and Zelda looked at him with wide eyes.

"What's all the rumpus?" Cora demanded.

The scuffle on the ground ceased and before Cora's startled eyes, O'Brien came into view, followed by the two strange men. The count was handcuffed to the brawnier of the two. Sauntering behind the group came Oh Be Thankful.

"Well, we got him, Miss Pettit," said O'Brien. "Thanks to you—and Oh Be Thankful!"

"Oh!" gasped Cora weakly.

Nothing at all. Think nothing of it. Just a mere bagatelle. Oh Be Thankful assured them with an expansive gesture.

"Somebody call a doctor. Zelda's hurt," said Pete in a tight voice.

"Zelda!" exclaimed Cora, jumping up. "Oh, good heavens!"

"Now don't get excited. It isn't serious," Pete assured her. "Just a scratch—but I think it had better be attended to."

"Now, Cora, don't fuss," Zelda remonstrated.

"Well, we'll be getting along with our man," one of the strangers said. "Okay. I'll take care of things here," O'Brien told him. "I guess you want all his belongings, don't you?"

"You bet."

The motor roared and the count disappeared, a prisoner.

"Pretty good day's work, my lad," exulted O'Brien, slapping Oh Be Thankful on the back.

"Why that was nothing," explained the eccentric airily. "I just happened around the corner at the psychological moment, saw with one quick glance what was going on, grabbed him by his britches and yanked him over. Too bad the little lady got hurt, though."

"Huh?" said O'Brien, who had been too busy to see what had been taking place on the porch. "Well, I'll be—!" He leaped up the steps. "Did he get you?"

"Only a scratch, O'Brien," Zelda assured him. "Hurts though, and it scared the dickens out of me."

"The house!"

"Now tell me," Zelda requested, "and take my mind off my wounds: What's all the shooting about?"

New Moderator Of Presbyterians

Chicago, May 26 (AP)—The Rev. Dr. Roy Ewing Vale, 59 year old Indianapolis minister, is the new moderator of the general assembly of the Presbyterian church in the United States of America.

Dr. Vale's election to the church's high office came yesterday at the opening of the 156th annual general assembly after three ballots. He received 272 of the 453 votes by commissioners to win over Dr. George Emerson Barnes of Philadelphia and Dr. Robert Bisset Whyte of Cleveland. The former had withdrawn after the second ballot.

The new moderator, a member of the church's permanent judicial commission, declined to comment on the proposed merger of the southern Presbyterians (the Presbyterian Church in the United States) and the Protestant Episcopal church. Dr. Vale said he would work toward the unity of all Presbyterian churches in the United States.

JOSEPH A. CHRISMER, Sec.

All battles were "exciting" with the men keyed up as they moved into battle and "too busy to be scared." After the battles "one gets scared to death," he added. Cause for fear too, was moving ahead in darkness, not knowing what might be ahead.

"Germans Are Clean Fighters" In the daytime, he explains, battles are not so bad, as at night, "because you can see what is coming."

He took part in the invasion of Sicily and the fighting in that island until Palermo, when his outfit was sent back to a rest camp. Later they moved to England to prepare for the invasion. England, he says, presents an awe-inspiring sight with "troops, ammunition, armor, all equipment of war, everywhere you look." Planes are there by the thousands "more planes than anyone ever saw before."

In on the surrender of the Germans in Tunisia, Sergeant Yohe says the Germans are the "cleanest fighters of all." A professional army, they fight "according to the rules." Tough fighters, they know when they are licked and surrender then.

Busy First Sergeant

American troops are better trained and American equipment is far better than the Germans, he adds. The Americans' equipment is the best in the world, is the way he puts it. The German Army, he explains has been on the move so long that there has been no opportunity for the men to receive any training other than what they pick up while fighting.

A platoon sergeant at first, he was named first sergeant in Africa. The responsibilities of a first sergeant are numerous, including everything from assisting the soldiers in their love affairs, to their financial matters.

Toughest job of all, however, is "keeping the men happy if they are missed at mail call," he says. Mail call, he adds, is the one thing the men look forward to, and the main thing that keeps their morale high and keeps them going.

He expressed special thanks to Miss Larkin, Miss Elyse McCreaf, Fred G. Troxell, Miss Ruth McIlhenny, alumni and parents and all others who contributed to the erection of the roll.

Made At School

The exercises closed with the singing of a stanza of "The Star Spangled Banner."

The honor roll, made in the agricultural work shop at the school under the supervision of Elmer H. Schriver, is about nine feet long and six feet high at the highest point. The names are arranged in vertical columns and are lettered in gold on small individual plates. They are arranged alphabetically.

The roll is topped by a golden eagle and this lettering in gold: Gettysburg High School Honor Roll. They honor themselves and their country in World War II.

3. Serially-numbered coupons are much more difficult to counterfeit than the old type — so much so that no counterfeiters have been discovered among them so far.

Serial numbering does not make endorsement of coupons by motorists any less necessary. OPA emphasized. The endorsement of State and license number on every coupon still provides the only way of tracing the source of illegal coupons after they have been exchanged for gasoline.

LADY IN A WHIRL

By Esther Valck Georgins

Chapter 25
"Well, I didn't see exactly what happened," the farmer protested, "right at the start. All of a sudden I looked up and there she was, rollin' and bouncin' down the mountain."

"Do you think she could have been pushed and you not have seen the person who did it?" Pete asked. "Yes, sir, I do. 'Would have been easy enough to give her a shove and then jump back in them bushes.'"

"Well," puzzled Pete, "I'm sure I don't know what to do about all this."

"You needn't do anything," Zaida said. "The whole thing's preposterous."

"Huh! I know what to do," proclaimed Cora with determination. "I'm going to call the police."

"You'll do no such thing," Zaida commanded.

"I certainly will," contradicted Cora, and she turned and went in the house.

"Cora!" Zaida spoke sharply but Cora ignored her.

Zaida turned to follow her, but stopped as a long, black car came roaring up the hill and swung into the driveway. O'Brien, followed by two strange men, got out. They came across the lawn silently, but O'Brien was smiling.

"Hello, Mr. Nickols," he greeted Pete, and "Hello, John," to the farmer.

He did not pause, however, to introduce the strangers, but started up the porch steps. It was only when they stopped suddenly and one of the strange men ripped out an oath, that Pete and the others realized that something extraordinary was in progress. Pete leaped towards the porch, only to be arrested midway by the count's voice. There was no ignoring his tone.

"Stay where you are—all of you!" he snarled.

Count Varnish stood with his back to the house wall, with Zaida, whose eyes were enormous with anger, half in front of him. His left arm encircled her waist, and with his right hand he trained a pistol at the motionless group. The others stood for a second as though frozen to the spot.

"Caught flat footed, by gee!" cried O'Brien.

They were all perfectly helpless. Cora was inside telephoning. Sam and Eglantine were in the other end of the house. The men and Rutabaga watched the count slide along the back of the porch with Zaida shrinking at his side.

"Just stand still," he warned them, "and nothing will happen."

He reached the corner and by that time his objective was plain to all of them. He intended to climb the porch railing and drop to the ground where he would be only a foot or two from the car O'Brien had come in. He intended to take Zaida along to drive—in all probability—and as a safeguard against them shooting at the car.

They watched him cross the porch between the house and the railing.

"Stand still," he commanded.

Zaida. "No monkey business." He loosened his hold on her and succeeded in getting one leg over the rail.

If anyone is going to do anything, Pete thought, now is the time.

Even as the thought flashed through his mind the count went over backwards, accompanied by the deafening noise of his gun. O'Brien, followed by the two strangers, leaped around the porch with guns drawn. Rutabaga scuttled up the steps like a startled rabbit and into the house, colliding with Cora in the doorway.

Zaida staggered slightly and pressed both hands to her shoulder, where a small, dark spot had already stained her blouse. Pete was at her side before the echoes of the shot had died away. He was muttering incoherently and Zaida looked at him with wide eyes.

"What's all the rumpus?" Cora demanded.

The scuffle on the ground ceased and before Cora's startled eyes, O'Brien came into view, followed by the two strange men. The count was handcuffed to the bannister of the two. Sauntering behind the group came Oh Be Thankful.

"Well, we got him, Miss Pettit," said O'Brien. "Thanks to you—and Oh Be Thankful!"

"Oh!" gasped Cora weakly. "Nothing at all. Think nothing of it. Just a mere bagatelle." Oh Be Thankful assured them with an expansive gesture.

"Somebody call a doctor. Zaida's hurt," said Pete in a tight voice.

"Zaida!" exclaimed Cora, jumping up. "Oh, good heavens!"

"Now don't get excited. It isn't serious," Pete assured her. "Just a scratch—but I think it had better be attended to."

"Now, Cora, don't fuss," Zaida remonstrated.

"Well, we'll be getting along with our man," one of the strangers said. "Okay. I'll take care of things here," O'Brien told him. "I guess you want all his belongings, don't you?"

"You bet."

The motor roared and the count disappeared, a prisoner.

"Pretty good day's work, my lad," exulted O'Brien, slapping Oh Be Thankful on the back.

"Why that was nothing," explained the eccentric airily. "I just happened around the corner at the psychological moment, saw with one quick glance what was going on, grabbed him by his britches and yanked him over. Too bad the little lady got hurt, though."

"Huh?" said O'Brien, who had been too busy to see what had been taking place on the porch. "Well, I'll be—!" He leaped up the steps.

"Did he get you?"

"Only a scratch, O'Brien," Zaida assured him. "Hurts though, and it scared the dickens out of me."

"The louse!"

"Now tell me," Zaida requested, "and take my mind off my wounds: What's all the shooting about?"

New Moderator

Chicago, May 26 (AP)—The Rev. Dr. Roy Ewing Vale, 59 year old Indianapolis minister, is the new moderator of the general assembly of the Presbyterian church in the United States of America.

Dr. Vale's election to the church's high office came yesterday at the opening of the 156th annual general assembly after three ballots. He received 272 of the 453 votes by commissioners to win over Dr. George Emerson Barnes of Philadelphia and Dr. Robert Bisset Whyte of Cleveland. The former had withdrawn after the second ballot.

The new moderator, a member of the church's permanent judicial commission, declined to comment on the proposed merger of the southern Presbyterians (the Presbyterian Church in the United States) and the Protestant Episcopal church. Dr. Vale said he would work toward the unity of all Presbyterian churches in the United States.

MACARTHUR NOW READY FOR 200 MILE INVASION

By J. B. KRUEGER

Associated Press War Editor

Gen. Douglas MacArthur's quest for airbases ever nearer the Philippines moved westward today on New Guinea's coast and there were signs he was about ready for a 200-mile invasion leap into the aerially-strategic Schouten islands.

Allied troops reached the edge of Maffin bay's airdrome after overpowering Japanese defenders at Tirofina river. Its capture seemed imminent on the basis of a MacArthur communique today. Maffin bay is opposite captured Wakde island off the New Guinea coast 110 miles west of Hollandia and 200 miles east of the Schoutens (pronounced Skow-tens).

Blak, larger of the two Schoutens, suffered another of the air raids which since May 1 have undertaken to soften it up, presumably for invasion. Heavy bombers struck in a night raid at supply and camp areas. In addition, Noemfoor island 60 miles west of Blak, was attacked and 19 parked planes were destroyed there.

The Schoutens already have taken more air punishment than Wakde underwent before it was invaded last week. Blak is less than 600 miles from enemy bases on Palau and Halmaherah and less than 900 from the Philippines.

On two other Pacific war ground-fronts the Japanese claimed capture of Loyang in north China and doggedly clung to Myitkyina in Burma in the face of overwhelming odds. The first Chinese admission Loyang probably was lost came from an Army spokesman who said contact with the key rail center had been broken.

The spokesman, Major Gen. C. C. Tseng, said Chinese troops had, however, witnessed their breach of the Hankow-Peking railroad and had stalled Japanese fighting westward of Loyang.

British Ground Army Pleases Eisenhower

Supreme Allied Headquarters, England, May 26 (AP) — Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower returned today from an inspection of British ground forces of his supreme invasion command and announced that he was highly pleased with the thoroughness of their training.

Soon afterwards, he had an audience with King George VI in Buckingham palace.

It was disclosed in London that Allied vehicles from tanks to jeeps have been marked for the invasion with a white star, which has been the symbol of the American fight-dignity with King George in Buckingham palace.

The use of the American White Star for all forces follows a precedent set in north Africa and Italy.

Queen Mary Marks Her 77th Birthday

London, May 26 (AP)—Queen Mary, who combines modernity of mind with old fashioned regal dignity, observed her seventy-seventh birthday today in the most practical way she knows—by working as usual on her country estate.

That has been her course since the war began, and those who serve her say that every day, regardless of weather, the Queen Mother "goes into the woods and works really hard clearing undergrowth, helping out down trees, looking after gardening and so on." They said that she is in "the best of health and just as active as ever."

Among her recent guests has been Lt. Gen. Omar N. Bradley, senior commander of American ground forces in the United Kingdom.

It's still BIG MONEY in our business!

The ordinary copper penny has lost a lot of its purchasing power these days—and even some of its copper. But it still buys as much electricity as ever.

For example, right now in your home a penny will toast about twenty slices of bread—or brew ten cups of coffee—or clean five big rugs—or run your refrigerator for several hours.

Rather startling what a penny will do when you think of it that way, isn't it?

Actually, the price of electricity came down so steadily before the war—and it has stayed down so successfully since—that today the average family gets about twice as much electricity for the same money it paid fifteen years ago.

All this didn't just happen, of course. It's due largely to the hard work, efficiency and experience of your friends and neighbors who man and manage this company. That's why a penny, spent for electricity, buys so much.

CAUTION: Even though electricity is cheap—even though it isn't rationed—PLEASE DON'T WASTE IT. Coal, oil, manpower, transportation go into the making of electricity and these are critical war resources.

Lutheran Transfer Plan Made Optional

Philadelphia, May 26 (AP)—Delegates at the 197th annual convention of the Lutheran Ministerium of Pennsylvania and Adjacent States adopted unanimously Thursday 5 resolutions authorizing certain congregations to transfer—if they desire—to the Central Pennsylvania Synod.

A plan defeated Wednesday by 6 votes would have made the transfers compulsory. The resolutions today merely "urged" the transfers and authorized appointment of a special committee to "promote this project."

Congregations not urged to transfer are those in counties east of and including Bradford, Sullivan, Luzerne, Schuylkill, Berks and Chester in Pennsylvania; and in Atlantic, Burlington, Camden, Cape May, Cumberland, Gloucester, Mercer, Monmouth, Ocean, Salem and Warren counties in New Jersey, and all congregations in Delaware.

M'ARTHUR NOW READY FOR 200 MILE INVASION

By J. B. KRUEGER
Associated Press War Editor
Gen. Douglas MacArthur's quest for airbases ever nearer the Philippines moved westward today on New Guinea's coast and there were signs he was about ready for a 200-mile invasion leap into the aerially-strategic Schouten islands.

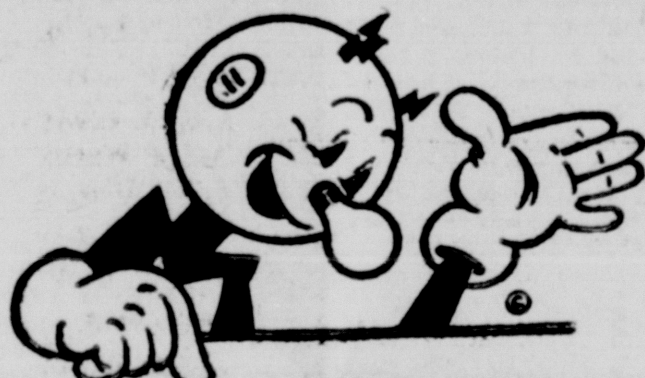

Allied troops reached the edge of Maffin bay's airdrome after overpowering Japanese defenders at Tirfom river. Its capture seemed imminent on the basis of a MacArthur communique today. Maffin bay is opposite captured Wakde island off the New Guinea coast 110 miles west of Hollandia and 200 miles east of the Schoutens (pronounced Skow-tens).

Blak, larger of the two Schoutens, suffered another of the air raids which since May 1 have undertaken to soften it up, presumably for invasion. Heavy bombers struck in a night raid at supply and camp areas. In addition, Noemfoor island 60 miles west of Blak, was attacked and 19 parked planes were destroyed there.

The Schoutens already have taken more air punishment than Wakde underwent before it was invaded last week. Blak is less than 600 miles from enemy bases on Palau and Halmahera and less than 900 from the Philippines.

On two other Pacific war ground-fronts the Japanese claimed capture of Loyang in north China and doggedly clung to Myitkyina in Burma in the face of overwhelming odds. The first Chinese admission Loyang probably was lost came from an Army spokesman who said contact with the key rail center had been broken.

The spokesman, Major Gen. C. C. Tseng, said Chinese troops had, however, witnessed their breach of the Hankow-Peiping railroad and had stalled Japanese fighting westward of Loyang.

British Ground Army Pleases Eisenhower

Supreme Allied Headquarters
England, May 26 (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower returned today from an inspection of British ground forces of his supreme invasion command and announced that he was highly pleased with the thoroughness of their training.

Soon afterwards, he had an audience with King George VI in Buckingham palace.

It was disclosed in London that Allied vehicles from tanks to jeeps have been marked for the invasion with a white star, which has been the symbol of the American fight-dance with King George in Buckingham palace. It is understood that this will not be extended to air units—that is, the RAF still will be using its red, white and blue target as an insignia.

The use of the American White Star for all forces follows a precedent set in north Africa and Italy.

A six-year-old Hunterstown boy was injured when he ran into the side of a moving automobile and a New Oxford R. 1 man struck a pedestrian and a telephone pole when his car ran off the Lincoln highway near New Oxford in accidents investigated over the week-end by members of the local sub-station of the state police.

Jere Taughinbaugh, six-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Taughinbaugh, Hunterstown, suffered a bruised forehead Saturday evening at 7:30 o'clock when he started across a road in Hunterstown and ran into the side of a car being driven east by J. L. Lawver, Biglerville. The youngster was taken to Dr. Wilbur H. Miller, New Oxford, for treatment by his father. Pvt. George Ackerson, who investigated, laid no charges.

Edward C. Lawrence, New Oxford R. 1, was driving west on the Lincoln highway a half mile west of New Oxford at 2:40 o'clock Sunday afternoon when something went wrong with his steering mechanism. The car ran off the right side of the highway, traveled 120 feet and sideswiped a telephone pole. Ten feet beyond the pole it struck Daniel H. Palmer, New Oxford R. 2, a pedestrian. Palmer suffered bruises of both legs and a laceration of his left hand. He was treated by Dr. Miller at New Oxford. After striking Palmer, the Lawrence vehicle overturned. None were injured.

R. S. Dale C. Pottorff, Gettysburg R. 4, has received word her husband, Pfc. Pottorff, has arrived safely in England.

Passes Examinations For Entry At Point

Fred M. Wright, Hanover, has passed his examinations and has qualified to enter West Point on July 1, Congressman Chester Gross announced Thursday from Washington, D. C.

Alternates for the West Point appointment were announced as Philip N. Harper, York, and Robert D. Boyer, Fayetteville.

OFFICERS AND FLIER GUESTS AT DINNER HERE

Forty business and professional men were hosts at an "appreciation" dinner at the Hotel Gettysburg last Thursday evening to Richard Birchler, owner-operator of Gettysburg Airport and Captain John R. Coshey, Lieut. Joseph F. Green, Captain Albert T. Kweddar and Lieut. Homer E. Tabler, Jr., of the 55th College Training Detachment.

The dinner was tendered the guests in "appreciation" for their friendly community cooperation and as a farewell following their stay of more than a year in Gettysburg. The officers are expected to be transferred to other bases as soon as the Detachment completes its training here, within the next ten days or two weeks.

Mr. Birchler will remain in Gettysburg and will continue to operate the airport.

Jurist Presides

Judge W. C. Sheely presided and spoke briefly. He said that "it has been a pleasure to have the guests in the community. Mr. Birchler said "I fought my way into Gettysburg and I'm going to fight to stay here. I've enjoyed living and working here."

STATE COURT HEARS APPEAL

The damage action by Nelson E. Mellott and B. Rush Mellott, Straban township, against Mrs. Katherine Tuckey, Bendersville, which was appealed from a decision in the Adams county courts, was argued before the Pennsylvania Supreme court at Harrisburg, Monday, by local counsel for the litigants.

John P. Butt, Esq., counsel for the Mellotts, and Franklin R. Bigham, Esq., Mrs. Tuckey's attorney, presented arguments before the state court. No decision is expected in the case during the current session.

The Mellotts took an appeal to the State Superior court after an Adams county jury failed to reach a verdict and Judge W. C. Sheely entered a judgment on the whole record in the case finding that Nelson Mellott was guilty of contributory negligence and therefore not entitled to recover damages.

The case was certified to the Supreme court and listed for the May term.

The suit is the outcome of a collision on the Lincoln highway about six miles west of New Oxford, Aug. 6, 1942. Young Mellott lost an arm in the mishap. The case was tried in court in January of last year.

REELECT KANE AS DEMOCRATIC CO. CHAIRMAN

Carl W. Kane, Biglerville R. 2, was re-elected chairman of the Adams county Democratic party for the third consecutive term Friday evening at a meeting of the Democratic committee at the court house.

Previous threats of opposition by Democratic party leaders seemed to have been ironed out prior to the session with Mr. Kane unopposed for the post.

Continuation of the Roosevelt administration was stressed by the re-elected chairman as the "only way to insure a sincere and lasting peace," in his address of thanks to the committee for his election.

Mrs. Maude V. Baker, Cumberland township, was elected vice chairman and Harry L. Cratin, Littlestown, was re-elected treasurer. Seb. H. Weaver, McSherrystown, was re-appointed secretary. The executive committee of the party will be announced at a later date, it was stated.

Missing Flier Is German Prisoner

Mr. and Mrs. Curtis W. Deatrick and Mrs. Dae O. Miller, of the East Berlin section, have received word their nephew, Lt. Richard D. Miller, 20th son of Mr. and Mrs. Luther Miller, Harrisburg, recently reported "missing in action since March 18," is a war prisoner in Germany, his plane having been forced down in the last mission. His mother received this word from the War Department last week.

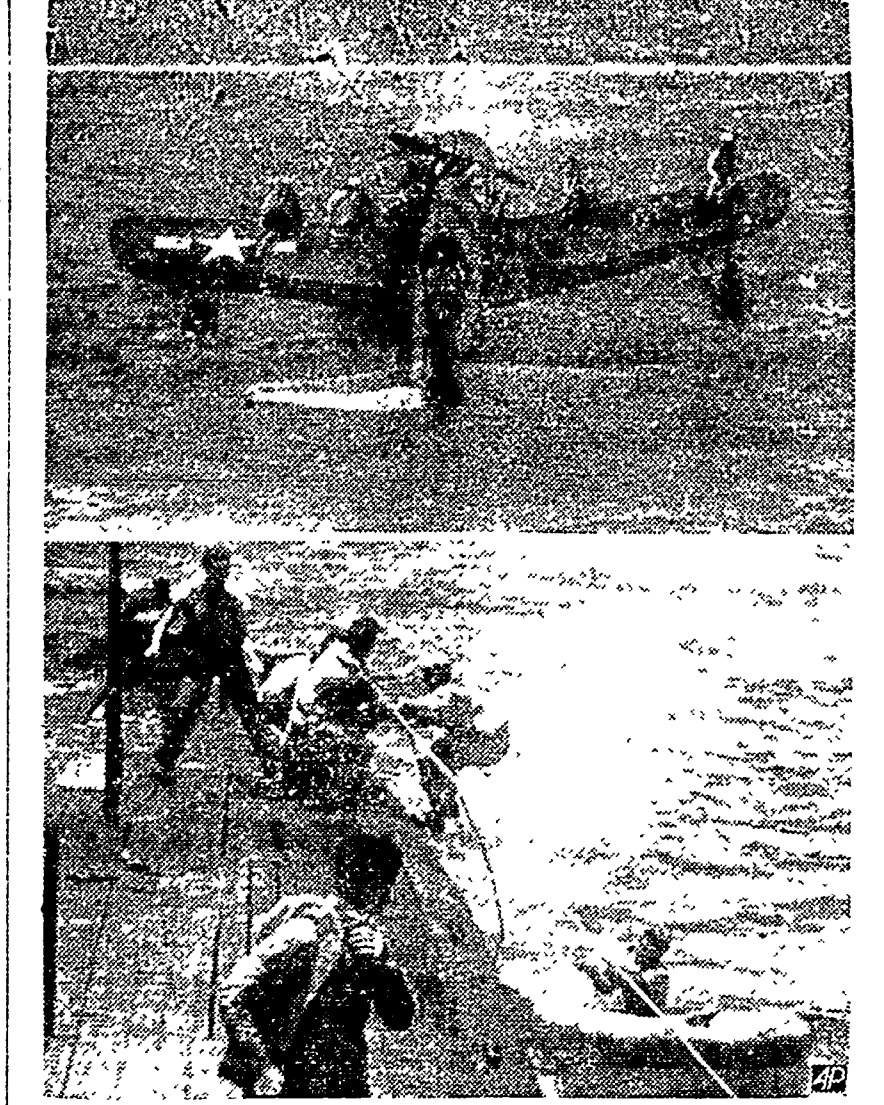

Lieutenant Miller, a veteran of 40 combat missions, was the pilot of a Flying Fortress. He has received the Air Medal and seven oak leaf clusters. This is the second time his plane has been forced down since his going overseas last June.

His father, a veteran of World War I, is a native of Adams county.

Commander Frazee Takes Sub Into Unnavigable Waters To Rescue 22 Fliers Off Island Of Truk

Nine of the 22 U. S. fliers rescued from the sea during the strike at the Jap base of Truk, April 29-30 were picked up by a Navy observation plane (upper photo), which taxied to the U. S. submarine Tang (lower photo), where the men were taken aboard. Lieut. Commander Murray B. Frazee, Jr., of Gettysburg, is navigator on the submarine. (AP Wirephoto from U. S. Navy.)

Lieutenant Commander Murray Frazee, mentioned in the appended Associated Press dispatch as the navigator of the submarine Tang which went into uncharted and unnavigable waters to rescue 22 men off Truk, is a graduate of the United States Naval academy, Annapolis. He is a graduate of Gettysburg high school and attended Gettysburg college before entering the academy. His father, Major Murray B. Frazee, formerly of Gettysburg, is post exchange officer at Camp Atterbury, Indiana. He arrived in Gettysburg Thursday evening on a brief furlough.

Completed the rescues, shelled at least one beach at Truk, went into waters which charts showed completely unnavigable—without losing a man from the crew or one of the helpless aviators.

The Navy public relations officer in San Francisco said O'Kane previously was executive officer of the famed submarine Wahoo which accounted for more than 250,000 tons of enemy shipping before it was sunk. O'Kane's home is San Rafael, California.

Crowded With Rescued

Upon completion of the work, the submarine was so crowded with rescued men and the boat's crewmen, they had to "hot bunk"—sleep several men to a bed in shifts—on the way back to base.

The Tang's two day saga began April 29, shortly after the first waves of bombers had screamed down to smash Truk's buildings, airfields and military installations, the submarine was patrolling nearby, when she was notified one bomber was down a short distance off the reef.

Watches Off Reef

Next the submarine laid off the reef watching, while efforts were made to rescue Lieutenant (jg) Robert Kanze, of Freehold, N. J., shot down inside the lagoon as he chased a Japanese fighter over the enemy's anti-aircraft guns. Working to save Kanze and three other downed pilots, were two Kingfisher catapult planes, one piloted by Lieutenant (jg) John Burns of Wynnewood, Pa., with his radioman, Aubrey James Gill of San Francisco, and the other by Lieutenant Joseph Dowple, Wilmette, Ill., with Radioman Robert E. $43,000 LOSS IN PENN TILE WORKS, ASPERS

Approximately $43,000 was lost by creditors of the Penn Tile Works, Aspers, as a result of the recent sheriff's sale of the property, the report of the auditor, Eugene V. Bulleit, Esq., appointed by the court to make distribution of the proceeds from the sale of the plant and personal property, discloses.

The auditor's distribution was filed with the county court Saturday and was confirmed tentatively and will be confirmed absolutely unless objections are filed to the report.

The sale of personal property of the concern brought $967.71 and the sale of the real estate brought $16,824, with the entire amount distributed by the auditor.

Taxes, Mortgages

Tax claims and mortgages by the Littlestown National bank and First National Bank of Gettysburg, took all of the money remaining from the sale after court and sheriff's costs were paid.

The Littlestown National bank, with a mortgage of $22,619.38 on the company was granted $13,739.14 as its share of the distribution while the First National bank, with $365.28 mortgage outstanding, received $221.84.

Liens not reached by the distribution included $711.58 Commonwealth of Pennsylvania taxes; $337.98, USA taxes; $30,004.25 loaned by the Smaller War Plants corporation; $1,662.05 loaned by the Arendtsville National bank; $461.25 owed the Department of Labor and Industry and an undetermined amount listed as wage claims.

Seven wage claims listed totaled $757.18 while no amounts were named for five other wage claims also brought against the concern.

Other Payments

Other distribution was made to the sheriff of $587.11 for costs; $210.43 to the prothonotary for costs and $281.21 auditor's costs. Costs of advertising the sale and the like were also allowed as were tax claims of Menallen township, the state, and $881.02 USA tax lien.

SEEKING FUNDS FOR CIRCULATING SCHOOL LIBRARY

To meet the needs of Adams county's rural school children for educational, instructional and fiction books, the Adams County Federation of Women's clubs is seeking donations from all organizations and individuals to purchase additional books for the circulating library established by the federation three years ago. Dr. Robert A. Bream, assistant county superintendent of schools, reported Monday evening to the county school board at a meeting at the court house.

Two hundred and six books have already been placed in the library located in the office of the county superintendent. Doctor Bream reported, and about 60 books a month are secured by the teachers in the schools of the county for the use of the students.

The books are not textbooks, he pointed out, and are not purchased by the school boards but provide additional instruction and entertainment for the youngsters in the various schools in addition to giving them additional reading training. The books are on the first through eighth grade level, he reported. Mrs. Wilbur Plank has been acting as librarian.

Only Library For Many

Mrs. Plank, he said, has kept an accession book, provided record cards for the books and placed pockets in the books to hold the cards. She also provided a card index for the volumes.

Because there is no county-wide library from which students can obtain books, there is a great need for the circulating library established by the federation, Doctor Bream asserted, with the books in the library being the only outside reading of an educational nature available for many younger children.

Donations for the library are to be sent to Mrs. Maude Saby, Carlisle street, Doctor Bream said.

Pfc. Howard Angell Wounded In Italy

Pfc. Howard W. Angell, son of Mrs. Cora Angell, of Gettysburg, was injured in the left arm and leg during recent Allied action in Italy, according to a V-mail letter received by his mother on Tuesday morning.

The letter, sent May 14, was the first intimation to Mrs. Angell that her son was in Italy, with previous letters containing no indication as to his whereabouts other than "overseas."

The letter stated:

"Well, Mother, you have no doubt heard on the radio what happened over here in the last few days, and I have been slightly wounded. Up on my feet however, and I will be as good as new in a couple of days. You no doubt will be told of this by the War Department, so don't you worry one bit over it as I am o k. Only a little steel in my left arm and leg."

FARMER KILLED, SON HURT AS CAR HITS TRACTOR

Howard Baugher, 33, Hanover R. 3, was fatally injured Friday evening when a car driven by Frederick J. Miller, Third and South streets, McSherrystown, crashed into the rear of Baugher's tractor while both vehicles were proceeding north on the Hanover-Abbotstown road a little over a mile south of Abbotstown at 9:20 o'clock.

Baugher died Saturday morning at 6:50 o'clock at the Hanover General hospital, of a severe fracture of the skull, according to York county coroner, Dr. L. U. Zech.

His son, Kenneth Baugher, 3, who was also riding on the tractor, suffered head injuries and was treated at the Hanover hospital. He was discharged Saturday.

Miller told Private Harold Sheeds of the local sub-station of the state police that he was driving toward Abbotstown when he saw a light on his side of the road, which he believed was coming toward him. Miller pulled to the right, fearing that the other driver would pull over into the other lane, and struck the right rear wheel of the tractor, knocking it off. Baugher and his son were thrown from the tractor as a result of the accident.

Witnesses at the scene said Baugher was conscious after the collision, but by the time he had reached the Hanover hospital he had lost consciousness and never regained it.

Witnesses said they believed that Baugher was driving to a nearby farm to secure a wagon there. He was north of his home along the Abbotstown-Hanover road when the accident occurred.

Damage was estimated by Private Sheeds at "several hundred dollars." He is continuing his investigation into the accident.

An inquest will be conducted early in June.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at the Black Rock Church of the Brethren, Howard Dauner and Paul Newcomer officiating.

Mr. Baugher had been living near Hanover for about five years. For a number of years prior to that he was a farmer on the HERSHEY farms, Hershey, Pa., and had charge of a unit of boys from the Hershey schools.

Surviving are his widow, the former Bernadette Fuhrman; the son, Kenneth, who was injured in the collision, Friday; his father, Joe W. Baugher, Brodbeck, R. D. who formerly resided near Irishtown; brother, David Baugher, Hanover, and a sister, Mrs. Earl Hoover, Spring Grove R. D. 1.

Mr. Baugher was a member of the Pleasant Hill Church of the Brethren, Spring Grove R. D.

YOUTH LAUDED BY COMMANDER

Charles T. Timmins, Gettysburg, formerly of near New Oxford, received one of his finest gifts on occasion of his seventieth birthday in the form of a V-mail letter from the commander of the company in which his grandson Pfc. William T. Timmins, Jr. is serving in England.

Young Timmins, 19, is attached to a quartermaster supply company under the command of Captain Frederic E. Johnson. His father, William T. Timmins, Sr., 46, is also in the armed forces, serving with the Seabees. The letter, which arrived on the grandfather's seventieth birthday, follows:

"Pfc. William Timmins has been with this organization for quite some time now, and I as his company commander wish to drop you a few lines to inform you that he is doing excellent work and is in the best of health.

"All in all I believe he is enjoying his stay in England and will profit from the experience.

"I realize that, occasionally, your letters from him will be of some importance to you, but I know you will understand how busy we all are, so busy in fact, that sometimes writing becomes of secondary importance, while receiving of letters remains primary.

"I would like you to feel free to write me any time what so ever as I assure you I shall answer promptly.

"Until I can deliver him safely home again, I remain, Sincerely yours, Frederic E. Johnson."

Jere Taughinbaugh, six-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Taughinbaugh, Hunterstown, suffered a bruised forehead Saturday evening at 7:30 o'clock when he started across a road in Hunterstown and ran into the side of a car being driven east by J. $43,000 LOSS IN PENN TILE WORKS, ASPERS

Approximately $43,000 was lost by creditors of the Penn Tile Works, Aspers, as a result of the recent sheriff's sale of the property, the report of the auditor, Eugene V. Bulleit, Esq., appointed by the court to make distribution of the proceeds from the sale of the plant and personal property, discloses.

The auditor's distribution was filed with the county court Saturday and was confirmed tentatively and will be confirmed absolutely unless objections are filed to the report.

The sale of personal property of the concern brought $967.71 and the sale of the real estate brought $16,824, with the entire amount distributed by the auditor.

Taxes, Mortgages

Tax claims and mortgages by the Littlestown National bank and First National Bank of Gettysburg, took all of the money remaining from the sale after court and sheriff's costs were paid.

The Littlestown National bank, with a mortgage of $22,619.38 on the company was granted $13,739.14 as its share of the distribution while the First National bank, with $365.28 mortgage outstanding, received $221.84.

Liens not reached by the distribution included $711.58 Commonwealth of Pennsylvania taxes; $337.98, USA taxes; $30,004.25 loaned by the Smaller War Plants corporation; $1,662.05 loaned by the Arendtsville National bank; $461.25 owed the Department of Labor and Industry and an undetermined amount listed as wage claims.

Seven wage claims listed totaled $757.18 while no amounts were named for five other wage claims also brought against the concern.

Other Payments

Other distribution was made to the sheriff of $587.11 for costs; $210.43 to the prothonotary for costs and $281.21 auditor's costs. Costs of advertising the sale and the like were also allowed as were tax claims of Menallen township, the state, and $881.02 USA tax lien.

SEEKING FUNDS FOR CIRCULATING SCHOOL LIBRARY

To meet the needs of Adams county's rural school children for educational, instructional and fiction books, the Adams County Federation of Women's clubs is seeking donations from all organizations and individuals to purchase additional books for the circulating library established by the federation three years ago. Dr. Robert A. Bream, assistant county superintendent of schools, reported Monday evening to the county school board at a meeting at the court house.

Two hundred and six books have already been placed in the library located in the office of the county superintendent, Doctor Bream reported, and about 60 books a month are secured by the teachers in the schools of the county for the use of the students.

The books are not textbooks, he pointed out, and are not purchased by the school boards but provide additional instruction and entertainment for the youngsters in the various schools in addition to giving them additional reading training. The books are on the first through eighth grade level, he reported. Mrs. Wilbur Plank has been acting as librarian.

Only Library For Many

Mrs. Plank, he said, has kept an accession book, provided record cards for the books and placed pockets in the books to hold the cards. She also provided a card index for the volumes.

Because there is no county-wide library from which students can obtain books, there is a great need for the circulating library established by the federation, Doctor Bream asserted, with the books in the library being the only outside reading of an educational nature available for many younger children.

Donations for the library are to be sent to Mrs. Maude Saby, Carlisle street, Doctor Bream said.

Pvt. John Nary In Australian Hospital

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Nary, McKnightstown, have received word their son, Pvt. John C. Nary, is a patient in a hospital in Australia as the result of a recent operation. The cause of the operation is not known.

Pvt. Nary is with an Engineers outfit and has served six months in New Guinea and eight months on another island in the southwest Pacific.

Pfc. Howard Angell Wounded In Italy

Pfc. Howard W. Angell, son of Mrs. Cora Angell, of Gettysburg, was injured in the left arm and leg during recent Allied action in Italy, according to a V-mail letter received by his mother on Tuesday morning.

The letter, sent May 14, was the first intimation to Mrs. Angell that her son was in Italy, with previous letters containing no indication as to his whereabouts other than "overseas."

The letter stated: "Well, Mother, you have no doubt heard on the radio what happened over here in the last few days, and I have been slightly wounded. Up on my feet however, and I will be as good as new in a couple of days. You no doubt will be told of this by the War Department, so don't worry me a bit over it as I am o. k. Only a little steel in my left arm and leg."

FIRST STUDENTS GRADUATE FROM INDUSTRIAL UNIT

Biglerville high school's industrial education program is proving its merit—in the U. S. Army and Navy and in war plants, it was revealed recently.

The first "official" class to graduate from the industrial education program at the school consists of only two students, Harold Guise and Norman Lady, who began their instruction three years ago when the 60 by 120 foot brick building housing the industrial education section was completed. The building is a gift to the Biglerville school system from the late C. H. Musselman and Mrs. Musselman. Commencement is on May 29.

Meets War Needs

Designed principally to train future farmers in mechanics to aid them in the multitude of mechanical duties that farmers now have, the course instead, because of the shift caused by the war, has been training mechanics and officers for the armed forces and war industries. Most of the students have been unable to complete the course, having moved immediately into the armed services or having secured war jobs before they secured their diplomas.

One of the students, Wallace Coddington, who received a year's instruction when the class opened and then was called into the armed forces two years ago has now risen to the rank of captain. Donald Lady, another original member of the first class, is now a first lieutenant flying in combat operations. Most of the students took night courses in addition to the regular day work in order to obtain as much of the instruction as possible before being called into service.

Approximately 178 students in all six grades are engaged in taking the instruction each year. The first class to have completed a full six year course will be graduated three years from now.

Popular Course

Many of the students, with a year or two of instruction at Biglerville, have secured employment at Middletown and Hagerstown. Several were sent to Pearl Harbor to help as expert mechanics there. About 20 worked at Glenn L. Martin company, Baltimore, and at the Fairchild plant at Hagerstown, to help build the planes vitally needed by the nation.

The school was originally planned for one teacher, but because of the response the directors added another teacher to the staff. One of the instructors however has joined his students in the U. S. armed forces and Karl Oordoff, originally in charge of woodworking, carpentry, mechanical drawing and blue print work has had all of the work to do since Edgar Benner, instructor in sheet metal work, machine shop studies, welding and forging left for military duty. Leslie V. Stock, principal of the school, said every effort is being made to secure a replacement for Mr. Benner for next year. The course is compulsory for youngsters in the seventh, eighth and ninth grades, and is an elective major in the tenth, eleventh and twelfth grades. So far it appears that most students will continue on for the last three years, after having had their earlier training in grades seven through nine.

MENINGITIS CASE

Suffering from cerebro-spinal meningitis, Mrs. Albert Rang, Littlestown R. 2, aged 20 years, was placed under quarantine Sunday by William I. Shields, county health officer. Dr. Arthur C. Richards, Littlestown, is the attending physician. This is the third case of the disease reported in the Littlestown area in several months. The two other victims recovered.

FARMER KILLED, SON HURT AS CAR HITS TRACTOR

Howard Baugher, 33, Hanover R. 3, was fatally injured Friday evening when a car driven by Frederick J. Miller, Third and South streets, McSherrystown, crashed into the rear of Baugher's tractor while both vehicles were proceeding north on the Hanover-Abbottstown road a little over a mile south of Abbottstown at 9:20 o'clock.

Baugher died Saturday morning at 6:50 o'clock at the Hanover General hospital, of a severe fracture of the skull, according to York county coroner, Dr. L. U. Zech.

His son, Kenneth Baugher, 3, who was also riding on the tractor, suffered head injuries and was treated at the Hanover hospital. He was discharged Saturday.

Miller told Private Harold Sheds, of the local sub-station of the state police that he was driving toward Abbottstown when he saw a light on his side of the road, which he believed was coming toward him. Miller pulled to the right, fearing that the other driver would pull over into the other lane, and struck the right rear wheel of the tractor, knocking it off. Baugher and his son were thrown from the tractor as a result of the accident.

Witnesses at the scene said Baugher was conscious after the collision, but by the time he had reached the Hanover hospital he had lost consciousness and never regained it.

Witnesses said they believed that Baugher was driving to a nearby farm to secure a wagon there. He was north of his home along the Abbottstown-Hanover road when the accident occurred.

Damage was estimated by Private Sheds at "several hundred dollars." He is continuing his investigation into the accident.

An inquest will be conducted early in June.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at the Black Rock Church of the Brethren, Howard Danner and Paul Newcomer officiating.

Mr. Baugher had been living near Hanover for about five years. For a number of years prior to that he was a farmer on the Hershey farms, Hershey, Pa., and had charge of a unit of boys from the Hershey schools.

Surviving are his widow, the former Bernadette Fuhrman; the son, Kenneth, who was injured in the collision, Friday; his father, Joe W. Baugher, Brodbeck, R. D., who formerly resided near Irishstown; brother, David Baugher, Hanover, and a sister, Mrs. Earl Hoover, Spring Grove R. D. 1.

Mr. Baugher was a member of the Pleasant Hill Church of the Brethren, Spring Grove R. D.

YOUTH LAUDED BY COMMANDER

Charles T. Timmins, Gettysburg, formerly of near New Oxford, received one of his finest gifts on the occasion of his seventieth birthday in the form of a V-mail letter from the commander of the company in which his grandson, Pfc. William T. Timmins, Jr., is serving in England.

Young Timmins, 19, is attached to a quartermaster supply company under the command of Captain Frederic E. Johnson. His father, William T. Timmins, Sr., 46, is also in the armed forces, serving with the Seabees. The letter, which arrived on the grandfather's seventieth birthday, follows:

"Pfc. William Timmins has been with this organization for quite some time now, and I as his company commander wish to drop you a few lines to inform you that he is doing excellent work and is in the best of health.

"All in all I believe he is enjoying his stay in England and will profit from the experience.

"I realize that occasionally, your letters from him will be quite infrequent but I know you will understand how busy we all are, so busy in fact, that sometimes writing becomes of secondary importance, while receiving of letters remains primary.

"I would like you to feel free to write me any time what-so-ever, as I assure you I shall answer promptly.

"Until I can deliver him safely home again, I remain: Sincerely yours, Frederic E. Johnson."

DIVORCE GRANTED

A decree in divorce has been granted by the Adams county court to Mary E. List Sterner, Gettysburg, from Charles W. Sterner, Jr., formerly of Gettysburg.

COUNTY BOARD POINTS WAY TO FIND TEACHERS

Means to meet an expected shortage of teachers during the coming school term, the Adams County School Board meeting Monday evening at the office of the county superintendent of schools recommended to the local boards of the 32 districts under the county office that they Pay maximum salaries for the coming year in order to retain all teachers now in the system.

Reassign present teachers and secure new teachers at the June meetings of the local boards instead of following the usual custom of performing the work just before school opens in the fall, and

Insist that teachers who wish to resign give 60-day notices as required by law in order that the local boards may have a better opportunity to secure replacements.

Urges School Nurses The county board voted its approval of a long range program for agricultural education in the county which will reach down into the primary schools and extend upward into the college field. The program was one submitted to the board for approval by the Adams County Council of School Administrators and representatives of Gettysburg college.

To provide the students of the county's schools with proper health facilities, the board also recommended that more school districts secure school nurses. Only eight of the 32 districts at the present time have school nurse service.

The program for agricultural education adopted by the board included:

To Fit Pupils for Life

"Elementary schools should use practical projects connected with home duties as a basis for school activities in reading, writing, arithmetic, oral expression, health, safety, art, and in the solution of personal and social problems.

"Instruction should fit the exact environment of the locality.

"A course in agriculture and nature study should be given in seventh and eighth grades and supervised by the advisor of vocational education.

"The school in rural areas should play an important part in supplying many of the social services needed by rural people.

"We endorse the present program of vocational agricultural instruction in the secondary schools, and suggest that it be strengthened by building stronger courses in community living, and by adding units designed to prepare students for work in local industries such as food processing.

"Education for rural people should be extended beyond the high school to include courses in community living, current problems, consumer education, business education, in-service training, English, literature, art, music, and other subjects of general and cultural interest.

"Gettysburg college is hereby requested to consider what can be done in the field of adult education for the people of this rural community and for returning veterans."

Need For School Nurses

Assistant County Superintendent of Schools Robert A. Bream, reporting on the activities of the two nurses in county schools told the board "there is great need for medical and dental care such as can be given by having regular school nurses." The present system of health inspectors for the schools provides services in the form of pre-school clinics, Dr. Bream said, but does not reach into the individual homes, nor give the constant care that could be provided by having school nurses.

Similar Reports

Mrs. Ruth S. Crawford, nurse for Biglerville, Ardenstville, York Springs and Fairfield reported 1,000 students under her supervision. She made 348 home visits, 378 cases were treated in the school, 300 were admitted to have medical care, the eyes of 740 students were screened for defects, and 142 vision defects were discovered of which 94 were treated during the year. The students were weighed several times with Mrs. Crawford taking 3,600 weights. The hair and scalps of 1,030 students were checked.

The most prevalent defects discovered by Mrs. Crawford were dental and underweight with 118 of the students having been found to be 10 per cent or more underweight.

Both Mrs. Crawford and Mrs. Wilda W. McBeth, school nurse in Hamiltonban, Liberty and Menallen townships and Abbottstown found practically the same type of dental defects and underweight youngsters. Both took a number of the students to clinics for treatment.

Working in a primary school section with 606 students under her care, Mrs. McBeth made 257 home visits, weighed all of the students several times, made 1,677 hair and scalp checkups and found a large number of children with hair or scalp difficulties. She found 62 students with vision defects of which 14 have been corrected. Mrs. Crawford found 205 children with dental troubles and Mrs. McBeth 241. About ten per cent of those with dental faults have had the troubles corrected.

Littlestown Men Asking For Paroles

Two Adams county brothers, Robert and Gilbert Gracy, both of Littlestown, entered a plea before the State Board of Pardons in Harrisburg last week, says a news dispatch from the capital. The men told the board through their attorney that they had served sufficient time for burglary and larceny of chickens in Littlestown in 1940.

Gilbert, sentenced to 6 to 12 years in the Eastern Penitentiary, asked for release on the grounds that he has mechanical ability and would like to rehabilitate himself. Robert's sentence is 4 1/2 to 9 years. Both men promised not to return to Adams county.

ASKS CHILDREN TO PICK FLOSS OF MILKWEED

Adams county's school children were asked today to take part in a nation-wide drive to gather a million pounds of milkweed floss during the summer. County Superintendent of schools J. Floyd Slaybaugh has announced.

"The common milkweed floss, because of its buoyancy which is necessary for life jackets and aviators' suits, has now become a war emergency product," Mr. Slaybaugh said. "It is a substitute for kapok which is now controlled by the Japanese. A government agency has been set up to collect and process a million pounds of milkweed floss this summer."

Vacation War Activity

"Certain sections of Pennsylvania have this common weed growing along roads, fence rows and abandoned farms. Commercial growing of the milkweed would be impossible as it takes three years to produce the first crop. The government is, therefore, appealing to the school children of the nation to gather a million pounds of milkweed floss during the coming summer."

"This is a war activity in which children can engage during their vacation months. It would require only a small amount of time and effort and would be contributing much toward the war effort."

"The United States Department of Agriculture and the United States Office of Education have distributed printed material to teachers and county and district superintendents. Local teachers and the county supervisor of agriculture, Richard C. Lighter, will be able to advise the school children as to the collecting, curing and storing of these pods until they are collected by the government," he added.

books in which it was revealed that those boards which want books delivered by next fall must order them immediately due to war-time shortages, the board recommended that the local boards appoint committees from themselves and the teaching staffs in their schools to meet at the county superintendent's office to select books for the coming year.

The results of a biannual survey of the eighth grade situation shows there is a problem in the county in regard to retarded and overage students, Doctor Bream told the board. Out of 4,000 students in the county schools 870 are retarded or overage for the grade in which they are in, he said. Ten per cent, he asserted, is an average for the number of overage students in the public schools while the county has 20 per cent retarded students. In the high schools with 1,125 students, 102 are retarded and are too old for their classes.

Ten of the county's school buses are ten years old or older and are operating on special waivers, it was reported, and four buses under ten years of age are also operating on waivers. Doctor Bream was appointed to determine what can be done to secure better buses to replace the overage vehicles. All members of the board attended the session with President Raymond M. Baugher presiding.

The second morning of rescue work started with Kanze's actual rescue, plus Hill and Donpe whose plane had overturned and sunk when Kanze tried to climb aboard. While this was underway, the submarine's crewmen saw another bomber go into the ocean.

While this pickup was under way, the Tang had a call from the eastern side of the island. Enroute to this rescue, it spotted an additional downed pilot in the bight of Kuop island. The Tang went in after him. O'Kane said the navigator—that's Lieutenant Commander Murray Frazee, Gettysburg, Pa.—was going crazy. That water was supposed to be un navigable but I could see the reef was well ahead of us, so we went on."

The Sunday night contingent was taken to Harrisburg in two buses, a seven passenger automobile and a truck, leaving the local campus at 6:57 o'clock. Lieutenant Joseph F. Green, tactical officer, was in charge of the contingent, which will be merged with other units on a special train at Pittsburgh for the balance of the journey.

It is expected that the rest of the unit here will leave this week for a southern base where they will continue their pre-flight training.

Orders have not been received for members of the permanent party and the remaining officers. It is not known when they will leave.

Wounded Countian In Hospital In W. Va.

Pfc. Bernard Stonesifer, son of Bernard Stonesifer, Littlestown, who was wounded in action with the Fifth Army in Italy in January, has arrived at the Ashford General hospital, White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., according to telegrams received by his father and by his grandmother, Mrs. Lucy Milhimes, Littlestown. He had been a patient in a hospital in Italy and had been confined to a hospital in North Africa before being brought back to the United States.

Pfc. Stonesifer's brother, Cpl. James Stonesifer, of the U. S. Marines, who was wounded in action in the Pacific in December, is convalescing in a Naval hospital in Shoemaker, Calif.

"Tough Job" Confronts 5th Bond Drive Workers, Warns Dinner Speaker

"The job that lies ahead of you, to sell $2,797,000 worth of bonds during the Fifth War Bond drive, is a tough one. It will require the concerted effort of every volunteer worker during the entire period. You will not be able to relax for even a moment until you have achieved your goal. But I feel confident that Adams county will win again, just as it has in all four previous drives."

This was the admonition and the prophecy of O. Howard Wolfe, executive manager of the Pennsylvania War Finance Committee, at the "Invasion" bond dinner-meeting of the Adams County War Finance Committee at the Hotel Gettysburg Monday evening.

The speaker said that in the forthcoming drive more counties would have to be approached and more bonds sold to a greater number of people than in the Fourth bond drive. He also stated that a greater number of people would have to purchase more bonds than they previously did.

Mr. Wolfe said that during the Fourth bond drive bonds were sold to 11,886 persons in the county and that 11,462 persons purchased E bonds. He said that this was a low percentage, only 29 per cent of the total county population. He said that one woman in Delaware had sold 496 bonds, for a new record.

"It will not be an impossible task," said Mr. Wolfe. "When we realize the tremendous cost of this war it is little enough that we on the home front can do to furnish the money needed to carry on to victory. A large field is open to you among those in what is called the low income bracket. If this is properly contacted it will bring in fine results."

"Of the volunteer workers in this county I cannot say too much. You are excellent workers, as evidenced in your previous drives. You were the first county in the state to reach your quota before and I hope you do the same in the forthcoming drive."

Edmund W. Thomas, county chairman, presided. He introduced the guests at the speakers table which included:

Benjamin C. Wolfe, chairman of the Dauphin county committee, who spoke briefly; Mrs. Helen U. Loewen, chairman of the state women's committee, who also spoke briefly; Leighton C. Taylor, Bensenville, and Mrs. Roy W. Gifford, chairman and co-chairman of the community activities committee; Lloyd Kuhn, chairman of the bankers' committee; Mrs. Henry T. Bream, chairman of the county women's committee; Paul Thomas, chairman of the payroll savings committee; William Carey, deputy manager of the Keystone Division, Harrisburg, Burgess Fred G. Pfeffer Paul L. Roy, publicity director, and Sydney Poppay, chairman of special events.

Mrs. Murray B. Frazee, Jr., whose husband is executive officer on the submarine U. S. Tang, sang "One Night of Love" and "Smoke Gets In My Eyes," accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Paul Kinsey.

Section meetings were held following the dinner.

To Add Names To County Honor Roll

While the Adams county honor roll will present an improved appearance for Memorial Day, with plans calling for its repainting of the railing placed around the structure on center square, more than 100 additional names of men in the service will not be available for placing by May 30.

Several hundred names have been added to the roll during the last several weeks by a group of workers under the direction of Custodian Alfred H. Barr, but additional names ordered to be printed will not be available for placing by Memorial Day, it was learned. As soon as the names are received from the printer they will be placed on the board. Most of the names have been rearranged with the center part of the honor roll completely filled and the east wing nearly filled with names. Additional names will be placed in the remainder of the east wing and the west wing.

Because it was impossible to place all of the names in the original alphabetical list, several alphabetical lists were placed on the board.

Littlestown Man Faces Traffic Charge

Sylvester E. Redding, M. street, Littlestown, was charged with reckless driving before Justice of the Peace Howard G. Blocher, Littlestown, after Chief of Police H. S. Roberts investigated a traffic accident at South Queen and Lumber street, Littlestown, Sunday evening about 9:30 o'clock. No one was injured but damage amounted to about $30.

Redding's car collided with a machine operated by Mrs. Maria Redding, Littlestown R. 2, who was going north on Queen street when Redding drove out an alley. Redding received the usual 10-day notice to pay a fine and the costs or appear for a hearing.

Edward A. Dinein, of New York, a guest at the Hotel Gettysburg, Monday evening, impressed with the large gathering of volunteer women bond workers at the women's meeting, presented a check for $100 to Mrs. Bream, for the purchase of the first bond on the opening day of the drive "in honor of the work of the women's committee."

An intensive campaign, highlighted by a Roll of Honor League, will be conducted by the women's division of the County War Finance committee, during the approaching Fifth War Bond drive, Mrs. Henry T. Bream, chairman, outlined at a special women's meeting following the "Invasion" bond drive dinner in the Hotel Gettysburg, Monday evening.

Mrs. Helen U. Loewen, state chairman, was present and addressed the group.

PVT. LAWRENCE FINDS ENGLISH PEOPLE "FINE"

The English are wonderful people. The Arab youngsters with their constant begging are "a pain in the neck."

Those are two of the conclusions reached by Pvt. John H. Lawrence, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Lawrence, West Middle street, one of the first Gettysburg soldiers to return home from Africa in this war.

He is visiting his home on a "delay enroute" to his new station at Camp Butler, North Carolina, having been sent back to the states under the U. S. Army's rotation system in which men who have served for long periods of time overseas are returned.

Given Birthday Cakes

He had been overseas since June, 1942, when he arrived in England.

The English people treated the American soldiers "well," he recalled today in an interview with a reporter for The Gettysburg Times. His 21st birthday was June 30, 1942, and the English people in a block near his camp baked five cakes to present him on the anniversary.

A member of a chauffeur company, he was kept busy as a driver during his entire period overseas. In England, after a three weeks' rest period at Kettering after docking, his company was sent to London and assigned as chauffeurs for the Eighth Air Force headquarters.

Children Begged Candy

The job proved a sightseer's paradise, with the men whom he chauffeured being sent to all parts of England, Scotland and Wales. He visited the larger cities and most of the smaller towns of any consequence in all parts of the United Kingdom.

Even the English youngsters soon learned to beg candy or money from the American soldiers, but the English children were more appealing and less annoying than the Arab and French youngsters in Africa who pleaded constantly with American soldiers for "bon-bon," candy, Pvt. Lawrence reports.

Sent to Oran, Africa, shortly after the invasion of North Africa took place, Pvt. Lawrence met his brother, Pvt. Raymond Lawrence, now in Italy. For three weeks they were together as much as army regulations would allow, with John's commanding officer allowing him use of a car while visiting his brother.

Epley, Jr.; Merchant Seaman Eugene Purdy and Pvt. Charles Riggs, now of McSherrytown, who is at present at home on a "delay enroute," having been sent back to the United States with Pvt. Lawrence.

Gettysburg Wac In Algiers

James Myers, of Fairfield, was another countian met by Pvt. Lawrence while in Africa. Myers, who was hurt in combat, was sent back to join an M. P. outfit in Parreaux, Africa.

A mystery to the Gettysburg contingent is a WAC, supposedly from Gettysburg, who is said to be stationed in Algiers. A number of their fellow soldiers told them a Gettysburg girl was stationed there, he said, but he was unable to find out for sure just whom the WAC might be.

Three Brothers In Service

Mr. Lawrence Bourree and her parents went out of their way to be kind to the American soldiers in Oran. Private Lawrence says and he was a frequent visitor to the Bourree home. Mr. Bourree, only 17, owned a beauty parlor in Oran and was being helped by her parents in its operation until she became of age at 18 under French law.

Private Lawrence has three brothers and two brothers-in-law in service. Besides Private Raymond in Italy, Sergeant Donald is a gunner with a bombing squadron in England and Pfc. Floyd, who was stationed in Hawaii for two years prior to December 7, 1941, is now in the Pacific battle area.

To Wed On June 5

The brothers-in-law are Pvt. Clifford J. Staley, Sheppard Field, Texas, and Pfc. George J. Staley, Camp Bowie, Texas. The two Staleys are cousins.

The last part of the delay enroute will be in the form of a wedding trip with Private Lawrence to marry Elizabeth Agnes Cool, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Cool, Gettysburg R. 1, on June 5 at 8 a. m. in

THOMAS URGES "CORRECTION" IN U. S. LOANS

Edmund W. Thomas, president of the First National bank of Gettysburg and chairman of the committee of competitive agencies of the Pennsylvania Bankers Association, Wednesday urged congressional action to secure "prompt remedies to correct some of the expensive inequalities" between privately-owned banks and federally financed savings and loan associations.

Speaking at the convention of the Pennsylvania Bankers Association at Pittsburgh this afternoon, Mr. Thomas asserted that government competition with privately chartered banks has been "most vigorous and destructive" in the field of agricultural financing and that "most of the agricultural financing agencies of the government recently openly stated that it is now their intention to compete with banks for farm loans." The federal agencies, he asserted, were originally started with the "avowed purpose of tiding the farmer over the emergency created by the depression."

Banks Pay Taxes

Because the banks pay taxes to the government while the federal agencies do not, Mr. Thomas charged the government was preventing greater income for itself by establishment of the financial agencies. The agencies, he asserted, cut down the profit banks normally would make from the loans and thus decrease the amount of taxes that would ordinarily be paid by the private institutions. The situation, he said, is one of "burning the tax candle at both ends."

"Despite the grants by the government to the Federal agencies, it is cheaper, when all costs are taken into consideration, for a farmer to borrow from a private bank than from a federal loan agency," Thomas asserted.

"Our banks were never in a stronger position than they are today. They have ample funds to make loans and they are better equipped to make these agricultural loans," the Gettysburg banker declared in pointing out that of 1,023 banks in the state as of June 30, 1943, 833 were making agricultural loans and 534 were making production loans.

Asserting that the banks handled 80 per cent of the war bonds sold during the first four nation-wide campaigns, Thomas added that the record has done little to help the banks against "inequalities" of the Federal savings agencies.

"With a Congress that is thoroughly aroused to the necessity of reducing government expenditures, with the exception of those devoted to the prosecution of the war, it is earnestly hoped that with the merits of this situation and the excellent record of the privately chartered banks of this country, prompt remedies will be adopted to correct some of these expensive inequalities," he added.

9 COUNTIANS ARE HONORED AT ULCA MEET

"The battleront of the home-front in America is the Christian college campus," Dr. Henry W. A. Hanson, president of Gettysburg college said Tuesday night in an address before the seventh annual convention of the Central Pennsylvania Synod, of the United Lutheran Church in America, at Harrisburg.

Doctor Hanson was one of the speakers at the second day's session of the three-day convention

COUNTY BOARD POINTS WAY TO FIND TEACHERS

Moving to meet an expected extreme shortage of teachers during the coming year in order to retain all teachers now in the system.

Reassign present teachers and secure new teachers at the June meetings of the local boards instead of following the usual custom of performing the work just before school opens in the fall, and

Insist that teachers who wish to resign give 60-day notices as required by law in order that the local boards may have a better opportunity to secure replacements.

Urge School Nurses

The county board also voted its approval of a long range program for agricultural education in the county which will reach down into the primary schools and extend upward into the college field. The program was one submitted to the board for approval by the Adams County Council of School Administrators and representatives of Gettysburg college.

To provide the students of the county's schools with proper health facilities, the board also recommended that more school districts secure school nurses. Only eight of the 32 districts at the present time have school nurse service.

The program for agricultural education adopted by the board included:

To Fit Pupils for Life

"Elementary schools should use practical projects connected with home duties as a basis for school activities in reading, writing, arithmetic, oral expression, health, safety, art, and in the solution of personal and social problems.

"Instruction should fit the exact environment of the locality.

"A course in agriculture and nature study should be given in seventh and eighth grades and supervised by the advisor of vocational education.

"The school in rural areas should play an important part in supplying many of the social services needed by rural people.

"We endorse the present program of vocational agricultural instruction in the secondary schools, and suggest that it be strengthened by building stronger courses in community living, and by adding units designed to prepare students for work in local industries such as food processing.

"Education for rural people should be extended beyond the high school to include courses in community living, current problems, consumer education, business education, in-service training, English, literature, art, music, and other subjects of general and cultural interest.

"Gettysburg college is hereby requested to consider what can be done in the field of adult education for the people of this rural community and for returning veterans."

Need For School Nurses

Assistant County Superintendent of Schools Robert A. Bream, reporting on the activities of the two nurses in county schools told the board "there is great need for medical and dental care such as can be given by having regular school nurses." The present system of health inspectors for the schools provides services in the form of pre-school clinics, Dr. Bream said, but does not reach into the individual homes, nor give the constant care that could be provided by having school nurses.

Similar Reports

Mrs. Ruth S. Crawford, nurse for Biglerville, Ardenstville, York Springs and Fairfield reported 1,000 students under her supervision. She made 348 home visits, 378 cases were treated in the school, 300 were advised to have medical care, the eyes of 740 students were screened for defects, and 142 vision defects were discovered during the year. The students were weighed several times with Mrs. Crawford taking 3,600 weights. The hair and scalps of 1,030 students were checked.

The most prevalent defects discovered by Mrs. Crawford were dental and underweight with 118 of the students having been found to be 10 per cent or more underweight.

Both Mrs. Crawford and Mrs. Wilda W. McBeth, school nurse in Hamiltonban, Liberty and Menallen townships and Abbottstown, found practically the same types of dental defects and underweight youngsters. Both took a number of the students to clinics for treatment.

Working in a primary school section with 606 students under her care, Mrs. McBeth made 257 home visits, weighed all of the students several times, made 1,677 hair and scalp checkups and found a large number of children with hair or scalp difficulties. She found 62 students with vision defects of which 14 have been corrected. Mrs. Crawford found 205 children with dental troubles and Mrs. McBeth 241. About ten per cent of which with dental faults have had the troubles corrected.

Littlestown Men Asking For Paroles

Two Adams county brothers, Robert and Gilbert Gracy, both of Littlestown, entered a plea before the State Board of Pardons in Harrisburg last week, says a news dispatch from the capital. The men told the board through their attorney that they had served sufficient time for burglary and larceny of chickens in Littlestown in 1940.

Gilbert, sentenced to 6 to 12 years in the Eastern Penitentiary, asked for release on the grounds that he has mechanical ability and would like to rehabilitate himself. Robert's sentence is 4 1/2 to 9 years. Both men promised not to return to Adams county.

ASKS CHILDREN TO PICK FLOSS OF MILKWEED

Adams county's school children were asked today to take part in a nation-wide drive to gather a million pounds of milkweed floss during the summer. County Superintendent of schools J. Floyd Slaybaugh has announced.

"The common milkweed floss, because of its buoyancy which is necessary for life jackets and aviators' suits, has now become a war emergency product," Mr. Slaybaugh said. "It is a substitute for kapok which is now controlled by the Japanese. A government agency has been set up to collect and process a million pounds of milkweed floss this summer."

Vacation War Activity

"Certain sections of Pennsylvania have this common weed growing along roads, fence rows and abandoned farms. Commercial growing of the milkweed would be impossible as it takes three years to produce the first crop. The government is, therefore, appealing to the school children of the nation to gather a million pounds of milkweed floss during the coming summer.

"This is a war activity in which children can engage during their vacation months. It would require only a small amount of time and effort and would be contributing much toward the war effort.

"The United States Department of Agriculture and the United States Office of Education have distributed printed material to teachers and county and district superintendents. Local teachers and the county supervisor of agriculture, Richard C. Lighter, will be able to advise the school children as to the collecting, curing and storing of these pods until they are collected by the government," he added.

books in which it was revealed that those boards which want books delivered by next fall must order them immediately due to war-time shortages, the board recommended that the local boards appoint committees from themselves and the teaching staffs in their schools to meet at the county superintendent's office to select books for the coming year.

The results of a biannual survey of the eighth grade situation shows there is a problem in the county in regard to retarded and overage students. Doctor Bream told the board. Out of 4,000 students in the county schools 870 are retarded or overage for the grade in which they are in, he said. Ten per cent, he asserted, is an average for the number of overage students in the public schools while the county has 20 per cent retarded students. In the high schools with 1,125 students, 102 are retarded and are too old for their classes.

Ten of the county's school buses are ten years old or older and are operating on special waivers, it was reported, and four buses under ten years of age are also operating on waivers. Doctor Bream was appointed to determine what can be done to secure better buses to replace the overage vehicles.

All members of the board attended the session with President Raymond M. Baugher presiding.

"Tough Job" Confronts 5th Bond Drive Workers, Warns Dinner Speaker

"The job that lies ahead of you, to sell $2,797,000 worth of bonds during the Fifth War Bond drive, is a tough one. It will require the concerted effort of every volunteer worker during the entire period. You will not be able to relax for even a moment until you have achieved your goal. But I feel confident that Adams county will win again, just as it has in all four previous drives."

This was the admonition and the prophecy of O. Howard Wolfe, executive manager of the Pennsylvania War Finance Committee, at the "Invasion" bond dinner-meeting of the Adams County War Finance Committee at the Hotel Gettysburg Monday evening.

The speaker said that in order to reach the quota in the forthcoming drive more counties would have to be approached and more bonds sold to a greater number of people than in the Fourth bond drive. He also stated that a greater number of people would have to purchase more bonds than they previously did.

Mr. Wolfe said that during the Fourth bond drive bonds were sold to 11,886 persons in the county and that 11,462 persons purchased E bonds. He said that this was a low percentage, only 29 per cent of the total county population. He said that one woman in Delaware had sold 496 bonds, for a new record.

"It will not be an impossible task," said Mr. Wolfe. "When we realize the tremendous cost of this war it is little enough that we on the home front can do to furnish the money needed to carry on to victory. A large field is open to you among those in what is called the low income bracket. If this is properly contacted it will bring in fine results."

"Of the volunteer workers in this county I cannot say too much. You are excellent workers, as evidenced in your previous drives. You were the first county in the state to reach your quota before and I hope you do the same in the forthcoming drive."

Edmund W. Thomas, county chairman, presided. He introduced the guests at the speakers table which included:

Benjamin C. Wolfe, chairman of the Dauphin county committee, who spoke briefly; Mrs. Helen U. Loewen, chairman of the state women's committee, who also spoke briefly; Leighton C. Taylor, Ben-derville, and Mrs. Roy W. Gifford, chairman and co-chairman of the community activities committee; Lloyd Kuhn, chairman of the bankers' committee; Mrs. Henry T. Bream, chairman of the county women's committee; Paul Thomas, chairman of the payroll savings committee; William Carey, deputy manager of the Keystone Division, Harrisburg, Burgess Fred G. Pfeffer, Paul L. Roy, publicity director, and Sydney Popp, chairman of special events.

Mrs. Murray B. Frazee, Jr., whose husband is executive officer on the submarine U. S. Tang, sang "One Night of Love" and "Smoke Gets In My Eyes," accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Paul Kinsey.

Section meetings were held following the dinner.

9 COUNTIANS ARE HONORED AT ULCA MEET

"The battlerfront of the home-front in America is the Christian college campus," Dr. Henry W. A. Hanson, president of Gettysburg college said Tuesday night in an address before the seventh annual convention of the Central Pennsylvania Synod of the United Lutheran Church in America, at Harrisburg.

Doctor Hanson was one of the speakers at the second day's session of the three-day convention, which ended Wednesday with ordination and licensure of new pastors.

Growth of Cooperation

A strengthening of cooperative bonds among churches throughout the world, preferably without an organic unity, was urged by the Rev. Dr. Luther A. Weigle, dean of the Yale Divinity school, and graduate of Gettysburg college and seminary.

Dean Weigle asserted the maintenance of individual unity of churches is desirable, and that a unity of purpose is more important than an organic unity. He also declared that unless we maintain a freedom of religion, the other three freedoms for which we are fighting will fall by the wayside.

Unanimous approval was given a petition of the United Lutheran Church of America to change the eastern boundary line of the synod so as to clearly mark limits of the Central Pennsylvania Synod and the United Lutheran Ministerium.

The eastern line for the Central Pennsylvania Synod would be the eastern boundaries of Lancaster, Lebanon, Dauphin, Northumberland, Columbia, Lycoming and Tioga counties. The petition is also being acted upon by the ministerium at sessions now being held and at the conference in Minneapolis this fall. If approved it will become effective on January 1.

W. K. S. Hershey, York, was elected treasurer of the synod to succeed L. C. Smith, Altoona. The treasurer's office was the only one to be filled this year.

The Rev. Dr. Joseph B. Baker, York, former pastor of St. James Lutheran church here and a member of the Board of Foreign Missions, predicted a bright future for foreign missions of the church.

Delegates Elected

Clerical delegates-at-large, the Rev. Harry Saul, Carlisle; the Rev. C. R. Sions, York; the Rev. G. I. Melhorn, Johnstown; the Rev. E. R. Hauser, Clearfield; the Rev. L. C. Manges, Harrisburg; the Rev. G. E. McCarney, Philadelphia; the Rev. W. W. Barkley, Shippensburg; the Rev. I. H. Hagedorn, Philadelphia; the Rev. Dr. J. B. Baker, York; the Rev. Dr. H. D. Hoover, Gettysburg, and the Rev. C. S. Simonton, York.

The following lay delegates-at-large were chosen: John Walborn, Sr., Harrisburg; H. F. Reed, State College; A. H. Duboraw, of Narberth, Penna.; Luther D. Grossman, Loysville; Robert T. THOMAS URGES "CORRECTION" IN U. S. LOANS

Edmund W. Thomas, president of the First National bank of Gettysburg and chairman of the committee of competitive agencies of the Pennsylvania Bankers Association, Wednesday urged congressional action to secure "prompt remedies to correct some of the expensive inequalities" between privately-owned banks and federally financed savings and loan associations.

Speaking at the convention of the Pennsylvania Bankers Association at Pittsburgh this afternoon, Mr. Thomas asserted that government competition with privately chartered banks has been "most vigorous and destructive" in the field of agricultural financing and that "most of the agricultural financing agencies of the government recently openly stated that it is now their intention to compete with banks for farm loans." The federal agencies, he asserted, were originally started with the "avowed purpose of tiding the farmer over the emergency created by the depression."

Banks Pay Taxes

Because the banks pay taxes to the government while the federal agencies do not, Mr. Thomas charged the government was preventing greater income for itself by establishment of the financial agencies. The agencies, he asserted, cut down the profit banks normally would make from the loans and thus decrease the amount of taxes that would ordinarily be paid by the private institutions. The situation, he said, is one of "burning the tax candle at both ends."

"Despite the grants by the government to the Federal agencies, it is cheaper, when all costs are taken into consideration, for a farmer to borrow from a private bank than from a federal loan agency," Thomas asserted.

"Our banks were never in a stronger position than they are today. They have ample funds to make loans and they are better equipped to make these agricultural loans," the Gettysburg banker declared in pointing out that of 1,023 banks in the state as of June 30, 1943, 833 were making agricultural loans and 534 were making production loans.

Asserting that the banks handled 80 per cent of the war bonds sold during the first four nationwide campaigns, Thomas added that the record has done little to help the banks against "inequalities" of the Federal savings agencies.

"With a Congress that is thoroughly aroused to the necessity of reducing government expenditures, with the exception of those devoted to the prosecution of the war, it is earnestly hoped that with the merits of this situation and the excellent record of the privately chartered banks of this country, prompt remedies will be adopted to correct some of these expensive inequalities," he added.

To Add Names To County Honor Roll

While the Adams county honor roll will present an improved appearance for Memorial Day, with plans calling for its repainting of the railing placed around the structure on center square, more than 100 additional names of men in the service will not be available for placing by May 30.

Several hundred names have been added to the roll during the last several weeks by a group of workers under the direction of Custodian Alfred H. Barr, but additional names ordered to be printed will not be available for placing by Memorial Day, it was learned. As soon as the names are received from the printer they will be placed on the board. Most of the names have been rearranged with the center part of the honor roll completely filled and the east wing nearly filled with names. Additional names will be placed in the remainder of the east wing and the west wing.

Because it was impossible to place all of the names in the original alphabetical list, several alphabetical lists were placed on the board.

Redding's car collided with a machine operated by Mrs. Maria Recard, Littlestown R. 2, who was going north on Queen street when Redding drove out an alley. Redding will receive the usual 10-day notice to pay a fine and the costs or appear for a hearing.

Chicago, Ill. (AP) — Here is a baseball game that gets a vote as a "freak" contest.

The Kelly high school team scored 12 runs in the first inning in yesterday's encounter against Phillips and then added 16 more in the second frame.

That was enough runs, Kelly's coach decided, so the Kelly players didn't bat any more. Phillips managed to get one run across before Kelly retired 15 men and the game ended, 22-1.

PERRY STOPPED BY ARMSTRONG IN SIX ROUNDS

Washington, D. C. (AP)—Henry Armstrong plans to stay with the ring business yet awhile.

Hammerin' Henry, only man in fight history to hold three championships at the same time, figures to be a prominent guy in the welterweight picture for some time to come.

"I'm ready for the best in my class," Henry said today. "And I know there'll be no setups where I'm concerned. All the youngsters want a crack at me."

Armstrong stopped Aaron Perry Washington hopeful, in six rounds Monday night.

The former featherweight, lightweight and welterweight, now touring his third comeback trial, admitted he's lost some of the speed that prompted sports writers to label him the "perpetual motion" boxing machine of a few years ago.

Floored Perry Five Times

"But I still can go against anyone in the same weight class," he insisted. Henry, now in his 30's, has been in more than 300 fights.

Armstrong, a Los Angeles negro who formerly fought under Al Jolson's banner, is due to meet Willie Joyce, one of the better welters, in Chicago next month. Then he's ticketed for a bout here against Sammy Angott, the former N.B.A. titleholder, July 17.

In last night's fight Armstrong had the 18-year-old Perry on the floor five times before the referee decided to halt the slaughter. The Associated Press scorecard gave Armstrong five of the six rounds. The bout was scheduled for 10.

FARM LABOR GROUP MEETS

"Every effort will be put forth to secure supervisors to assist outside workers in the orchards," County Agent M. T. Hartman reported Monday evening following a meeting of members of the county Emergency Farm Labor committee with fruit growers and others who have signed for outside help during the forthcoming harvest season.

The 16 growers' and committee members attending the session held in Mr. Hartman's office in the court house, asserted that one of the greatest helps in proper handling of the workers expected to be recruited from cities of the state will be proper supervision. The supervisors will live at the work camps to be established in the county and will be in charge there as well as in the fields and orchards.

The Farm Labor committee is attempting to secure several work camps in various sections of the county, it was announced, and negotiations are already in progress for the sites. It was not announced, however, where the proposed sites are located. The county committee made arrangements previously to establish a camp for girl workers at Cross Keys.

In connection with supervisors, the growers and committee voted to secure, if possible, supervisors from the same community as the workers so that all sources of possible friction may be removed.

A lengthy discussion on proper hours for the workers to be employed, taking into consideration the distance they have to travel to and from work, concluded the meeting.

Pvt. Ray Weidner is receiving his mail in care of the postmaster at San Francisco, California.

FISH PRESERVE AT BELLEFONTE OPEN 7 WEEKS

Harrisburg, Pa. (AP) — Opening of fishermen's Paradise, famed preserve of big trout near Bellefonte, Centre county, to licensed fishermen from May 26 to July 15 inclusive, except Sundays, has been announced by C. A. French, commissioner of fisheries.

The preserve, a mile and an eighth long fenced off expanse of Spring creek, has attracted as high as 1,400 anglers in a single day in other years, with many coming from all parts of the United States to catch the rainbow and brown trout in the stream.

French said last year's rules are in effect with each angler limited to a catch of ten trout daily, only two of which may be killed. Fishing will start each day at 9 a. m. and end when a siren is sounded at night, usually at 9 p. m.

All fishermen must register at a booth at the entrance and on past opening days French said hours were required to enroll all who wanted in by the 9 o'clock opening.

"There are some mammoth fish here," French added, "some of them will weigh 10 pounds."

Fishermen can only use artificial lures with barbless hooks or regular hooks with the barbs removed. Even the possession of live bait, angle worms, meat, liver or any other bait inside the preserve is banned as is the use of spinners.

LITTLESTOWN TOPS CANNERS

Biglerville high school dropped its third straight baseball game last Friday afternoon to Littlestown high on the latter's field 4-2.

HAYES HOMERS 2ND TIME WITH BASES LOADED

By JACK HAND

Associated Press Sports Writer

Connie Mack still rates as the diamond's No. 1 "David Harum" today on the performance of Frankie Hayes, who was tabbed "all washed up" when he hit only .188 for the St. Louis Browns in 1943.

Hayes' second bases-loaded homer of the season was the telling wallop as the Philadelphia A's took over fourth place yesterday with an 8-4 decision over Detroit. It was the sixth circuit clout for the veteran catcher, who is tied for the American league lead with Cleveland's Pat Seery.

Only three men have hit "grand slam" homers in 1944 but Hayes has done it twice. His clout off Rufe Gentry won another game from the Tigers 10 days ago. Johnny Lindell of the Yanks and Howie Schultz of Brooklyn also hit one in the stands with the sacks packed. The record for a season is four, held jointly by Frank Schulte, Babe Ruth, Lou Gehrig and Rudy York.

19 Runs Batted In

Mack brought Hayes back to Philadelphia in January after an absence of a year and a half by shifting pitcher Sam Zoldak, outfielder Barney Lutz and a "small amount of cash" to the Browns. Zoldak has pitched only 11 1/3 innings for St. Louis and Lutz is in the service and never played an inning. Hayes is completely satisfied to be back at Shibe park, is batting clean up and has driven in 19 runs although his average is not among the leaders.

Don Black was coasting to his third victory on the strength of Hayes' clout yesterday but the Tigers knocked him out and scored four runs in the ninth to ruin his shut-out. He had allowed only two hits until the ninth but Joe Berry had to finish.

Jack Kramer climbed into the six-win class as the St. Louis Browns trimmed Boston, 7-3, and moved into second place in a night game. Reliever Emmett O'Neil helped the Browns along with a wild spell during which he passed four men in a row and wild pitched two home with a heave that landed in the grandstand.

Senators Beat Indians

Superb control and effective clutch hurling by Dutch Leonard helped Washington level Cleveland, 5-4, with an 11-hit attack on three Tribe hurlers.

Pittsburgh's Rip Sewell pounded out two doubles and drove in three runs while taming Boston with six hits for an 8-1 decision. Jim Tobin was the victim, the first time the no-hit hurler has been beaten by his old mates since Sept. 27, 1942.

Paul Erickson made his first start a neat five-hit shutout as Chicago blanked the Phillies, 2-0, last night.

The Cincinnati-New York and St. Louis-Brooklyn games in the National and New York at Chicago in the American were postponed on account of rain.

It is expected that three guest preachers, representing the Brethren, Lutheran and Reformed churches, will be present.

Coit E. Eisenhart, USN, who has been stationed in the south, has been on furlough this week.

Mrs. Donald Staub, York, is spending an indefinite time with Mr. and Mrs. Roy H. Mummert and family.

Mrs. Dorothy Leib Gentzler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John G. Leib, R. 3, and wife of Cpl. John E. Gentzler, Jr. Port Knox, Kentucky, and Miss Levato Jacobs, daughter of Mrs. Virgie Jacobs, Hampton, and a graduate of the local high school, were received into the Cadet Nurse Corps Saturday afternoon with exercises at the York hospital where they are student nurses.

East Berlin.—Francis Messenger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Messenger, formerly of here, has been ill at his home in Hanover.

Miss Hilda Kerchner, a returned missionary to India, will be guest speaker Sunday evening when the Lutheran Women's Missionary society of Holtzschwamm church will hold its annual India Lacey day at the church.

Leonard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Musselman, R. 2, is suffering with a fractured arm sustained in a fall early this week.

Miss Bettie M. Tierney visited during the week in York.

A son was born during the past week to Mr. and Mrs. Merl Alland, Euphemia, Lowell, and June, children of Mr. and Mrs. Mearl H. B. Helkes R. 1, pupils at the Mechanicsville school, were noted for unusual attendance records at the recent closing exercises. Euphemia has a record of eight years, Lowell, five and June two. Their teacher is Mrs. Kathryn Racer.

The Kelly high school team scored 12 runs in the first inning in yesterday's encounter against Phillips and then added 16 more in the second frame.

That was enough runs, Kelly's coach decided, so the Kelly players didn't bat any more. Phillips managed to get one run across before Kelly retired 15 men and the game ended, 28-1.

All-Stars Again Top Mapping Crew Team

The Gettysburg high school All-Stars won their third straight softball game from the Moles, comprised of members of the mapping crew, Tuesday evening 6-2 on the high school field in a game featured by sparkling fielding plays.

The fourth game is expected to be played Friday evening.

PERRY STOPPED BY ARMSTRONG IN SIX ROUNDS

Washington, D. C. (AP)—Henry Armstrong plans to stay with the ring business yet awhile.

Hammerin' Henry, only man in fight history to hold three championships at the same time, figures to be a prominent guy in the welterweight picture for some time to come.

"I'm ready for the best in my class," Henry said today, "and I know there'll be no setups where I'm concerned. All the youngsters want a crack at me."

Armstrong stopped Aaron Perry Washington hopeful, in six rounds Monday night.

The former featherweight, lightweight and welterweight king, now touring his third comeback trial, admitted he's lost some of the speed that prompted sports writers to label him the "perpetual motion" boxing machine of a few years ago.

Floored Perry Five Times

"But I still can go against anyone in the same weight class," he insisted. Henry, now in his 30's, has been in more than 300 fights.

Armstrong, a Los Angeles negro who formerly fought under Al Johnson's banner, is due to meet Willie Joyce, one of the better welters, in Chicago next month. Then he's ticketed for a bout here against Sammy Angott, the former N.B.A. titleholder, July 17.

In last night's fight Armstrong had the 18-year-old Perry on the floor five times before the referee decided to halt the slaughter. The Associated Press scorecard gave Armstrong five of the six rounds. The bout was scheduled for 10.

FARM LABOR GROUP MEETS

"Every effort will be put forth to secure supervisors to assist outside workers in the orchards," County Agent M. T. Hartman reported Monday evening following a meeting of members of the county Emergency Farm Labor committee with fruit growers and others who have signed for outside help during the forthcoming harvest season.

The 16 growers and committee members attending the session held in Mr. Hartman's office in the court house, asserted that one of the greatest helps in proper handling of the workers expected to be recruited from cities of the state will be proper supervision. The supervisors will live at the work camps to be established in the county and will be in charge there as well as in the fields and orchards.

The Farm Labor committee is attempting to secure several work camps in various sections of the county, it was announced, and negotiations are already in progress for the sites. It was not announced, however, where the proposed sites are located. The county committee made arrangements previously to establish a camp for girl workers at Cross Keys.

In connection with supervisors, the growers and committee voted to secure, if possible, supervisors from the same community as the workers so that all sources of possible friction may be removed.

A lengthy discussion on proper hours for the workers to be employed, taking into consideration the distance they have to travel to and from work, concluded the meeting.

Pvt. Ray Weidner is receiving his mail in care of the postmaster at San Francisco, California.

FISH PRESERVE AT BELLEFONTE OPEN 7 WEEKS

Harrisburg, Pa. (AP) — Opening of fishermen's Paradise, famed preserve of big trout near Bellefonte, Centre county, to licensed fishermen from May 26 to July 15 inclusive, except Sundays, has been announced by C. A. French, commissioner of fisheries.

The preserve, a mile and an eighth long fenced off expanse of Spring creek, has attracted as high as 1,400 anglers in a single day in other years, with many coming from all parts of the United States to catch the rainbow and brown trout in the stream.

French said last year's rules are in effect with each angler limited to a catch of ten trout daily, only two of which may be killed. Fishing will start each day at 9 a. m. and end when a siren is sounded at night, usually at 9 p. m.

All fishermen must register at a booth at the entrance and on past opening days French said hours were required to enroll all who wanted in by the 9 o'clock opening.

"There are some mammoth fish there," French added, "some of them will weigh 10 pounds."

Fishermen can only use artificial lures with barbless hooks or regular hooks with the barbs removed. Even the possession of live bait, angle worms, meat, liver or any other bait inside the preserve is banned as is the use of spinners.

LITTLESTOWN TOPS CANNERS

Biglerville high school dropped its third straight baseball game last Friday afternoon to Littlestown high on the latter's field 4-2.

Poor base running in which several Canners were caught off base contributed heavily to the upper countouts defeat. Each team collected six hits.

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Connie Mack still rates as the diamond's No. 1 "David Harum" today on the performance of Frankie Hayes, who was tabbed "all washed up" when he hit only 188 for the St. Louis Browns in 1943.

Hayes' second bases-loaded homer of the season was the telling wallop as the Philadelphia A's took over fourth place yesterday with an 8-4 decision over Detroit. It was the sixth circuit clout for the veteran catcher, who is tied for the American league lead with Cleveland's Pat Seery.

Only three men have hit "grand slam" homers in 1944 but Hayes has done it twice. His clout off Rufe Gentry won another game from the Tigers 10 days ago. Johnny Lindell of the Yanks and Howie Schultz of Brooklyn also hit one in the stands with the sacks packed. The record for a season is four, held jointly by Frank Schulte, Babe Ruth, Lou Gehrig and Rudy York.

19 Runs Batted In
Mack brought Hayes back to Philadelphia in January after an absence of a year and a half by shifting pitcher Sam Zoladak, outfielder Barney Lutz and a "small amount of cash" to the Browns. Zoladak has pitched only 11-3 innings in the service and never played an inning. Hayes is completely satisfied to be back at Shibe park, is batting clean up and has driven in 19 runs although his average is not among the leaders.

Don Black was coasting to his third victory on the strength of Hayes' clout yesterday but the Tigers knocked him out and scored four runs in the ninth to ruin his shut-out. He had allowed only two hits until the ninth but Joe Berry had to finish.

Jack Kramer climbed into the six-win class as the St. Louis Browns trounced Boston, 7-3, and moved into second place in a night game. Releifer Emmett O'Neil helped the Browns along with a wild spell during which he passed four men in a row and wild pitched two home with a heave that landed in the grandstand.

Senators Beat Indians
Superb control and effective clutch hurling by Dutch Leonard helped Washington level Cleveland, 5-4, with an 11-hit attack on three Tribe hurlers.

Pittsburgh's Rip Sewell pounded out two doubles and drove in three runs while taming Boston with six hits for an 8-1 decision. Jim Tobin was the victim, the first time the no-hit hurler has been beaten by his old mates since Sept. 27, 1942.

Paul Erickson made his first start a neat five-hit shutout as Chicago blanked the Phillies, 2-0, last night.

The Cincinnati-New York and St. Louis-Brooklyn games in the National and New York at Chicago in the American were postponed on account of rain.

It is expected that three guest preachers, representing the Brethren, Lutheran and Reformed churches, will be present.

Coit E. Eisenhart, USN, who has been stationed in the south, has been on furlough this week.

Mrs. Donald Staub, York, is spending an indefinite time with Mr. and Mrs. Roy H. Mummert and family.

Mrs. Dorothy Leib Gentzler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John G. Leib, R. 3, and wife of Cpl. John G. Gentzler, Jr., Fort Knox, Kentucky, and Miss Levato Jacobs, daughter of Mrs. Virgie Jacobs, Hampton, and a graduate of the local high school, were received into the Cadet Nurse Corps Saturday afternoon with exercises at the York hospital where they are student nurses.

East Berlin.—Francis Messenger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Messenger, formerly of here, has been ill at his home in Hanover.

Miss Hilda Kerchner, a returned missionary to India, will be guest speaker Sunday evening when the Lutheran Women's Missionary society of Holtzschwamm church will hold its annual India Lace day at the church.

Leonard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Musselman, R. 2, is suffering with a fractured arm sustained in a fall early this week.

Miss Bettie M. Tierney visited during the week in York.

A son was born during the past week to Mr. and Mrs. Merl Altland, Euphemia, Lowell, and Jeune, children of Mr. and Mrs. Mearl H. B. Heikes, R. 1, pupils at the Mechanicsville school, were noted for unusual attendance records at the recent closing exercises. Euphemia has a record of eight years, Lowell, five and Jeune two. Their teacher is Mrs. Kathryn Racer.

Lanny, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Oberlander, has been suffering with a laceration of the forehead sustained when he was struck by a baseball bat.

ARENDTSTVILLE TROUNCES E. B.

Paul Fissel, Arendtville hurler, kept his opponents safe at all times, permitting but four hits while his teammates pounded out 14.

Arendtville will close its season Tuesday afternoon by meeting Biglerville at Arendtville. Biglerville won by a large score in a previous meeting.

Just Folks

By Edgar A. Guest
LIFE'S STUFF

How to make the most of these:
Birth and marriage, joy and pain,
Spring and winter, gale and breeze,
Summer flowers and autumn rain,
Sense and folly, good and bad.
Here's life's purpose, girl and lad.

Nothing cruel wars will change,
Will make otherwise the span
Under which you must arrange
All you work for, hope and plan.

Gains and losses, smiles and tears
Are the stuff which fills the years.
Say 'tis happiness you seek,
Then of these it must be made:

Patient toiling, week by week,
Debts assumed and fully paid,
These from childhood down to age
Prove the foolish and the sage.

These the ingredients to blend:
Love and laughter, song and creed,
Neighbor, family and friend;
Moments merry, moments sad,
These are all the Master had.

LUCK

Luck is haphazard; his work's never sure;
His grip on his fortune is never secure.
With "Let's get it over" he ventures a shot,
And never knows whether it's well aimed or not.
He sometimes hits "twelve," but he's hoping just then,
No scoffer will ask him to do it again.

Luck is a play boy. He dances along,
And sometimes succeeds though his method is wrong.
Sometimes, when who ventures may happen to win,
Luck starts, though the wise are afraid to begin.
But deep in his heart Luck is hoping that men
Won't ask him to prove he can do it again.

Oh, Luck's a good fellow to have at your side,
But knowledge and skill surer triumphs provide.
It is good, now and then, to be favored with Luck,
But better companions are Patience and Pluck.
Who wins on his merits fears nobody when
He is apt to be called on to do it again.

PROGRESS

Were it not for snow and rain,
Home would lack both roof and pane.
For a human lifetime through
Shelter from the wind would do.

Were it not to all men clear
Fever, chill and hurt are here,
Boys would not to college turn,
Therapeutic arts to learn.

Were it not that roadways wind,
Destinations hard to find,
Needless signs were, night and day,
Lest some stranger miss the way.

These, since reason first began,
Mark the upward path of man:
Roof and wall and sign to see,
So that life may easier be.

All the wisdom mortals gain
Is to lesson care and pain.
All they fashion, build and spin,
Makes Heaven easier to win.

SENSE OF VALUE

A dollar's value well he knew:
What taken care of, dollars do.
But knowing little of a child,
He let his growing son run wild.

GOLF WINNER

'Tis easy at the eighteenth green
To know the winner.
A tiger's face as smug is seen
When he's had dinner.

PHEASANTS

So proudly pheasants strut about
In plumage bronze and brown,
You'd think they'd heard a movie scout
Had come to town.

UNDISTURBED

So true to form they grow:
So fair to look upon;
The flowers don't seem to know
A war is going on.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Sir:

I want to thank you for sending me the "Times" while I was in the states. Now that I am somewhere in England I really miss receiving and reading it.

And I want to thank the American Red Cross for all the things they did for me boys on my way over, and also here on this side.

Pvt. Joseph B. Weaver

Dear Sir:

Again I must ask you to please change my address and send the Gettysburg Times to me at my new station. I have completed the course at Central Instructors' school and after an eighteen-day furlough, I have been assigned to this station.

I have been assigned to teach boys who are about to go overseas as aerial gunners the main fundamentals of gunnery. You would think that after sixteen weeks of regular training and four weeks of special training, I should know what I am talking about. Well, I'm not too sure that I do. There are quite a few fellows here who have come back from combat and after hearing their experiences and listening to them teach from experience, I wonder what business I have here. These boys from combat hold the D. F. C., Silver Star, Purple Heart, Air Medal and gosh knows what others. I have yet to see my first Congressional Medal of Honor.

After being an instructor here for one year, I will be eligible for overseas duty as an instructor. For a fellow who wants to get into action, this certainly is not the place for him.

I want to thank you for the prompt and courteous service I have been receiving from The Gettysburg Times. I am hoping to start receiving my copy soon. Thank you.

Sincerely,

Somewhere in England

Dear Sir:

I've been in England now quite some time and thought I'd let you know what I think of it. The people so far have been very nice to us and have done a lot to make us feel at home. If we go on pass and need a place to sleep, the YMCA has a list of private homes where soldiers will be taken in. While on pass a while ago I spent the night in a private home and had breakfast in the morning. I was treated just like their own son would have been.

For the condition England has suffered for the past 5 years I was really surprised at the breakfast. The country is really beautiful and one would almost have to be here to really appreciate it. So as a whole I find England very pleasant.

Very truly yours,

Pvt. Robert Bldler

Somewhere at Sea

Dear Sir:

Although I have not seen an edition of the good old home town newspaper I want to say that I expect to do so later on. I have been very busy in the last two months and I have been sight-seeing on the ocean. I've never seen so many flying fish in my life. And if they could be turned into B 17's the world would be over tomorrow. A few hungry looking sharks and nothing else but sky and sea for weeks. Where does all this water come from. You tell me.

To the folks at home I want to say that they can all be proud of their sons and daughters because we are all doing a great job out here and hope to put the finishing touches very soon. It really takes a man to stand up to the pressure we are undergoing now and later. We shall all be home soon some day and hope to return peacefully to what we used to do. Give my regards to all of the boys, and say hello to all the pupils of Gettysburg high school. Long live America.

PVT. "POONEY" CARTER.

Dear Sir:

I finally got around to writing to you again to let you and my friends know that I am well. I am now in Burma, and things are coming along fine. The weather here has been very nice and warm but the last few days it has been raining.

I am thanking you for the paper I have been receiving. It sure makes a service man feel good to know what is happening about home.

I have been very busy doing radio work, and we have been very busy up to date. We have movies about three times a week and they keep our morale up. They are the only amusement we have here in the jungles and we appreciate them very much. In this theater there are Chinese soldiers, as well as American.

"Abusive" Motorist Pays Fine Of $10

D. J. McLaughlin, Erie, became "abusive" Sunday morning about 12:20 o'clock when Chief of Police H. S. Roberts, Littlestown, stopped the driver in center square, that place, because of an infraction of a borough ordinance prohibiting circular turns in center square. McLaughlin was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Howard G. Blocher, Littlestown, on a disorderly conduct charge.

He posted a $14.50 bond for his appearance at a hearing this morning. When he failed to appear for the hearing his bond was forfeited.

PENNSYLVANIA BOND QUOTA IS $1,082,000,000

Pennsylvania has been assigned a $1,082,000,000 quota for the Fifth War Loan drive opening June 12.

G. Ruhlmann Rebmann Jr., Chairman of the Pennsylvania War Finance Committee, announced Saturday.

That is the largest of the war to date and compares with a $978,000,000 quota and $1,068,500,000 sales in the last campaign.

"Sales to individuals again will be emphasized," Rebmann said, "and Pennsylvania's quota in this category is $442,000,000 compared to a $423,000,000 quota and $396,000,000 sales in the Fourth campaign."

"Of the quota for individuals, we are asked to sell at least $224,000,000 in E bonds."

"This is a large quota, but I am sure the citizens of Pennsylvania can meet it if they support according to their ability the 135,000 workers who will go into the field with energy and enthusiasm."

County Quota

Rebmann said the county quotas are based on the capacity of the individual counties to buy, and that this capacity was determined after extensive study by the research department of the Philadelphia Federal Reserve Bank.

"To the best of our ability the county quotas give each county a goal which represents its share of the job on the basis of its ability to perform," Rebmann said. "This will result in some counties receiving higher quotas than in the Fourth drive."

"To assure that Pennsylvania will again oversubscribe its goal by a substantial margin, as we must, every county organization and volunteer workers will extend their greatest efforts in this, the biggest drive of the war."

The campaign will end July 8.

COUNTY SAILOR RAPS STRIKERS

Donald P. Shetter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Shetter, Biglerville, now serving as quartermaster on a destroyer somewhere in the Marshall islands area, is another serviceman who is finding it difficult to sympathize with war-plant strikers.

In a letter to his parents, Seaman Shetter wrote:

"We get the news over the radio every day. On the average there is always something about strikes. You know what should be done with the guys who cause those strikes. They should be treated like a Jap."

"I've seen enough to know what it's all about. If the people that strike would have to come out here awhile, they sure would change their mind about striking all the time."

"Why We Fight"

"We have plenty of kicks on the ship, just the same as on any other one. Do we strike? No sir! We take it on the chin and forget all about it. We know what we are fighting this war for. When I get to thinking about how the workers of all these concerns are acting, I wonder why we fight. Why don't we lay down on the job like they do?"

"I'll tell you why. If we would our lives wouldn't be worth two cents, and I'm not kidding. No doubt some of us won't come back, but every single one of us is planning on the future, the day when all this will be over, and we will be able to come back to our sweethearts and loved ones. No, I'm not a preacher, but I mean every word I have said."

cans, and all of us are under General Stilwell. I have seen him many different times, and things are coming along fine.

Living conditions are not so bad, but you can't expect things like in the States. A few buddies and I get together and we talk of the good times we had in the good old U.S.A.

It will be a year this month I have been over here, and the time flies around fast. Some of the boys I came over with from Pennsylvania are not so far from me. I know all of you see in the papers what is going on in Burma. I had some pictures taken the other day of Japanese flags that were captured and they came out well.

Well, guess I will have to sign off for this time. If I could censor my own mail I believe I could write a more interesting letter, but they say that doesn't work too well.

Most sincerely,

CPT. JOSEPH H. WIGGOTZKEY

TELLS OF RAIDS ON BEACHHEAD, ANZIO, ITALY

An interesting letter was received Monday from Pvt. Harry S. Oyer, 21-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry M. Oyer, Baltimore street.

Private Oyer is with an Amphibious Engineer outfit and made the original landing on the Anzio beachhead, Italy, where he lost most of his personal belongings. He is still there and his letter reveals some of the "excitement" of war. Young Oyer was 21 years old last January 30th. He has been in service fifteen months and has been overseas a year. His letter to The Times follows:

"In view of your generous services to the service men and women of Adams county, the least I can do to repay you, is to write you an occasional letter and try to give you a little second handed news on how things are going over here. I say second handed because you people undoubtedly know more about the war than we do."

"Even though the front lines are only a few miles away, war has become such an accepted fact in our lives that we sometimes like to avoid the news in order to try to forget all the hell of modern warfare. Before I go any farther, I might add, I am at the present on the Anzio Beachhead."

"As my outfit is an amphibious Engineer outfit, we made the original landing and are in the thick of it. The first two months here can be described no other way than a living hell."

"The original landing came off as though it were a dry run but after 4 or 5 days, we found out that Jerry hadn't forgotten we were here. Air raids came on the average of 6 or 8 times a day and, due to the small size of the beachhead, there was not one square foot of ground that was not subject

LIFE'S STUFF

How to make the most of these:
Birth and marriage, joy and pain,
Spring and winter, gale and breeze,
Summer flowers and autumn rain,
Sense and folly, good and bad,
Here's life's purpose, girl and lad.

Nothing cruel wars will change,
Will make otherwise the span
Under which you must arrange
All you work for, hope and plan.
Gains and losses, smiles and tears
Are the stuff which fills the years.

Say 'tis happiness you seek,
Then of these it must be made:
Patient toiling, week by week,
Debts assumed and fully paid.
These from childhood down to age
Prove the foolish and the sage.

If with life you would succeed,
These the ingredients to blend:
Love and laughter, song and creed,
Neighbor, family and friend;
Moments merry, moments sad,
These are all the Master had.

LUCK
Luck is haphazard; his work's never sure;
His grip on his fortune is never secure.
With "Let's get it over" he ventures a shot,
And never knows whether it's well aimed or not.
He sometimes hits "twelve," but he's hoping just then
No scuffer will ask him to do it again.

Luck is a play boy. He dances along,
And sometimes succeeds though his method is wrong.
Sometimes, when he ventures may happen to win,
Luck starts, though the wise are afraid to begin.
But deep in his heart Luck is hoping that men
Won't ask him to prove he can do it again.

Oh, Luck's a good fellow to have at your side,
But knowledge and skill surer triumphs provide.
It is good, now and then, to be favored with Luck,
But better companions are Patience and Pluck.
Who wins on his merits fears no body when
He is apt to be called on to do it again.

PROGRESS
Were it not for snow and rain,
Home would lack both roof and pane.
For a human lifetime through
Shelter from the wind would do.

Were it not for all men clear
Fever, chill and hurt are here,
Boys would not to college turn,
Therapeutic arts to learn.

Were it not that roadways wind,
Destinations hard to find,
Needless signs were, night and day,
Lest some stranger miss the way.

These, since reason first began,
Mark the upward path of man:
Roof and wall and signs to see,
So that life may easier be.

All the wisdom mortals gain
Is to lesson care and pain.
All they fashion, build and spin,
Makes Heaven easier to win.

QUATRAINS
SENSE OF VALUE
A dollar's value well he knew;
What, taken care of, dollars do,
But knowing little of a child,
He let his growing son run wild.

GOLF WINNER
'Tis easy at the eighteenth green
To know the winner.
A tiger's face as smug is seen
When he's had dinner.

PHEASANTS
So proudly pheasants strut about
In plumage bronze and brown,
You'd think they'd heard a movie scout
Had come to town.

UNDISTURBED
So true to form they grow;
So fast to look upon;
The flowers don't seem to know
A war is going on.

RED TAPE

New York (AP)—A government worker arrived at her building minus her badge, so her identification had to be checked.

This took 15 minutes and when she reached her office she was required to fill out a form explaining the tardiness.

"In the lobby of this building."

WATCH DOG

Berlin, Conn. (AP)—Chicken thieves who stole all 25 hens from John Scarola evidently thought John would have no further need of a watch dog so they took the pooch too.

I finally got around to writing to you again to let you and my friends know that I am well. I am now in Burma, and things are coming along fine. The weather here has been very nice and warm but the last few days it has been raining.

I am thanking you for the paper I have been receiving, it sure makes a service man feel good to know what is happening about home.

I have been very busy doing radio work, and we have been very busy up to date. We have movies about three times a week and they keep our morale up. They are the only amusement we have here in the jungles and we appreciate them very much. In this theater there are Chinese soldiers, as well as Ameri-

"Abusive" Motorist

Pays Fine Of $10

D. J. McLaughlin, Erie, became "abusive" Sunday morning about 12:20 o'clock when Chief of Police H. S. Roberts, Littlestown, stopped the driver in center square, that place, because of an infraction of a borough ordinance prohibiting circular turns in center square. McLaughlin was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Howard G. Blocher, Littlestown, on a disorderly conduct charge.

He posted a $14.50 bond for his appearance at a hearing this morning. When he failed to appear for the hearing his bond was forfeited.

PENNSYLVANIA

BOND QUOTA IS

$1,082,000,000

Pennsylvania has been assigned a $1,082,000,000 quota for the Fifth War Loan drive opening June 12, G. Ruhland Rebmann Jr., Chairman of the Pennsylvania War Finance Committee, announced Saturday.

That is the largest of the war to date and compares with a $978,000,000 quota and $1,068,500,000 sales in the last campaign.

"Sales to individuals again will be emphasized," Rebmann said, "and Pennsylvania's quota in this category is $442,000,000 compared to a $423,000,000 quota and $396,000,000 sales in the Fourth campaign."

"Of the quota for individuals, we are asked to sell at least $224,000,000 in E bonds."

"This is a large quota, but I am sure the citizens of Pennsylvania can meet it if they support according to their ability the 135,000 workers who will go into the field with energy and enthusiasm."

County Quota

Rebmann said the county quotas are based on the capacity of the individual counties to buy, and that this capacity was determined after extensive study by the research department of the Philadelphia Federal Reserve bank.

"To the best of our ability the county quotas give each county a goal which represents its share of the job on the basis of its ability to perform," Rebmann said. "This will result in some counties receiving higher quotas than in the Fourth drive."

"To assure that Pennsylvania will again oversubscribe its goal by a substantial margin, as we must, every county organization and volunteer workers will extend their greatest efforts in this, the biggest drive of the war."

The campaign will end July 8.

COUNTY SAILOR

RAPs STRIKERS

Donald P. Shetter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Shetter, Biglerville, now serving as quartermaster on a destroyer somewhere in the Marshall Islands area, is another serviceman who is finding it difficult to sympathize with war-plant strikers.

In a letter to his parents, Seaman Shetter wrote:

"We get the news over the radio every day. On the average there is always something about strikes. You know what should be done with the guys who cause those strikes. They should be treated like a Jap."

"I've seen enough to know what it's all about. If the people that strike would have to come out here while, they sure would change their mind about striking all the time."

"Why We Fight"

"We have plenty of kicks on the ship. Just the same as on any other one. Do we strike? No sir! We take it on the chin and forget all about it. We know what we are fighting this war for. When I get to thinking about how the workers of all these concerns are acting, I wonder why we fight. Why don't we lay down on the job like they do?"

"I'll tell you why. If we would our lives wouldn't be worth two cents, and I'm not kidding. No doubt some of us won't come back, but every single one of us is planning on the future, the day when all this will be over, and we will be able to come back to our sweethearts and loved ones. No, I'm not a preacher, but I mean every word I have said."

cans, and all of us are under General Stilwell. I have seen him many different times, and things are coming along fine.

Living conditions are not so bad, but you can't expect things like in the States. A few buddies and I get together and we talk of the good times we had in the good old U.S.A.

It will be a year this month I have been over here, and the time flies around fast. Some of the boys I came over with from Pennsylvania are not so far from me. I know all of you see in the papers what is going on in Burma. I had some pictures taken the other day of Japanese flags that were captured and they came out well.

Well, guess I will have to sign off for this time. If I could censor my own mail I believe I could write a more interesting letter, but they say that doesn't work too well.

Most sincerely
CPL. JOSEPH H. WEDOTZKEY

Retail Stores Must Check Group Rating

All retail food stores must, by May 25, 1944, redetermine their proper group classification on the basis of gross sales volume for the calendar year 1943, the OPA said Wednesday.

At present, these stores are classified, according to their sales volume in 1942, in one of four groups and each group is provided with specific mark-ups to be used in setting its ceiling prices for major "dry goods" and perishable foods. The redetermination is required, OPA said, so that all stores will be properly grouped on as nearly a current basis as possible.

If the 1943 gross sales of a particular store have not changed enough to cause that store to fall into a new group, then the store or its method of calculating its ceilings. If, however, the gross sales in 1943 were so much greater or lower than 1942 volume that the store falls into a new group, that store must, after June 15, 1944, use the mark-ups provided for its proper group in computing its ceiling prices.

Serious Shortage Of Nurses' Aides

The shortage of nurses' aides in Gettysburg has created a "desperate" situation, Mrs. Henry M. Scharf, chairman of the Red Cross Nurses' Aides committee, said Tuesday.

"We do not have sufficient nurses' aides to take care of the work for the blood bank on Friday and the hospital authorities are begging us for more aides to assist them in their overtaxed work," Mrs. Scharf said.

Some of the aides are ill and others are out of town but even with the full quota of aides there are not sufficient aides to conduct the work required of them, Mrs. Scharf added.

"Our situation now is to secure more aides to assist in the blood bank work next Friday," the chairman stated.

Mrs. George Fritz, York, sister of the bride, was matron of honor and Mrs. Melvin Ingham, Baltimore, and Mrs. Howard Ingham, New Freedom, sisters-in-law of the bride, acted as bridesmaids. The president, in an appeal to the council members for continued cooperation and effort on behalf of Council activities, said "each individual should consider that Catholic Action is my daily active part in keeping life in that vine of which Christ speaks—we are the branches."

Three members of the Deanery Council who have never missed a Deanery meeting since its inception seven years ago were honored with a gift from the literature committee to further the project of Catholic Action and to help promote good reading. They were Mrs. Guy Smith, president of the Sacred Heart of Jesus Parish Council, Conewago; Miss Marie Carbaugh, president of the Immaculate Conception of the Blessed Virgin Mary Parish Council, New Oxford, and Miss Margaret Belz, president of the Annunciation of the Blessed Virgin Mary Parish Council, McSherrystown.

The highlight of the convention will be the Youth program on Wednesday, beginning with a luncheon at 12:30. Special speakers who are engaged in Youth work will deliver the addresses.

Mrs. Paul Sullivan, Harrisburg Diocesan president, of Mt. Carmel, spoke on Catholic Action, the theme of the meeting, by reminding the assembly that Sunday was "I Am An American" Day.

The following pastors were present and spoke briefly: Rt. Rev. Msgr. Patrick F. McGee, McSherrystown; the Rev. Robert Hartnett, New Oxford, and the Rev. Guy Gotwalt, Fairfield.

The meeting was concluded with the singing of the hymn "Ave Maria, O Maiden O Mother," by the youth of St. Joseph's parish with Miss Rita Sneeringer as piano accompanist. Retail Stores Must Check Group Rating

All retail food stores must, by May 25, 1944, re-determine their proper group classification on the basis of gross sales volume for the calendar year 1943, the OPA said Wednesday.

At present, these stores are classified, according to their sales volume in 1942, in one of four groups and each group is provided with specific mark-ups to be used in setting its ceiling prices for major "dry groceries" and perishable foods. The re-determination is required, OPA said, so that all stores will be properly grouped on as nearly a current basis as possible.

If the 1943 gross sales of a particular store have not changed enough to cause that store to fall into a new group, then the store or its method of calculating its ceilings. If, however, the gross sales in 1943 were so much greater or lower than 1942 volume that the store falls into a new group, that store must, after June 15, 1944, use the mark-ups provided for its proper group in computing its ceiling prices.

WELFARE UNIT HEARS TALKS ON MEDICAL PLAN

With Dr. Robert A. Bream, assistant county superintendent of public schools, and Dr. Raymond F. Sheely, president of the Adams County Medical Society, stating most of the arguments for and against the proposed Murray-Wagner-Dingell amendment to the Social Security Act to provide for Federal health insurance, members of the Adams County Welfare committee spent more than two hours Tuesday evening in discussion of the controversial measure.

Both Doctors Bream and Sheely appeared to be in agreement on the need for expanded and improved public medical care—and also that the additional social security tax to be levied to finance the public health insurance plan is probably too high—but beyond that the two discussion leaders and members of the audience of about 30 who joined in a round-table discussion took divergent views.

Sought Public Discussion

As he convened the meeting, Paul A. Kinsey, chairman of the Welfare committee, a branch of the Public Charities Association of Pennsylvania, which arranged for the meeting, emphasized that the Welfare group is neither for nor against the proposed bill but is interested chiefly in seeing the merits or faults of the bill discussed publicly and on the basis of facts submitted by opponents and backers of the bill.

Briefly stated, arguments in favor of the bill were that it would enable more people—particularly the poor and those who neglect health matters—to get adequate medical care with the cost spread over a large group of people.

Opposition to the bill, led by the American Medical association, is based on the charge that a politically appointed surgeon-general and the council of 16 he names would put the medical profession under political pressure that would regiment private practice out of existence. There are further objections to "dictatorial" powers of the surgeon-general over the individual physician and the patient. Doctor Sheely said only a part of the taxes taken under the amendment actually would go for medical and hospital care with much of it being diverted for general social security uses.

Another Talk Monday

"The medical profession admits the need for an expanded medical care program but it does not believe the proposed bill is the solution," Doctor Sheely said. Asked what alternate plan the AMA offers, he urged the expansion of group insurance and commercial insurance plans together with a state-financed, privately-operated plan. He said the AMA plan will be outlined here next Monday evening by Dr. C. F. Palmer in an address at a service club dinner meeting at the Hotel Gettysburg.

Mr. Kinsey later invited the group to attend the dinner session or go to the hotel after the dinner to hear Doctor Palmer's address.

Doctor Bream in his discussion of the whole medical care problem described provisions of the pending bill; listed arguments for and against it; distributed literature issued against the bill by the AMA and in favor of it by the Physicians' Forum of New York; described results of surveys showing the great need for extended medical care among lower income groups in the United States and explained group insurance and cooperative health insurance plans operating at various places in the United States, all of which were initially opposed by the AMA, he said.

"Woefully Ineffective"

The bill, Doctor Bream said, would impose an additional three per cent tax on the employer and on the employee above present social security levies to set up a fund which would finance complete medical and hospital care for the employee and his family. Individuals could select their own doctor; doctors could decide whether they wish to operate under the plan or remain in private practice and the doctors themselves would decide on the plan they would be paid.

Doctor Bream reviewed briefly results of national surveys started in 1927 and 1928 and completed five years later showing the "woefully ineffective distribution of medical service in the U. S." and the increasing tendency for the development of methods of spreading the

PROGRAM FOR ALUMNI MEET IS ANNOUNCED

The complete program for the annual meeting and get-together of the Alumni Association of Gettysburg high school to be held next Monday evening at 8 o'clock in the new gymnasium at the high school building was announced Thursday by Mrs. S. Richard Eisenhart, program committee chairman for the affair. The annual dance will follow.

The alumni will pay tribute to the several hundred alumni on the high school honor roll—to be dedicated this evening—and will present the annual alumni scholarship prizes to the two seniors having the highest scholastic standing. The winners are Darlene Trostle and Elizabeth Small.

Officers to serve the Alumni Association for the next year will be announced during the evening.

To Welcome Seniors

There will be piano solos by Richard B. Shade, music supervisor in the public schools here. Vocal solos will be presented by Ross Sachs and specialty dances will be given by Naomi Taute of the high school and Shirley Ellis of Gettysburg college.

The members of the graduating class will be welcomed into the alumni organization by J. Herbert Raymond, president. The response will be given by Fred Griffin, president of the senior class. Presentation of the scholarship awards will follow.

Two copies of the current edition of the "Cannon-aid," high school annual, will be presented to the alumni group by Patricia Power and George Fair. Carl S. Menchey, chairman of the nominating committee, will announce the new officers, chosen by the alumni council, and greetings will be received from reunion classes.

Tribute To Servicemen

Tribute to the alumni on the high school honor roll—which will be on display Monday evening—will be paid in an address by Dr. Robert A. Bream, a school alumnus and now assistant county superintendent of schools. Superintendent L. C. Keefeauver will speak briefly.

Violin selections will be presented by Henry M. Scharf, an alumnus. He will be accompanied by Mr. Shade.

The grand march will be led by Patricia Power and Ross Sachs. Zel Smith and his orchestra will furnish music for dancing during the evening. Refreshments will be served in the cafeteria. Decorations on a patriotic theme are to be placed by a Harrisburg concern.

President Raymond emphasized today that all alumni are invited to the meeting and dance whether or not they received a formal, printed invitation through the mail. Lack of addresses in some instances made it impossible to reach all alumni by mail, he said.

cost of medical care. Low income groups have the most illness and the least amount of care, because of lack of financial means or neglect, he stated.

He quoted official reports from England that showed public health insurance there brought "great health benefits, progress in the prevention of disease and increased incomes to the average practitioner."

Present Plans Not Enough

After Doctor Sheely suggested the alternate plans for the expansion of present voluntary private, commercial and cooperative health insurance plans, Doctor Bream declared that such plans do not work because in most instances they are too expensive for the class of family that most sorely needs the help and that simple neglect will keep many from health benefits.

He also showed by national survey statistics that the level of public health in this nation—with voluntary public health insurance plans available—has been almost static during the last 25 years.

Doctor Bream was presented by Mrs. R. S. Saby, chairman of the welfare committee's program chairman.

PRICE PANELS NEED HELPERS

With only two assistants for the seven members of the price panel of the local War Price and Rationing Board, officials at that office hoped a number of local residents will heed the nation-wide appeal of Price Administrator Chester Bowles for additional price panel assistants for special duties during a two-week period beginning next Monday.

The OPA administrator, announcing the drive, said the additional assistants are needed by price panels of OPA's 5,500 local boards to conduct store surveys and voluntary consumer-merchant compliance programs. He said that more than 40,000 volunteer assistants are at present engaged in this work.

Asking each local board in the nation to recruit assistants on the basis of "one new price panel assistant for each board member," Mr. Bowles declared that "our recent nation-wide survey of food stores showed us our program lacks sufficient volunteers who will tell their community grocers about price control and help them comply with OPA regulations."

Mr. Bowles emphasized that price panel volunteers are asked to work a minimum of five hours per week with their local board price panel and merchants.

"The only requirements for the work," he said, "are the ability to understand and explain the simple price regulations, and a genuine interest in making price control effective. It is an important home-front job."

ADD 34 BRANDS TO OPA RETAIL CEILING LISTS

With 34 additional brands added, new quarterly retail community price lists are being distributed to retail food stores throughout the Harrisburg 10-county district, it was announced today by Walter C. Young, acting district director of the Harrisburg OPA office. The new schedules include about 500 items.

These price schedules which indicate the maximum prices which retail stores may charge consumers for specific food items will become effective on Monday, May 29, and are expected to continue in force for approximately three months.

Director Young states that all prices appearing on the new list have remained substantially at the same level as those of the price schedule which have been in effect since February 28. The 34 additional brands include more and greater varieties of canned fruits and vegetables.

Copies Available

"It is very gratifying to note that retail prices are holding their own and there is no indication of price increases," Young commented. "Recent surveys have established that merchants are complying generally with ceiling prices and are posting these price lists in prominent places as required by regulations. It is a very healthy condition and fewer and fewer complaints are being received by the district office of violations in food stores."

Price panels of local War Price and Rationing Boards will deliver two copies of the new price schedule to each retail store in their district. Miniature price lists will also be available within the next several days for the convenience of the housewife. Copies of these lists may be obtained at local War Price and Rationing Boards.

Housewives are urged to either clip the ceiling price lists from The Gettysburg Times or secure one of the miniature lists and attach them to their ration books for use in shopping. In this way consumers will have a ready and constant opportunity to check ceiling prices of most all foods purchased.

WELFARE UNIT HEARS TALKS ON MEDICAL PLAN

With Dr. Robert A. Bream, assistant county superintendent of public schools, and Dr. Raymond F. Sheely, president of the Adams County Medical Society, stating most of the arguments for and against the proposed Murray-Wagner-Dingell amendment to the Social Security Act to provide for Federal health insurance, members of the Adams County Welfare committee spent more than two hours Tuesday evening in discussion of the controversial measure.

Both Doctors Bream and Sheely appeared to be in agreement on the need for expanded and improved public medical care—and also that the additional social security tax to be levied to finance the public health insurance plan is probably too high—but beyond that the two discussion leaders and members of the audience of about 30 who joined in a round-table discussion took divergent views.

Sought Public Discussion

As he convened the meeting, Paul A. Kinsey, chairman of the Welfare committee, a branch of the Public Charities Association of Pennsylvania, which arranged for the meeting, emphasized that the Welfare group is neither for nor against the proposed bill but is interested chiefly in seeing the merits or faults of the bill discussed publicly and on the basis of facts submitted by opponents and backers of the bill.

Briefly stated, arguments in favor of the bill were that it would enable more people—particularly the poor and those who neglect health matters—to get adequate medical care with the cost spread over a large group of people.

Opposition to the bill, led by the American Medical association, is based on the charge that a politically appointed surgeon-general and the council of 16 he names would put the medical profession under political pressure that would regiment private practice out of existence. There are further objections to "dictatorial" powers of the surgeon-general over the individual physician and the patient. Doctor Sheely said only a part of the taxes taken under the amendment actually would go for medical and hospital care with much of it being diverted for general social security uses.

Another Talk Monday

"The medical profession admits the need for an expanded medical care program but it does not believe the proposed bill is the solution," Doctor Sheely said. Asked what alternate plan the AMA offers, he urged the expansion of group insurance and commercial insurance plans together with a state-financed, privately-operated plan. He said the AMA plan will be outlined here next Monday evening by Dr. C. F. Palmer in an address at a service club dinner meeting at the Hotel Gettysburg.

Mr. Kinsey later invited the group to attend the dinner session or go to the hotel after the dinner to hear Doctor Palmer's address.

Doctor Bream in his discussion of the whole medical care problem described provisions of the pending bill; listed arguments for and against it; distributed literature issued against the bill by the AMA and in favor of it by the Physicians' Forum of New York; described results of surveys showing the great need for extended medical care among lower income groups in the United States and explained group insurance and cooperative health insurance plans operating at various places in the United States, all of which were initially opposed by the AMA, he said.

"Woefully Ineffective"

"The bill, Doctor Bream said, would impose an additional three per cent tax on the employer and on the employee above present social security levies to set up a fund which would finance complete medical and hospital care for the employee and his family. Individuals could select their own doctor; doctors could decide whether they wish to operate under the plan or remain in private practice and the doctors themselves would decide on the plan—fee, time or salary—under which they would be paid.

Doctor Bream reviewed briefly results of national surveys started in 1927 and 1928 and completed five years later showing the "woefully ineffective distribution of medical service in the U. S." and the increasing tendency for the development of methods of spreading the

The complete program for the annual meeting and get-together of the Alumni Association of Gettysburg high school to be held next Monday evening at 8 o'clock in the new gymnasium at the high school building was announced Thursday by Mrs. S. Richard Eisenhart, program committee chairman for the affair. The annual dance will follow.

The alumni will pay tribute to the several hundred alumni on the high school honor roll—to be dedicated this evening—and will present the annual alumni scholarship prizes to the two seniors having the highest scholastic standing. The winners are Darlene Trostle and Elizabeth Small.

Officers to serve the Alumni Association for the next year will be announced during the evening.

To Welcome Seniors

There will be piano solos by Richard B. Shade, music supervisor in the public schools here. Vocal solos will be presented by Ross Sachs and specialty dances will be given by Naomi Taule of the high school and Shirley Ellis of Gettysburg college.

The members of the graduating class will be welcomed into the alumni organization by J. Herbert Raymond, president. The response will be given by Fred Griffin, president of the senior class. Presentation of the scholarship awards will follow.

Two copies of the current edition of the "Cannon-aid," high school annual, will be presented to the alumni group by Patricia Power and George Fair. Carl S. Menchey, chairman of the nominating committee, will announce the new officers, chosen by the alumni council, and greetings will be received from reunion classes.

Tribute To Servicemen

Tribute to the alumni on the high school honor roll—which will be on display Monday evening—will be paid in an address by Dr. Robert A. Bream, a school alumnus and now assistant county superintendent of schools. Superintendent L. C. Keefeauver will speak briefly.

Violin selections will be presented by Henry M. Scharf, an alumnus. He will be accompanied by Mr. Shade.

The grand march will be led by Patricia Power and Ross Sachs. Zel Smith and his orchestra will furnish music for dancing during the evening. Refreshments will be served in the cafeteria. Decorations on a patriotic theme are to be placed by a Harrisburg concern.

President Raymond emphasized today that all alumni are invited to the meeting and dance whether or not they received a formal, printed invitation through the mail. Lack of addresses in some instances made it impossible to reach all alumni by mail, he said.

cost of medical care. Low income groups have the most illness and the least amount of care, because of lack of financial means or neglect, he stated.

He quoted official reports from England that showed public health insurance there brought "great health benefits, progress in the prevention of disease and increased incomes to the average practitioner."

Present Plans Not Enough

After Doctor Sheely suggested the alternate plans for the expansion of present voluntary private, commercial and cooperative health insurance plans, Doctor Bream declared that such plans do not work because in most instances they are too expensive for the class of family that most sorely needs the help and that simple neglect will keep many from health benefits.

He also showed by national survey statistics that the level of public health in this nation—with voluntary public health insurance plans available—has been almost static during the last 25 years.

Doctor Bream was presented by Mrs. R. S. Saby, chairman of the welfare committee's program chairman.

PRICE PANELS NEED HELPERS

With only two assistants for the seven members of the price panel of the local War Price and Rationing Board, officials at that office hoped a number of local residents will heed the nation-wide appeal of Price Administrator Chester Bowles for additional price panel assistants for special duties during a two-week period beginning next Monday.

The OPA administrator, announcing the drive, said the additional assistants are needed by price panels of OPA's 5,500 local boards to conduct store surveys and voluntary consumer-merchant compliance programs. He said that more than 40,000 volunteer assistants are at present engaged in this work.

Justice of the Peace John H. Basehore found more excitement than he bargained for Wednesday evening when he conducted a hearing on an assault and battery charge brought by Mrs. Madeline C. Smeak, Taneytown R. 1, against her sister, Mrs. LaRue Sentz, Littlestown R. 1.

Mrs. Sentz, overcome by nervousness and the excitement, became hysterical and Dr. H. M. Hartman spent nearly an hour in attendance before the woman regained her normal composure.

Immediately after the hearing, Littlestown Borough Officer Harold S. Roberts arrested Mrs. Smeak on a charge of disorderly conduct brought against her before Justice of the Peace Howard Blocher, Littlestown, by Mrs. Sentz. Mrs. Smeak posted $20 bond to appear before Justice Blocher Friday night for a hearing.

Justice Basehore in the meantime unable to secure much information on the alleged fight the sisters are supposed to have had recently in Littlestown, amidst all the confusion, told the ladies the case before him was settled and hoped Justice Blocher will have less confusion when he meets the antagonists Friday.

Pocket-Size Books Sought By Red Cross

With 144 kit bags to be packed for the Army and Navy next week, the Adams County Red Cross again today appealed for pocketbooks, the little 25-cent paper covered detective, fiction and non-fiction books that hundreds of people purchase monthly from the town's stores and throw away after reading.

"Every kit bag contains a pocket-size book," Miss Margaret McMillan, executive secretary of the county Red Cross, said today, "and there are hundreds of the books available in homes in good shape and can be placed in the kitbags. If we can save the amount needed to purchase new books, then that many more kit bags can be filled from the donations we have. It costs approximately $1 to fill a kitbag and if 25 cents of that cost is borne by people turning in books, one-fourth more kit bags can be filled."

ADD 34 BRANDS TO OPA RETAIL CEILING LISTS

With 34 additional brands added, new quarterly retail "community price lists are being distributed to retail food stores throughout the Harrisburg 10-county district, it was announced today by Walter C. Young, acting district director of the Harrisburg OPA office. The new schedules include about 500 items.

These price schedules which indicate the maximum prices which retail stores may charge consumers for specific food items will become effective on Monday, May 29, and are expected to continue in force for approximately three months.

Director Young states that all prices appearing on the new list have remained substantially at the same level as those of the price schedule which have been in effect since February 28. The 34 additional brands include more and greater varieties of canned fruits and vegetables.

Copies Available

"It is very gratifying to note that retail prices are holding their own and there is no indication of increases," Young commented. "Recent surveys have established that merchants are complying generally with ceiling prices and are posting these price lists in prominent places as required by regulations. It is a very healthy condition and fewer and fewer complaints are being received by the district office of violations in food stores."

Price panels of local War Price and Rationing Boards will deliver two copies of the new price schedule to each retail store in their district. Miniature price lists will also be available within the next several days for the convenience of the housewife. Copies of these lists may be obtained at local War Price and Rationing Boards.

Housewives are urged to either clip the ceiling price lists from The Gettysburg Times or secure one of the miniature lists and attach them to their ration books for use in shopping. In this way consumers will have a ready and constant opportunity to check ceiling prices of most all foods purchased.
